GUNS FORCE CONVICTS TO WORK

British Worry.
Wall St. Worry.
He Owns Competition.
To Kill, or Not to Kill.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

BRITAIN has a new worry in India, fear of treachery among native troops.

Only a few British are in India, less than the population of a small American city, among 300,000,000 natives.

To what extent native troops and police can be relied on, in view of intense national feeling is a serious question.

The British are shifting native troops, official reports referring to "unsatisfactory conduct," which means that natives would not obey orders to shoot their own people.

ANOTHER DAY of worry in Wall street yesterday, stocks off two to seven points, worst day since the whirlwind last fall.

The gambling geese had begun to come back, speculating on hopes instead of facts.

The time for that has not come.

COST OF travel by air and rail between New York and the southwest is reduced to less than regular railroad and Pullman car travel.

Flying from New York to Dallas, Texas, or Oklahoma City you save $6.24 in cash, 18 hours in time.

And these cuts are made by the Pennsylvania Railroad itself.

Wise Gen. Atterbury, head of the Pennsylvania, decides that if he must have air competition, he will own the competition.

ANOTHER energetic effort is made to abolish capital punishment. Such efforts come by fits and starts. The recent burning alive of convicts in the Ohio penitentiary convinces people that convicts should not be burned alive when they haven't been sentenced to death.

WILL DURANT writes against capital punishment earnestly. At the beginning of the last century, when the question was agitated, it was called an insult to the judges of England. They knew what was good for criminals.

There is more involved in the question than criminals or their welfare, and that is the question of heredity.

For at least 100,000 years murder has been punished with death. And probably the human race has been improved somewhat by destroying murderers as fast as they were caught.

IF CAPITAL punishment now frightened criminals or helped to rid the human race of the killer type, it would be a good thing. But it probably does neither.

Laws that inflict capital punishment, which is simply killing officially, are in themselves murderous, setting a bad and disgraceful example.

A REPORT on two jails in New York says prisoners "are caged like animals." Men unable to furnish bail, innocent or guilty, are sent to these prisons. It makes a difference, even in our perfect democracy, if you happen not to have any money.

IT IS a mistake to burn prisoners alive in unsafe prisons, a mistake to jail them like "caged animals."

Quite apart from human decency, it doesn't pay. Men thus caged are apt to cause trouble when they leave the cage.

DELEGATES to the naval conference are back from London "confident that real results have been achieved."

A majority of citizens are satisfied to know that no great harm has been done.

Delegates have not brought back any five-power agreement under which this country would be obliged to send over billions of money to be spent, and men to be shot, in case Europe decided to start another war.

SENATOR CAPPER, of Kansas, who knows the people of this country, makes this sound statement:

"The American people will never again participate directly in Europe's troubles by taking up arms."

Those responsible for the American government, bearing that in mind, should not promise things that the people would not allow them to perform.

FRED WILLIAMS, able flier at the Long Island Curtiss airport, will attempt to break the world "looping" record.

Charles W. Holman now holds the record with 1,443 loops, and Williams hopes to make 2,000 loops.

THE DANGEROUS effort is doubtless useful in testing strength of planes. Otherwise, it doesn't matter whether a flier loops 2,000 or 2,000,000 times.

You can buy "tumbler pigeons" that tumble over and over in their flight. But for service you need the carrier pigeon that goes straight ahead.

BOLTS CRASH AT HOSPITAL AND BANK

April Shower Sets Record, Floods Streets Downtown; Skyscraper Bricks Fall

BULLETIN.

Six hundred and fifty patients in Mercy Hospital were startled when lightning struck an elevator supply shed on the roof at the height of a thundershower this afternoon. The bolt tore several bricks loose, which fell nine stories into an open court and shattered several windows in the shed.

Lightning struck an elevator machinery shed on the roof of the 20-story Commonwealth Building, Fourth avenue, near Wood street, during a severe thundershower this afternoon, hurtling bricks into Third avenue and startling tenants of the skyscraper and adjoining office buildings.

The bolt struck a corner of the shed with a crash that terrified occupants of the upper floors of the building.

BRICKS TUMBLED

Several bricks, dislodged, tumbled into Third avenue. Others fell onto the roof of the Keystone Building, adjoining. No one was reported injured.

Trolley cars nearing the scene were halted for fear other bricks would hurtle down from the lofty skyscraper roof. Automobiles were also halted and the resulting traffic tie-up in Third avenue lasted for 15 minutes.

STREETS FLOODED

The downpour flooded downtown streets and sent pedestrians scurrying to cover. The storm was confined mostly to downtown Pittsburgh and the North Side. In Beechview only a sprinkle was noted.

At the weather bureau it was said that three-fourths of an inch of rain fell in 22 minutes. Fifty-five hundredths inch fell in 10 minutes, breaking all records for volume in a brief April shower.

Selznick and Bride Start on Honeymoon

SANTA MONICA, Cal., April 30.—(INS.)—Irene Mayer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis M. Mayer, and David O. Selznick, were honeymooning today, following a quiet ceremony last night at the Mayer home.

Mrs. Edith M. Goetz, sister of the bride, who was married a few weeks ago to William Goetz, was matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Janet Gaynor, Marjorie Daw Selznick, Mitzi Cummings and Marjorie Strauss.

Hollins Heir to Wed Wilson Mizner Niece

DEL MONTE, Cal., April 30.—(INS.)—McKim Hollins, brother of Marion Hollins, noted tennis player, and scion of a prominent New York family, and Miss Ysabel Chase, niece of Addison and Wilson Mizner, will be married Saturday at Pebble Beach, it was learned here today.

Expensive

MRS. AUDREY COATS

Mrs. Coats, wealthy widow of a British Army officer, Marshall Field, III, $150,000,000 heir, may marry her after he begins to pay $1,000,000 a year for life to his present wife, seeking a divorce.

DIVORCE COSTS FIELD MILLIONS

NEW YORK, April 30.—Mrs. Evelyn Marshall Field is en route to Reno, Nev., to obtain a divorce from Marshall Field, III, grandson of the Chicago merchant prince, her attorney said today.

The attorney, Joseph R. Truesdale, declined to comment on reports of a pre-trial agreement settling upon Mrs. Field an annual income of more than $1,000,000, giving her possession of the Field town house at East Seventieth street, and custody of their three children, Marshall, Jr., 14; Barbara, 11, and Bernice, 6.

As to the cause of the rift it was learned there is a double-edged motif—an incompatability of temperament, and the vivacious person of the widow of a British army officer, Mrs. Audrey Coats.

Helen Wills Moody Will Play in White

PARIS, April 30.—Colored dresses for tennis are disapproved by the queen of the courts. Some girls intend to wear pastel shades at Wimbledon, but Mrs. Helen Wills Moody says after all, white's best.

ELITE JOINS FIGHT ON DRY LAW HERE

100 Societ,, Club Leaders Enroll for Prohibition Reform; Attack W.C.T.U.

A hundred Pittsburgh society and club women stood pledged today to war on prohibition. They were recruited for the anti-dry army by Mrs. Carroll Miller at a meeting in the Pittsburgh Golf Club at which she attacked the ban on liquor as unmoral, un-American and futile.

Mrs. Miller's audience was organized, after her address, as the Pittsburgh branch, Women's Division, National Prohibition Reform Association, with Mrs. William Thaw, Jr., as president, Mrs. William N. Frew, Mrs. Edgar Reed, Mrs. Winfield Shiras, Mrs. Miller and Mrs. E. M. Vermorcken as vice presidents; Mrs. Joseph Dilworth as treasurer, and Miss Elizabeth Scott as recording secretary.

At further meetings, committees will be appointed to promote the cause of prohibition reform, it was stated. Mrs. Vermorcken presided until the election of officers.

QUOTES LEADERS

Quoting prominent Americans, including Dr. Eliot, Cardinal Gibbons, Chief Justice Taft and many others in their attitude on self-government and public justice, Mrs. Miller brought into her criticism the Methodist Board of Temperance and Morals and the Anti-Saloon League. She said:

"Our leading thinkers have pointed out the need of youth being trained for self-government, and trained not to submit to the overwhelming power of external pressure.

"Such an external thing is prohibition. We send our children to college to learn to think for themselves, to be able to determine for themselves what is right and what is wrong—but to think. They cannot reconcile themselves to prohibi-

'CARAVAN' HERE FOR ANTI-DRYS

Political interest in Pittsburgh today centered in:

1. Arrival of the "anti-dry" caravan in support of the Phillips-Bohlen-Dorrance ticket.

2. Return visit of Senator Grundy to make this city his base of operations in his western campaign.

The anti-dry caravan, conducting a state-wide tour for the Phillips-Bohlen-Dorrance ticket, invaded Pittsburgh today with the manager of the tour, H. B. Foulkrod, demanding repeal of the prohibition act and the state blue laws.

The "caravan" is a bus and trailer covered with slogans and data of the anti-prohibitionists.

NORTH SIDE TALK

Two hundred persons heard Foulkrod speak at the caravan's first stop in the city, in front of the North Side city hall. Foulkrod called prohibition a farce and said that last year $470,000,000 of American money was spent in Canada for liquor. That sum

River Patrolman Finds Olbum's Body

River Patrolman Charles Snyder, of the Pittsburgh police department, today recovered from the Allegheny river, near Warren, Pa., the body of Mack Olbum, Pittsburgh business man, drowned April 18 when a boat capsized while he was fishing.

Patrolman Snyder will receive the $1,500 reward offered by Olbum's relatives. Snyder, called the "River Admiral," also recovered the body of Peter J. Hauber, 55, alleged to have drowned himself five weeks ago.

The Senate Is Treaty-Making Power of the United States

A great many people seem to think that the United States Senate is in a measure intruding into the President's business when it considers the advantages and disadvantages of any treaty and decides whether or not it will approve it.

But the Senate has as high a constitutional right to veto any act of the Chief Executive in the matter of foreign relations as the Executive has to veto the act of the Senate in other matters.

In fact the Senate has a higher constitutional right, because when the President vetoes a bill which Congress has passed, the Congress has the right to pass the bill over the President's veto by two-thirds majority.

But the President has no constitutional right whatever to defy or to modify the Senate's authority in regard to the making of treaties.

The original constitutional convention, after due deliberation, gave this power of veto of the treaty-making activities of the President to the Senate WITHOUT ANY QUALIFICATION OR ANY LIMITATION.

The Senate consists of the representatives of the several states which go to make up the Union.

Those states are sovereign.

They came into the Union on condition that they retain certain rights, and those rights were expressed in the Constitution which the constitutional convention drew up and the several soverign states ratified.

Without the consent of the several sovereign states there would have been no UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

Hence the sacredness of the rights guaranteed to the representatives of the states by the Constitution of the United States.

And chief among those rights is the right to decide whether a treaty negotiated by the President SHALL OR SHALL NOT be accepted by the representatives of the sovereign states in the Senate.

The senators, therefore, in passing upon treaties, are exercising the right reserved by the sovereign states which constitute the Union; and their right EXCEEDS the right and power of the President.

The people of the states realized that usually the greatest menace to republican government, and the greatest danger to the peace and safety of the nation arise from the ambition and arrogance of the chief executive.

Therefore, the sovereign states purposely and specifically withheld from the President the right to involve the states and the people of the states in foreign entanglements upon his own whim and caprice, and made their own representatives in the Senate the high court of final decision in the matter of foreign treaties.

The senators, consequently, as the representatives of the sovereign states, have the highest constitutional right to override and overrule any action of the EXECUTIVE or his AGENTS in the making of treaties.

These important rights involve important OBLIGATIONS.

It is not merely the RIGHT of the Senate to consider a treaty with the utmost care, and with full knowledge of ALL THE FACTS.

It is their absolute DUTY to their states and to the United States to do so.

It is their absolute duty to exercise THEIR OWN JUDGMENT and not be influenced by the attitude of the Executive, whose acts they have the constitutional right to overrule.

It is the duty of the senators to realize that the several states joined in the United States and adopted the Constitution of the United States only with the understanding that this important treaty-making right should be reserved to the states through their representatives in the Senate.

The senators would betray their people, betray their states, and be false to the provisions of the Constitution of the United States, if they did not fully, fearlessly, and conscientiously exercise the rights which the Constitution gives them.

The President of the United States has the right to negotiate a treaty; but his authority ENDS THERE.

The authority to ADOPT the treaty lies with the Senate; and it is to be hoped that the Senate is worthy of the high powers reposed in it by the states and the people of the states; equal to its powers and its position, and able to exercise its rights conscientiously and independently AS THE FOUNDERS OF THE REPUBLIC INTENDED THAT IT SHOULD.

Mr. Stimson is no more than an ERRAND BOY constitutionally. He is bringing back his report to the treaty-making power, which is the Senate of the United States.

The President is purely a NEGOTIATOR. He is submitting his negotiations to the treaty-making power which is the Senate of the United States.

The right to accept or reject or to modify the treaty lies ENTIRELY in the jurisdiction of the Senate, without any power on the part of the President to veto or even to review their action.

The SENATE must decide the question of the proposed London naval treaty and the people will hold the SENATE responsible for the decision.

TROOPS PUT DOWN FIRES OF REVOLT

1,000 Help Build Stockade After Balking at Guards; Soldiers Make First Arrest

By AL GOUGH,
Staff Correspondent.

COLUMBUS, O., April 30.—With the backbone of the convict revolt in Ohio State Penitentiary broken after a week of rioting, following the disastrous fire in which 320 inmates lost their lives, 1,000 convicts were put to work for the first time today under the guns of Ohio National Guardsmen and United States Naval Reserves without remonstrance.

Only momentary rumblings of dissatisfaction were heard at the outset of the day's program laid down by Adjt. Gen. A. W. Reynolds and Col. Robert Hambrich, commanding the troops under martial orders of Gov. Myers Y. Cooper.

TROOPS ARREST CONVICT

The first military arrest within the penitentiary was made this afternoon when a prisoner was locked up in the guard house for speaking impertently to a National Guard officer. The convict's name was not disclosed.

Guardsmen had been on duty all night, rushing to completion a wire enclosed stockade within the prison walls wherein most of the 1,300 convicts of White City, center of the rebellion, will be quartered. Fresh details relieved the soldiers this morning and the regular citizen guards were returned to duty within the walls after having been ordered out by

ENGLISH BACKS BLUE LAW POLL

Councilman W. Y. English, of Sheraden, believes so thoroughly in ascertaining the sentiment of the people that he would have placed on the ballot at elections important public questions so that the voters might register their opinions, for the guidance of lawmakers.

He advanced this proposal today in expressing his approval of the poll of Pittsburgh's registered voters by the Sun-Telegraph to record the attitude of this city upon the blue law of Pennsylvania, the law regulating Sunday observance, enacted in 1794.

Preparations for the poll have been completed, and a large clerical force is at work addressing

Murphy, Pitt Gridder, Dies From Training Injuries

By JESS CARVER.

Leo Murphy, a member of the University of Pittsburgh varsity football squad, died this morning in the St. Francis Hospital from a broken neck suffered in a spring practice scrimmage last Thursday. Death at 3:15 a. m. ended the brave fight waged by the star halfback. Murphy was unconscious when the end came.

Paralyzed from the moment he crashed into a teammate while going into the line, Murphy was given only an outside chance to recover, but so valiant was the fight he made to live that with the passing of the fifth day, some slight hope was held out for his recovery.

PARENTS AT BEDSIDE

At his bedside were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Murphy; his brother, Joe; two sisters, all of Youngstown, O., his home; his fiancee, Miss Jean Snyder, of Wilkes-Barre; Coach Jock Sutherland and Director of Athletics W. Don Harrison, of Pitt, and Joe Donchess '1-America end, a teammate and fellow towns-

HYDE AND LEGGE IN BITTER CLASH WITH BUSINESS MEN

FARM BOARD DEFENDED, ASSAILED

Agriculture Head in Fiery Speech Attacks Foes of Act; Denies Price Fixing

WASHINGTON, April 30.—(AP.)—Secretary of Agriculture Hyde made a fiery extemporaneous defense of the Agricultural Marketing Act and the Federal Farm Board today before the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Hyde, who was not listed as a speaker, arose after Alexander Legge, chairman of the board, had sharply rebuked the Chamber of Commerce and had been attacked in turn by delegates to its "round table conference."

The agriculture secretary said much of the opposition to the board's activities in behalf of the farmer was due to "covetousness" and the "fat-headed, self-satisfied desire to be content with things as they are."

CHARGES MINTERPRETATION

The Secretary's speech was directly opposed to previous statements by members of the chamber, but was applauded.

Hye said the marketing act had been misinterpreted before the chamber, adding:

"The board has made no attempt to peg prices, and price-fixing is no part of its program. It does propose, however, to try and influence production."

It was Legge's address that first ruffled the hitherto serene session. The Farm Board head attacked the Chamber of Commerce for failure "to take any constructive action to improve the farm situation after voting overwhelmingly in 1928 in favor of the principle of co-operative marketing."

ASSAILS BANKERS

Legge declared:

"Bankers and business men who met the crisis in the stock market last fall with more than half a billion dollars failed to volunteer any aid when our commodities market faced a like crisis, although by doing so they would have performed as important if not a more valuable service to the country than saving the stock market.

"Instead there was criticism of the Farm Board for giving necessary assistance that could not be had from any other source."

At one point Legge departed from his prepared address to suggest that members of the chamber join with him in setting up a private organization to do work that the Farm Board is now doing. When there was no reply, he added that he would be glad to confer later with members of the chamber on his proposal. He explained:

"All the farmers are trying to do, with Farm Board assistance, is, by acting together, to apply the same methods and business principles to their industry that are adopted in other lines long since. If they were good for you fellows they are likewise good for the farmer."

Among those condemning the farm act and urging its repeal were Daniel A. Mellett, Denver banker and stockman; Harrison E. Jones, Chicago, representing poultry, butter and egg interests; Henry C. Wetterau, president of the New York Mercantile Exchange, and W. C. McCabe, Duluth, representing the grain trade.

military authorities yesterday following an attempted break and the shooting of two prisoners.

When the citizen guards attempted to take the White City prisoners to breakfast, they refused to leave the cell block under escort of any but military guards. This concession was made, the prisoners agreeing to relieve the soldier details on construction of the stockade, and the men were taken to breakfast.

WORK DETAILS FORMED

Work companies were formed, four and five militiamen accompanying each group to the north end of the prison yard where the stockade is being erected on the baseball diamond. It will be completed late today.

Eighty-five Army squad tents are being set up in the prison stockade, Col. Haubrich revealed after a tour of inspection inside this morning. Work has progressed satisfactorily, he said, and he expects to clear the White City cell block by nightfall.

This means that work in the wrecked cell block will begin by tomorrow and will be rushed to conclusion. No estimate of the time required to repair the damage to cells, locks and equipment in the prison range could be made at this time, he said, because it has been impossible to make a careful inspection as yet.

MILITARY INQUIRY SET

The prisoners removed from White City, Col. Haubrich said, will be distributed between the stockade and other prison companies housed temporarily in dormitories, the prison chapel and the mess hall.

A military inquiry is expected today into yesterday's outbreak, when troops on duty in the prison guard room opened fire on the inmates of White City through the bars. It was reported that Warden Thomas had received information that the first shot was fired by a prisoner, but nothing definite could be learned to substantiate the warden's charge.

George Tonoff, convict victim of the guardsmen's bullets, is not expected to live. He was an innocent victim of the shooting, according to the Rev. Father Albert O'Brien, who administered last rites to the wounded man prior to his removal to the White Cross Hospital.

TWO SERIOUSLY BEATEN

It was learned authentically in the warden's office today that two convicts in White City had been set upon and severely beaten by fellow prisoners last night. The two victims of the outbreak were revealed as Jimmy Gordon, serving 15 to 25 years for robbery from Wood County, and Charles Hannovich, lifer, from Cleveland. Hannovich was reported cowering in his cell in terror yesterday afternoon by Father O'Brien.

Hannovich had turned state's evidence against a former pal sentenced to death for killing a gasoline station attendant. The prisoners were removed this morning to the prison hospital within the penitentiary walls. Both are said to be in a serious condition.

GOVERNOR WATCHFUL

Gov. Myers Y. Cooper, meanwhile, was keeping in close touch with the situation at the prison.

The Governor announced plans for relieving overcrowded conditions at the penitentiary. He is working on a broad program of prison improvement in Ohio.

Announcement was made that the State Board of Control has appropriated $100,000 for immediate construction needs at the Ohio State Penitentiary as a result of the disastrous fire. In addition, $35,000 was appropriated to pay members of the Ohio National Guard who are on duty at the prison.

INQUIRY REPORT READY

The report of Attorney General Gilbert Bettman in his investigation into the fatal fire of a week ago was in the hands of State Welfare Director Hal Grishold today. It was turned over to the director last night and will be placed in the hands of Gov. Cooper some time today, it was said.

Contents of the report will not be made public by the attorney general, it was revealed, but will probably come from the Governor's office today. Director Grishold may add any recommendations he may see fit, it was declared.

White House Aid Asked to End Prison Revolt

WASHINGTON, April 30.—(INS.)—Declaring "force never settled any question," E. E. Dudding, president of the Prisoners' Relief Society, today wrote Lawrence Richey, a White House secretary, to "ask President Hoover to use his influence with Gov. Cooper toward a peaceful settlement" of the discontent among prisoners at the Ohio State penitentiary.

Dudding said reports being received by his society indicate the "situation is most critical" and that he fears relatives and friends of the prisoners may attempt to aid a prison delivery. He wrote he was told "public sentiment in Ohio is greatly inflamed against the poor management of the whole of it."

PARKER HELD UNFAIR IN WAR CASE

Senator Walsh Assails Conduct in Action Against U. S. Harness Company

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The conduct of Judge John J. Parker, of North Carolina, in prosecuting a war fraud case against the United States Harness Company, while an assistant attorney general, was attacked today in the Senate by Senator Walsh (Dem.), of Montana, in renewing debate against Parker's confirmation as an associate Supreme Court justice.

Walsh read from excerpts the opinion of Federal Judge Lawrence Groener, showing Parker had withheld evidence tending to show the innocence of the defendant on one charge. Groener declared it was "to my decided amazement, as a result of papers taken from the government file and in the possession of the government," that the defendant had shown himself innocent of one phase of the indictment.

Groener also was quoted as saying the government's attempt to prove the defendant guilty on a charge of trickery in handling of bids was "monstrous."

Friends of Parker rallied, though, by pointing out that Judge Groener also had declared the conduct of Parker as prosecutor was "fair" and "ethical."

HOOVER GIVEN NAVAL TREATY

WASHINGTON, April 30.—(INS.)—The London naval treaty brought home by the American delegates at a cost of three months intensive negotiation and the expenditure of about a half a million dollar was formally turned over to President Hoover at the White House this afternoon.

Talking movies recorded the scene for posterity in a brief ceremony held in the south grounds of the White House. All persons save the president, the delegates and the men who operated the cameras were excluded.

The delegates, headed by Secretary of State Stimson, and including Secretary of the Navy Adams and Senator Robinson, and accompanied by Assistant Secretary of the Navy Jahncke and Under Secretary of State Cotton, called at the White House soon after noon. Stimson presented the president the be-ribboned and be-sealed document and then the party moved to the south grounds for the ceremony.

Afterward the president entertained the company at lunch and the procedure of senate ratification was discussed.

tion—to the church giving its rights to teach private morals over to the government. The polls taken in our colleges prove this. If temperance is a moral issue, as churchmen say it is, under what guise does the United States government take upon itself the right to become a teacher of morals. This seems to be the church's duty.

"There is not a church in Christianity which demands when one would join it that he forswear drinking intoxicating liquors, so far as I can find by asking members.

"Yet, I have been criticized for condemning the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition, and Public Morals, through which, with the Anti-Saloon League, preachers of the Protestant Church lobby in Washington for prohibition legislation. In this, Protestantism—my church—fails.

MISLEADING DATA

"W. C. T. U. pamphlets are misleading. Watch for them. They cite figures, for example, to show the death rate insurance companies are purported to give out concerning those who drink whisky or beer. There is not an insurance company in the country that asks the questions to which W. C. T. U. propaganda gives answers.

"Mayor Magee long ago prophesied to me that as many as were the evils of the saloon, more so would prohibition bring. Needless to say, his prediction has come true. Goodness knows, we don't want the saloon back. But prohibition cannot make temperance."

Following the organization of the chapter, Mrs. Miller announced that a meeting will be held May 8 in Carnegie Music Hall where Thomas W. Phillips, Charles Dorrance, candidates for governor and lieutenant governor on the anti-prohibition platform, and Henry H. Curran, head of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, will be the speakers.

Brazil-Lakehurst Zep Fare Set At $2,750

RIO JANEIRO, April 30.—(AP.)—The Condor Syndicate, agents for the Graf Zeppelin's flight next month, will issue postage stamps today for the dirigible's return flight to the United States and Europe.

The stamps will be in denominations of 10 and 20 milreis, the equivalent of $1.25 for a letter to the United States and $2.50 for a letter to Europe.

On leaving Rio Janeiro, the Graf will take passengers to Pernambuco for $500 and to Havana for $2,250. To Lakehurst, N. J., the fare is $2,750; to Seville, Spain, $4,500, and all the way to Friedrichshafen, $4,750.

CHICAGO PRISON TAKES FIRE

CHICAGO, April 30.—(AP.)—Fire broke out early today in the House of Correction, which has a prison population of about 2,000.

The blaze was extinguished quickly, but prisoners were excited to high pitch and several detective squads were sent there to guard against disorder.

The fire was in the carpenter shop, a one-story building half a block from the main building.

Prison guards put out the fire before the arrival of firemen. The attendant excitement aroused the prisoners, and murmurs of alarm spread, leading Bridewell officials to call upon police squads as a precaution against an uprising.

An hour after the alarm had been given today, Supt. James Curran said there was no disorder and that his guards were prepared to meet any emergency. He said all prisoners had quieted and that there was no likelihood of trouble.

2 DEAD IN OIL EXPLOSION

CHICAGO, April 30.—(AP.)—Two men were burned to death early today in an oil explosion at the refinery of the Dabros Products Corporation. Four others escaped unhurt, dragging with them a fifth, so severely burned he is not expected to live.

Officials of the refinery placed the loss at $16,000.

Several fire companies prevented the blaze from spreading to two huge storage tanks, less than 100 feet away, containing thousands of gallons of highly-inflammable crude oil. On nearby tracks of the Outer Belt Railroad, switch engines pushed close to the blazing refinery to save a number of oil cars.

Chicken Thief Goes To Sleep on Job

DALLAS, Tex. — (INS.) — Now comes the world's laziest thief.

Six-Foot Snake Appears In City

WARSAW, Ind. — (INS.) — Crawling on the pavement in the center of the business district here, a six-foot blue racer snake excited this city considerably as children were on their way to school.

The driver of an automobile ended the excitement by attacking the reptile with his car and killing it.

ENGLISH BACKS BLUE LAW POLL

the first batch of postcard ballots to be mailed to registered voters.

Councilman English declared:

"The undertaking of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph to poll the voters of Pittsburgh as to their attitude upon the blue law of Pennsylvania has my hearty indorsement. Any referendum is highly desirable, and this is particularly true of a moot question such as the one involved in this poll.

"It is often difficult for a public official intrusted by the people with the duty of enacting laws for all, to determine accurately which is the majority view between conflicting elements.

"I favor ascertaining sentiment of the people in every way possible. In fact, I believe it would be an excellent idea from time to time to place on the ballot at elections questions upon which the voters may register their opinions for the guidance of lawmakers.

"A step such as that taken now by the Sun-Telegraph should prove a valuable aid to public officials, in legislation as well as in executive action."

would mean much to American prosperity, he declared.

Attacking the blue laws, Foulkrod asserted that they were causing a serious economic condition in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia. He said that hotels in these cities are deserted on Sundays because the guests leave town over Sundays and go to places where they can see a ball game or attend a show.

MELLON ASSAILED

Foulkrod also attacked Secretary of the Treasury Mellon for "making ex-service men wait 11 years to get a bonus."

Foulkrod was to speak later in the day at the plaza of the Pennsylvania Station and Frankstown avenue and Station street, East End. The anti-dry cavaran goes to Erie tomorrow.

GREENSBURG, Pa., April 30.—Alleged to have been speaking here without a permit, a speaker of the Bohlen - Phillips - Dorrance auto caravan was stopped on the street by police.

GANDHI DEFIED BY BRITAIN

LONDON, April 30.—(INS.)—The British government today issued a defi to Mahatma Gandhi, setting forth clearly it would not capitulate to the demands of the Nationalist leader.

According to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Bombay, the government issued a communique declaring it had no intention of abolishing the salt tax.

Gandhi has based his "civil disobedience" campaign on this issue and has openly violated the government's salt laws in an effort to force a showdown.

The government has closed Khyber Pass, gateway between Northern India and Afghanistan, according to a dispatch from Lahore. No reason for the sudden action was given.

BOMBAY, April 30.—(INS.)—Devidas Gandhi, eldest son of Mahatma Gandhi, leader of the Nationalist movement sweeping India, was sentenced to one year of rigorous imprisonment for violation of the British salt laws at Delhi today.

Devidas, second of the Mahatma's sons to be imprisoned for aiding their father's cause, received the sentence calmly. He told the court:

Airplane Service To Passion Play

MUNICH.—(INS.)—The South German Luft Hansa will maintain during this year's performances of the Passion Play in Oberammergau an airplane service from Hamburg and Bremen to Munich to connect with each incoming steamer. Owing to the lack of suitable territory in and around Oberammergau no airport could be laid out in the village itself. From Munich the passengers will be taken to Oberammergau by motorbus in one hour. Passengers arriving at one of the ports in the forenoon will hence be able to reach Oberammergau the same day.

Women Organize Lawyers' Federation

PARIS.—(INS.)—The International Federation of Women Magistrates and Lawyers has recently been organized in France, having as its principal aim to obtain the same openings in the legal profession as men have. The women who have started this believe that they should have the right to become judges and to preside over juvenile tribunals. They intend to support improvements for arbitration and the building up of international law.

CAR SPEEDS 50 TO CLIFF BRINK

Fifty passengers on a Washington interurban street car experienced the precarious thrill of their trolley jumping the track and stopping near the edge of a 200-foot hill above Sawmill Run boulevard near the South Hills car barn today.

None of the passengers was injured, although several were reported shaken up. Many of them were commuters.

Several passengers said the car ran through an open switch at No. 1 siding, near the south end of the South Hills street car tunnel.

The Pittsburgh Railways Company said a cotter pin fell from a switch, causing the switch to open, and that the front truck of the car left the rails in consequence. The truck, it was said, ran over the ties on the side opposite the declivity.

Arms Oath for Women Aliens Up to Congress

By WILLIAM S. NEAL.

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Congress will tackle the question of whether a woman must take an oath to bear arms in time of war to win American citizenship.

This was assured today after the House Immigration Committee, yielding to advocates of the bill of Representative Griffin (Dem.), of New York, decided to open formal hearings on May 8.

The stage was set for a battle between women's organizations, pacifists and patriotic societies over a question which has been agitated since the Supreme Court upheld the citizenship ban on Fme. Rosika Schwimmer, Hungarian pacifist, because she would not agree to take up arms to defend the Constitution.

The question was raised again this week when Federal Judge Bondy, in New York, refused naturalization to Miss Marie Averill Bland, Canadian, who nursed American soldiers in the World War.

ABOLISHES ARMS CLAUSE

Griffin explained:

"The Constitution requires that persons being naturalized must agree to defend the Constitution, but the Labor Department has added a provision they must agree to bear arms for the United States."

"My bill would simply abolish this requirement of the Labor Department."

SUPPORTED BY CHURCH

Griffin said the Federal Council of Churches, League of Women Voters, Quakers, Mennonites, Dunkards and other organizations would support his bill.

Texas Hen Lays 'Patriotic' Egg

TYLER, Tex.—(INS.)—Whether her fruit was a gesture for liberty or just to furnish material for Robert L. Ripley's Believe-It-Or-Not column is a matter of conjecture. But a hen belonging to Mrs. George Smith, of Tyler, has laid an egg with the Statue of Liberty on it. Mrs. Smith says the egg is of normal size and has the likeness of New York Harbor's guardian on one end. She invites doubtors to see her hen's artistry.

Gophers Controlled By Poison Bait

STILLWATER, Okla.—(AP.)—Poison baits are the best means of controlling gophers, says C. F. Stiles, extension entomologist at the Oklahoma A. and M. College. The best bait, found most effective in the spring, consists of one-eighth ounce of strychnine and one-eightieth ounce of saccharine.

U. S. SAIL PLANE SETS NEW WORLD RECORD, UP 15 HOURS

MARK WON'T BE RATED OFFICIAL

Pilot Fails to Put Instrument Aboard to Record Flight; Beats German 27 Minutes

SAN DIEGO, Cal., April 30.— (AP.)—Jack Barstow, sail plane pilot, landed at Point Loma at 3:56 o'clock this morning, ending a flight of 15 hours and 12 minutes duration that unofficially established a new world record for motorless sustained flight.

He also exceeded the American glider mark of 9 hours, 5 minutes and 32 2-5 seconds, established several months ago by Hawley Bowlus.

The official glider record is 14 hours and 45 minutes, and was established in Germany.

As his flight was unofficial and he carried no barograph, Barstow cannot claim a new official mark.

Barstow took off at 12:44 p. m. yesterday, and in a favorable breeze circled San Diego and Point Loma.

The take-off was made over the precipitous cliffs near the end of Point Loma.

At 9:50 o'clock last night the American record had been shattered and the powerless craft continued its flight through the darkness and on the wings of a cold rain-laden wind.

Shortly before midnight the pilot shouted to his friends that he was "going after the German record," and then as the wind shifted toward the west and increased in force he gained altitude and soared from sight.

Before darkness closed in last night Barstow soared far out over the ocean and at times reached an altitude of almost 1,000 feet.

Fritz Reiner Weds Actress Secretly

CINCINNATI, April 30.—(INS.)—According to word received here Fritz Reiner, conductor of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, and Carlotta Irwin, actress, were secretly married in Bridgeport, Conn., on Saturday, April 26. The couple sailed for Europe immediately after the ceremony, it was said, and will be at home at 3818 Winding way, Cincinnati after October 1.

Weather Conditions.

The high pressure area is now centered off the Middle Atlantic coast, but relatively high pressure still prevails over the Atlantic Coast states. The weather over that section is fair. From Ohio westward the skies are overcast, and showers are in progress at many places. Light rains occurred in Western Ohio and Eastern Indiana, and rain was general over the Mississippi valley and westward over the Plains states. The principal disturbance is centered over Nebraska and Western Iowa, and covers most of the Plains states, and westward to another center over Nevada and Utah. There is also a low pressure area moving southward over Alberta.

The temperature changes were slight and generally towards warmer. Moderately warm weather prevails everywhere east of the Rocky Mountains, and over the Western states, and the far Northwest the temperatures are about normal.

River Conditions.

The rivers are falling. Stage at Franklin is 2.9 feet; Lock No. 7, 11.6; Pittsburgh 11.7; Dam No. 4, 9.7; Dam No. 6, 8.6; Dam No. 8, 9.8, and Dam No. 12, 8.5. The dams are up.

BAKER VICTIM OF PNEUMONIA

CLEVELAND, April 30.—(AP.)—Former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker was suffering from bronchial pneumonia today, but physicians said there was no cause for alarm so long as he continues to show the improvement noted last night.

Baker has been confined to his home here since attending a Democratic rally Saturday night. Dr. Lester M. Taylor and Dr. Roy W. Scott, heart specialist, held a consultation and reported their patient better last night.

Recently Baker, a prominent attorney, has been engaged in strenuous work in the Youngstown Sheet and Tube-Bethlehem Steel Corporation merger fight and the Stanley McCormick guardianship case.

PISTOL STUDIED IN GIRL KILLING

WASHINGTON, April 30.—(INS.)—A .32-caliber automatic pistol, found near a home in Foxhall Village, now is occupying the attention of bewildered police trying to find the murderer of Miss Mary Baker, Navy Department clerk.

Next Friday night it will be three weeks since the girl's body was found in a culvert. The pistol with which Miss Baker was killed never was found, but bullets extracted from her body led to the belief the crime was committed with a .32-caliber revolver.

Ballistic experts will endeavor to learn if the pistol found—rusty and corroded after exposure—was the weapon used.

Saratoga Springs, Bill Becomes Law

NEW YORK, April 30.—(INS.)—Legislation which will improve Saratoga Springs to the class of fashionable European health spas was signed by Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt today. The bill provides a commission of seven to operate the state-owned mineral waters and to expand the resort.

Boy Drops Match In Manhole, Hurt In Explosion

EVANSTON, Ill., April 30.—(AP.)—Robert Smith, 13, dropped a burning match through a manhole cover.

The noise of the resultant explosion brought people on the run, and they carried him home. The doctor said that in about five days Robert would be feeling practically normal.

2 BOYS HELD IN FIRE KILLING

WEWOKA, Okla., April 30.—(AP.)—Two alleged "torch" slayers of 2-year-old Ray Yadon, of Cromwell, Okla., were held in jail here today while officers considered filing murder charges against the prisoners, 8 and 10 years old respectively.

The baby died yesterday morning. Investigators said death resulted from burns received when S. T. Treadwell, 10, lighted clothing which previously had been soaked with gasoline by the boy and his brother, Paul, 8.

S. A. Boyle, juvenile officer, said the brothers would be given a hearing in Juvenile Court. If they are found to know right from wrong, a murder charge may be filed against the older child, Boyle announced.

Fire Destroys Barn, Horse Loses Life

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a barn of the Oakmont-Verona Dairy Company, 970 Fourth street, Oakmont, early today. Barn and equipment, said by W. K. Crusan, secretary, to have been a complete loss, were valued at approximately $2,000. A horse was burned to death.

TURKEY FEARS COL. LAWRENCE

MARDINE, Turkey, April 29.—A report that Col. Lawrence, famous British Asiatic undercover man, is at Revanduz, a town near the Turkish frontier in the desert region between Iraq and Persia, has aroused considerable speculation in the Turkish press.

"Is he planning an uprising in Persia or Turkey?" scareheads demand.

The press goes on to assert that the Turkish government is carefully watching the colonel's whereabouts and doings.

The proximity of Revanduz to Turkey's Kurdish provinces, seat of Sheik Said's revolt and home of still unruly tribes, explains Turkish nervousness regarding the reported presence of the author of "Revolt in the Desert," who, according to Turkish opinion, is author of his subject in more than the literary sense.

Wales Will Head British Golf Pros

LONDON, April 30.—(AP.)—The Prince of Wales today consented to become president of the Professional Golfers Association, succeeding the late Earl of Balfour. The Prince always has taken a great interest in golfing and besides having held the royal and ancient captaincy has been captain at various times of several metropolitan clubs.

Fahy, Flight Record Holder, to Be Buried

WASHINGTON, April 30.—(INS.)—Funeral services will be held here this afternoon for Herbert J. Fahy, noted aviator and holder of the world's solo flight endurance record.

Fahy died from injuries suffered when his plane cracked up as he was taking off at Roscommon, Mich.

AWARD HISTORY HALL CONTRACT

The award of contracts for the completion of historical Hall in the Schenley Farms group of public buildings was authorized last night at the annual meeting of the Historical Society of Western Pennsylvania. It was announced that funds are available from the state and that the work would be started immediately, the improvements to cost about $100,000.

William H. Stevenson was re-elected president of the society for the nineteenth consecutive term. Other officers are Omar S. Decker, Gen. A. J. Logan, Judge A. B. Reid and Albert A. Horne, vice presidents; R. M. Ewing, secretary; John E. Potter, treasurer, and Miss Emma D. Poole, librarian. The directors are Robert Garland, Thomas S. Brown, Benjamin Thaw, J. A. Henderson and C. W. Dahlinger. Ingham and Boyd were appointed architects for the new building.

Papers were read by C. W. Dahlinger on the early religion of the Ohio Valley settlers and by Fleming Nevin on Pittsburgh's pioneer prohibitionist.

Vets of Gold Rush Mourn Noted Guide

TANANA, Alaska, April 30.—(AP.)—Mourned by scores of old sourdoughs of the Yukon gold rush and later stampedes, John Pabloff Minook, 85, famous guide, has been laid to rest in his native Alaska.

Minook, son of a Russian Army officer and a native woman, guided hundreds of miners into the Lewis, Stewart, Forty Mile, Koyukok and Circle mining districts. The "Big Minook" and "Little Minook" gold mines were named for him. He was buried yesterday.

$2,000,000 INN GOULD PROJECT

NICE, France, April 29.—(AP.)—Reliable reports state that Frank Jay Gould, owner of the Palais de la Mediterranee in Nice, is about to invest $2,000,000 more in Riviera real estate. This time his venture will be at Beuil, the mountain center for winter sports 50 miles from Nice. Tentative plans call for the construction of a large hotel but part of the investment will go toward improving the roads leading to the village.

Mr. Gould is already one of the heaviest investors in Riviera property. His Nice casino cost over $5,000,000, and he also owns the Hotel Majestic at Nice, the Hotel Provencal at Juan les Pins, and hotel and a country club at Cannes, besides being the largest individual stockholder in the prosperous Juan les Pins Casino.

EXTRA SESSION URGED BY DRY

WASHINGTON, April 30.—(AP.)—Senator Jones, Washington militant dry leader, urged President Hoover today to call a special session of Congress in the event that adjournment is taken before the chief executive's law enforcement program has been acted upon.

The Senator, after a morning conference at the White House said the President should insist on action on his law enforcement recommendations, which were re-emphasized in a special message to Congress two days ago.

He told the President that if Congress failed to act upon his recommendations, the chief executive should call a special session the day after adjournment.

At the same time Senator Jones expressed hope that Congress would act upon the five measures before adjournment.

CURE REPORTED IN 'JAKE' CASES

KANSAS CITY, April 30.—(AP.)—Treatment for metallic poisoning which already has has proved effective in four cases here today was hailed as a possible cure for "jake paralysis," strange malady suffered by hundreds of persons after using Jamaica ginger as a beverage.

Dr. D. M. Powell, an interne in the General Hospital, said four patients had benefited from treatment with sodium thiosulphate. The remedy was used in the belief that the paralysis was caused by the presence of metals in the Jamaica ginger.

U. S. Grant Offered City Manager Post

WASHINGTON, April 30.—(INS.)—Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant, III, grandson of former President Grant, and director of public buildings and parks of the capital, has been offered the post of city manager of Cincinnati, succeeding Col. C. O. Sherrill, who also at one time occupied the post Grant now has.

FLAMES SWEEP 20,000 ACRES

MILWAUKEE, April 30.—(AP.)—More than 250 men today fought fire burning over approximately 20,000 acres of Wisconsin's forests.

A heavy smoke hung over the entire Chequamagon Bay region as fighters backfired in attempts to save threatened farm dwellings.

Near Herbster, Wis., 125 men worked to extinguish a blaze spreading northward toward Lake Superior over thousands of acres of forest.

Farm Implements Set Exports Record

WASHINGTON, April 30.—(INS.)—Despite the drop in American foreign trade, shipments of farm equipment from the United States, the first three months of 1930 reached the hitherto unsurpassed total of $50,000,000, the Commerce Department announced today. This is an increase of 37 per cent over exports in the first quarter last year.

The chief reason for the record-breaking exports was the large amount of equipment particularly tractors, sent to Russia. Tractor shipments to that country were valued at nearly $20,000,000.

Mayor Walker Ill, Now Convalescent

NEW YORK, April 30.—(INS.)—Mayor Walker, who has been ill since last Friday, may be permitted to get out of bed today, his physician said this morning. The Mayor has been suffering from nervous exhaustion.

RED MAY DAY PLANS STIR POLICE

Marines to Guard Cleveland Reserve Bank; Many Parts Of World Fear Trouble

International News Service.

CLEVELAND, April 30.—Armed United States marines patrolled the Federal Reserve Bank Building today following open threats of Communists here to stage a May Day demonstration around public buildings.

Although announcing that there will be no interference with an orderly demonstration, police authorities declared that they will be prepared for any emergency.

Communist leaders were rapidly completing arrangements today for tomorrow's demonstration here.

Pamphlets were being distributed criticizing Ohio State Penitentiary officials for the recent prison fire disaster, and demanding release of political prisoners.

A call was issued to school children by Communist leaders today to close their school books and join in the May Day demonstration.

Other Parts of World Alert for May Day Trouble

Associated Press.

Police authorities in many parts of the world today made plans to keep May Day observances peaceful, and in some cases forbade demonstrations altogether.

In Paris the police, making their usual preliminary roundups, expelled 22 foreigners and arrested 15 persons charged with inciting soldiers to disobey military orders.

Communists in Madrid announced they were planning huge demonstrations, and police made preparations to cope with any trouble.

VETS, REDS AVOID CLASH

Authorities of Athens and Lisbon prohibited all Communist meetings. In Warsaw special precautions were taken against possible clashes between Socialists and Communists. In Jerusalem there was apprehension that Red demonstrations would be used by the Arabs as an excuse for an outbreak.

Moscow was aflutter with red bunting and numerous decorations as widespread plans were completed for huge demonstrations.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars in New York planned to observe the day as Dewey Day, while Communists planned to hold a May Day demonstration. Plans were made and accepted by both groups to avoid any clash between them.

Building Contracts Gain 17 Per Cent

New building and engineering contracts awarded in the 37 states east of the Rocky Mountains during the week ending April 26, amounted to $117,243,400, the F. W. Dodge Corporation reports. Compared with the preceding week's total of $110,146,500, there was an increase of 17 per cent. Contracts let during the past week averaged $19,540,100 per business day compared with $22,679,300 for each business day of the corresponding period of 1929, which covered the last nine days of April.

Seven Fishermen Killed in Wreck

CORUNNA, Spain, April 30.—(AP.)—Seven fishermen lost their lives yesterday in the sinking of the fishing smack Mariucha, which foundered off Point Candelaria, after grounding during a dense fog. The boat had been smashed on the rocks by heavy seas.

Two sailors and the master of the vessel were rescued after heroic efforts by the crew of another fishing boat, which went to the rescue.

Police Hunt Bandits Who Killed Officer

SAN FRANCISCO, April 30.—(INS.)—Thoroughly aroused over the murder of Patrolman John W. Malcolm, 60, veteran police officer, during a $4,000 payroll robbery, police today concentrated on the capture of the trio of bandits who staged the daring robbery on the waterfront yesterday.

The officer fell with two bullets in his heart. The bandits then fled with the payroll.

Susan B. Anthony's Gavel Opens Women's Meeting

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 30.—(AP.)—The gavel that Susan B. Anthony wielded in 1880 was brought to Louisville to rap out the first decade of women's ballot box achievements and to rap in the new legislative program of the League of Women Voters at today's first business session.

Crystallized in two convention days of open forums and executive sessions, formal recommendations favoring World Court, government operation of Muscle Shoals, "lame duck" legislation, re-enactment of the maternity and infancy act, were prepared for today's presentation by Mrs. W. W. Ramsey, of Illinois.

An entering wedge for convention action on the London Disarmament Conference was made by insertion of the word "treaties" in the recommendation for "international reduction of expenditures for war."

Prohibition received no sponsorship in executive committee conferences, and must come up from the convention floor if it again gets the indorsement which it received in 1928.

A movement in behalf of birth-control was short-lived. Mrs. Chauncey J. Hamlin, of Buffalo, head of the largest state delegation here, New York's, already definitely committed to birth-control, was its chief champion, but failed to get the three-fourths vote necessary to bring her measure to the convention floor.

Jane Aubert's Theater Must Pay Husband

PARIS, April 30.—(INS.)—In France, at least, a married woman must obey her husband's orders, the Paris court ruled today in returning a verdict favorable to Nelson Morris, Chicago packing millionaire, in his damage suit against the Palace Theater here.

Morris sued the management of the theater, claiming it had no right to employ his wife, the former Jane Aubet, music hall star, as he had forbidden her to appear on the stage while his divorce action against her was pending.

The court ordered the Palace Theater to pay Morris damages of 50,000 francs, (about $2,000).

In their verdict, the magistrates ruled as follows:

"The court considers that a French woman is obliged to obey her husband, regardless of what his nationality may be.

"Therefore the court condemns the Palace Theater for allowing Mlle. Aubert to play despite her husband's orders."

Morris' suit against the Palace Theater has been one of the most sensational features of the extended divorce litigation. He charged the theater had exploited his wealth and prominence and taken advantage of the divorce proceedings to obtain publicity for the actress.

Mlle. Aubert contended that her career was on the stage, and denied she had been exploited as "the wife of a Chicago millionaire." Morris declared he had provided for Mlle. Aubert most liberally, and that there was no cause for her to continue her theatrical work.

BIG DECREASE IN MOVINGS SHOWN HERE

Families Changing Homes Estimated at 4,000 Under ...re for Last May 1

...sburgh ...ho...seholders ... ...d more settled tendencies today as approximately 16,000 families celebrated the moving season, an apparent decrease of 4,000 under last year's figures.

While the majority of movings will be made tomorrow van companies report considerable business has been done during April. Real estate companies report a supply greater than the demand for dwellings of all styles with slight rent reductions in some instances.

CHANGES FEWER

According to Duquesne Light Company records, contract changes will not exceed 15,000 families, though last year the figures reached 20,000. The Bell Telephone Company reports change of telephones for 7,504 until April 25 with 1,500 changes as yet to be requested. At the same date last year 9,007 requests had been filed.

Long-distance van companies declare there is an increase in business this season. One large firm reports 10 loads leaving the city for each one being returned.

MOVINGS SMALLER

James Keenan, of Haugh and Keenan, stated:

"Moving conditions have changed. It formerly required two to three vans for an average moving. Heirlooms and keepsakes are no longer the vogue so that one van is sufficient. Too, there is a marked decrease this year in the demand for storage space. Heretofore, May 1 meant capacity demands on all storage houses."

The popular demand is for dwellings renting between $50 and $75, leasing agents report, but with apartments in favor. The large dwelling houses, despite rental cuts, are being shunned.

U. S. Traffic Plan Parallels Code Here

Early drafts of the model municipal traffic code to be acted upon by the National Conference on Street and Highway Safety at Washington next month, parallel very closely the provisions of the proposed Pittsburgh traffic code, Fred C. Schatz, chairman of the Better Traffic Committee's legislation section, said at the organization meeting of his sub-committee in the Chamber of Commerce yesterday. The newly organized legislation section includes B. B. Croup, general manager of Borgs and Buhl; George P. Kountz, attorney, and T. N. Treese, manufacturer.

Edward O'Rourke, of the automobile squad, was reported slightly improved in Mercy Hospital today, where he was taken yesterday after collapsing at the wheel of his automobile in Web...ter avenue, near Seventh avenue. ...anaged to bring the ma... a stop before lapsing into ...lousness. Firemen from ... ...gine Company rushed him to the hospital, where it was said he was suffering from an attack of acute indigestion.

Financier Loses Neon Light Suit

NEW YORK, April 30.—(AP.)—The million dollar suit brought by C. V. Bob, financier, against the Claude Neon Lights, Inc., W. T. P. Hollingsworth and R. L. Kester, Jr., was dismissed upon motion of the defendants.

In the action, Bob charged Kester and Hollingsworth, through the publication of misleading advertisements, brought about the failure of a financing plan he had launched for the Federal Neon System.

U. S. Auto Victims' Bodies Nearing Paris

PARIS, April 30.—(AP.)—The bodies of Mrs. William F. Loring, and her sister, Miss Eleanor Holland, who were killed Monday in an automobile accident at Le Mans, are being brought here today. Funeral arrangements will await instructions from Pasadena, Cal., home of the two women.

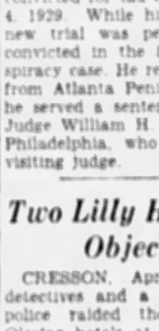
Coins Lead Boy To Break Long Silence

BUTLER, Pa., April 30.—Coins exhibited by physicians at the Butler Hospital induced Ralph Lattanzi, 5, of Bradys Bend to speak for the first time since he was admitted to the hospital 10 days ago. The boy was injured by an automobile.

Doctors and nurses tried to get the boy to talk but he refused to do so until the coins were shown to him. He is reported recovering from a fracture of the skull.

SHEA DIRECTS TRINITY PLAY

Frank Shea, New York stage director, will have charge of the production of Victor Herbert's "Sweethearts," to be presented by Trinity Friendly Society in the Nixon Theater May 23 and 24.



Frank Shea

Shea appeared in earlier years with Raymond Hitchcock. He was chief comedian with Ziegfeld's Follies, "The Merry Widow," "The Pink Lady," "Royal Vagabond," "Mary," "O'Brien Girl," "Little Nelly Kelly," and was associated for 17 years with George M. Cohan. Mrs. Shea directs the dancing for the plays.

ORIE ABANDONS APPEAL

The motion of Stanley Orie for a new trial and arrest of judgment on his conviction in Federal Court for evasion of income taxes, was dismissed by Judge F. P. Schoonmaker, with consent of counsel for Orie. Sentence will be imposed later.

Orie, a brother of former Police Magistrate John W. Orie, was convicted for tax evasion on April 4, 1929. While his motion for a new trial was pending, he was convicted in the Strip rum conspiracy case. He recently returned from Atlanta Penitentiary, where he served a sentence imposed by Judge William H. Kirkpatrick of Philadelphia, who presided as a visiting judge.

Two Lilly Hotels Objects of Raid

CRESSON, April 30.—County detectives and a detail of state police raided the Salony and Olestar hotels at Lilly and confiscated a quantity of moonshine and home brew.

The Slovac Sokol Society clubrooms at Benscreek also were raided and the officers of the organization arrested.

Vancouver Hit By Parrot Fever

VANCOUVER, B. C., April 30.—(AP.)—Six cases of "parrot fever" believed to have been contracted from parraketts brought from the Orient recently were reported here by Dr. J. W. McIntosh, medical health officer of Burnaby, Vancouver suburb.

LAYS STRADDLE TO ARMSTRONG

Political workers today were puzzled over a report that County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong ordered a county employe to support Francis Shunk Brown for governor, but gave him permission to be against Secretary of Labor James J. Davis for United States Senator.

Armstrong, who was the first leader to declare in favor of candidacy of Davis, claiming as a life-long friend, is chairman of the Allegheny County campaign committee for the Davis-Brown ticket.

Attorney Ralph H. Smith, chairman of the meetings and speakers committee of the local Pinchot-for-Governor campaign, said he heard Armstrong issue the order last Monday night before a group of about 20 persons at a reception under auspices of the St. John's Hospital Nurses' Association in Allegheny Elks Home.

Armstrong had just been informed that former President of Council James F. Malone, who was present, had decided to support Pinchot for another term, according to Smith.

Armstrong turned to the county employe, Smith declared, and said:

"I expect you to be for Brown if you want to stay with me. You will have to choose between me and Malone. You can be against Davis and work as hard as you want to, but you must be for Brown."

Malone had not declared publicly up to that time for any governor candidate, but had been quoted as saying he intended to vote for Davis.

After Armstrong's order, Malone said to him, according to Smith:

"Then you're not for Davis."

"I'm for Brown first and Davis second," Smith quoted Armstrong as replying, "because Davis is more interested in Brown than he is in himself."

Armstrong again turned to the county employe and repeated according to Smith:

"Just so you understand it, you have got to be for Brown. I don't care about Davis. These fellows I'm taking care of have to stand by me this time."

RANKIN HEADS PINCHOT MEET

George Rankin, Jr., of the Central National Bank of Wilkinsburg, has accepted the chairmanship of the Pinchot-for-Governor meeting to be held next Monday night in Horner School, Wilkinsburg, according to Attorney Ralph H. Smith, chairman of the meeting and speakers' committee of the local campaign. Pinchot will be the principal speaker.

Speakers will include George B. Shields, chairman of the Wilkinsburg Pinchot committee; Charles C. McLain, candidate for secretary of internal affairs and a former burgess of Wilkinsburg; Mrs. Henry Chalfant Miller, Attorney Ralph Frank and Attorney Smith.

The meeting will be broadcast from the school auditorium from 9:30 to 10:10 p. m. by Station KQV.

Frank J. Gellmar, Allegheny County chairman of the Pinchot organization, has announced that today is final registration day for voters in McKeesport, Duquesne and Clairton.

The first of a series of workers' meetings was held in Pinchot headquarters in the Magee Building, 336 Fourth avenue, last night. Gellmer presided. Speakers included Mrs. Lois Downs McBride, head of the women's division of the local Pinchot campaign, Smith and Frank.

Pinchot headquarters announced yesterday that the State Legislative Board of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen has unanimously indorsed the candidacy of C. F. Armstrong for lieutenant governor. Pinchot's only running mate.

Women to Indorse Ticket At Party

Women members of the Fourteenth Ward Republican committee were to be hosts at 2 p. m. today at a card party in the El Tower apartment, 5800 Munhall road. Mrs. P. F. Casey will preside.

The members are expected to indorse the candidacies of Secretary of Labor James J. Davis for United States senator, Francis Shunk Brown for governor and other candidates on the Davis-Brown ticket, and Max J. Spahn for member of the Legislature from the Fifth District.

Padlocked Club Scence of Blaze

A two-story frame house at Lorraine street and Palmer way, North Side, under padlock of the United States Federal Court, was damaged by fire early today. The blaze was of undetermined origin and caused $1,000 damage, according to Battalion Chief Martin Loebig. Last August the building formerly occupied as a club was padlocked for a year and now is vacant.

Fall Kills Aged Tarentum Woman

Injuries suffered in a fall at her home caused the death early today of Sarah Montgomery, 90, of 629 Second street, Tarentum. The fall occurred March 13 and the woman was removed to the Allegheny Valley Hospital, Tarentum, where her death occurred.

Council Approves Motor Lieutenant

Council has approved putting on an additional lieutenant in the police department who will be placed in charge of the Motor Vehicle Division. The approval was given yesterday at the finance committee meeting.

ERIE GREETS DAVIS-BROWN

ERIE, Pa., April 30.—(AP.)—Tariff, prohibition and a double-barreled attack on Gifford Pinchot, Republican gubernatorial candidate, stood out in bold relief as the Davis-Brown ticket concluded its second day of stumping in Western Pennsylvania by appealing for support in five counties.

The party headed by Secretary of Labor Davis, Republican senatorial candidate, and Francis Shunk Brown, seeking the governorship, received a big welcome here yesterday upon arrival by special train from Kane, where the auto trip was abandoned temporarily.

Secretary Davis will interrupt his speaking campaign late today to return to Washington to attend to governmental and private business. He said his return to the capital would have nothing to do with a Senate Campaign Committee investigation of primary election expenditures.

The secretary of labor plans to rejoin other members of his ticket at Pittsburgh Friday. He will leave the party after it visits Sharon, his father's home.

The ticket's swing of the western end of the state entered its third day today with speeches and handshaking at Waterford, Meadville, Franklin, Grove City, Mercer, Greenville, Sharon and Farrell with an overnight stop planned at New Castle.

PINCHOT HITS STRAW VOTE

BEDFORD, Pa., April 30.—(AP.)—Congressional elections and not magazine and other straw votes are the only true referendum on the wet and dry issue, Gifford Pinchot declared yesterday in an address in behalf of his candidacy for the Republican gubernatorial nomination delivered at McConnellsburg.

Pinchot, Independent dry candidate, spoke from a platform upon which was displayed a banner bearing the symbol, "W. C. T. U."

Earlier in the day at Chambersburg Pinchot challenged Brown, daring his opponent to repudiate the Philadelphia Republican organization backing him "if he resents" Pinchot's charge that Brown, if elected, can't frustrate the organization's alleged efforts to control the state government.

Sankey, War Vet, Out for Legislature

John W. Sankey, of 4045 Delwood avenue, Brentwood, has filed nomination papers for the Republican nomination for one of the four members of the Legislature from the Twelfth District.

During the World War he enlisted with the Fifteenth U. S. Engineers and saw 22 months' service in France. He is a member of Hilltop Memorial Post No. 436, American Legion.

Boy Going to Aid Firemen Dies In Flames

PATCHOGUE, N. Y., April 30.—(AP.)—A 17-year-old boy, on his way to help fight a forest fire, was burned to death. Another car sideswiped the automobile on which he was riding and knocked it into the flames.

The youth, Vernon Edwards, was on the running board of the machine, which was driven by Hewlett Mott, a neighbor. Mott leaped to safety, but his automobile was destroyed. The other car did not stop.

DRY OPPONENT SCORES WYANT

GREENSBURG, Pa., April 30.—A handbill attack on Representative Adam M. Wyant today enlivened the Republican congressional canvass in the Thirty-first District when Attorney Adam B. Shaffer, bone-dry opponent of Wyant, charged that he had been offered a $5,000 bribe to withdraw from the race. Under the heading, "Wyant Not Fit to Be in Congress," the handbill sets forth:

"A former hotel owner and well known leader of the liquor interests came to my office on April 7, 1930, and there offered me $5,000 to withdraw. When I refused he asked me to name my price.

"I charge Wyant with working with the liquor interests. I am giving the people the chance to bring Wyant before me and I will prove what I say."

GRUNDY HERE IN VOTE CAMPAIGN

Senator Joseph R. Grundy returned today to use Pittsburgh as a base for visits into adjoining counties in his campaign to succeed himself.

Grundy left early for Oil City, Titusville, Meadville and Corry. Thursday he is scheduled for meetings in Warren, returning to Pittsburgh for the night. Friday he is expected to speak in New Kensington and to return here for the Allegheny County League of Women Voters' dinner in McCreery's at 6:30 p. m. Grundy will spend Saturday in Erie and will leave that night for Philadelphia. He is expected to return next week for meetings in other western counties.

Attorney R. F. Houlden broadcast an address in behalf of Grundy's candidacy last night over Station WJAS. He said in part:

"Our knowledge of Senator Grundy is of one with whom we may well agree on public questions and feel well assured of the place, precisely and exactly where he stands. We should array ourselves in agreement with the kind and character of views that we feel he will adopt, knowing full well that his achievements of the past will bear the fruit of resplendent accomplishments in the future."

ALTER SPEAKS FOR DAVIS

George E. Alter, former attorney general of Pennsylvania, defeated in the primary of 1922 by Gifford Pinchot, broadcast over KDKA last night an address in behalf of the candidacies of Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, for United States Senator, and Francis Shunk Brown for governor. Alter declared:

"Davis has the qualifications for a senator to represent the interests of Pennsylvania. He would have no ambition to build up a political machine to control nomiflations or destroy nominees.

SOUND ON TARIFF

"He would be sound on our tariff interests because he believes in those principles and learned through years of practical experience the very vital relation between the tariff and the pay envelope."

Referring to Brown's four years as attorney general, Alter said:

"Through this and other public activities, his knowledge of the state, its institutions and its needs, is most complete. While attorney general he had an important part, a very leading part, in the framing and passage of the workmen's compensation act, the child labor law and other legislation of great value.

"For the two laws mentioned he is entitled to high credit. His energy and mental alertness are remarkable. He is courteous, obliging and always ready to be helpful. As head of the Association of the Philadelphia Bar he is held in the highest esteem by the members of that great organization."

Regarding Davis' opponent, the speaker questioned the "superior skill" of Senator Joseph R. Grundy who. Alter said, admitted that the present tariff bill is the "worst ever framed" despite Grundy's activities in its behalf.

Muldowney Named Elections Judge

Joseph Muldowney, 2327 Fifth avenue, has been appointed judge of elections for the Fifth District of the Fourth Ward by Judge Harry H. Rowand in Quarter Sessions Court, in place of his brother, Edward Muldowney, resigned when appointed to a city job. Both are brothers of Councilman Michael J. Muldowney.

William F. Graffius, 129 West Twelfth avenue, Homestead, was appointed minority inspector for the Fourth District of the Fifth Ward, Homestead, vice Cornelius H. O'Neil, resigned.

Divorced Merchant On New Honeymoon

RENO, Nev., April 30.—(INS.)—Waddill Catchings, president of Goldman Sachs Trading Company, and May Francis, former secretary of a New York broker, were on their honeymoon today.

Helen Werner Catchings recently obtained a divorce here from Catchings on the grounds of mental cruelty. It is understood Catchings agreed to settle $1,000,000 on his former wife and to provide $100,000 for the support of their three children, as well as to pay his ex-wife $50,000 annually.

Aimee Converts Two Moslems in Holy Land

JERUSALEM, April 30.—(AP.)—The Jewish Telegraphic Agency reports that Aimee Semple McPherson, Los Angeles evangelist, according to rumors that spread through the country, has converted two Moslems during her stay in the Holy Land.

In an interview with the agency she said she thought Zionism was "wonderful" and declared that it "thrilled her beyond words."

The evangelist, who quietly left Palestine for a trip through Syria, was said to have delivered an exhortation to an audience of Arabs and Jews at Gethsemane in connection with her recent ceremony of washing the feet of believers beside the Jordan River.

GRUNDY COMES OUT AS DRY

PHILADELPHIA, April 30.—(AP.)—Having come out as a dry, Senator Joseph R. Grundy today resumes his campaign for the Republican senatorial nomination in the western part of the state.

Senator Grundy announced his support of the present prohibition laws to the Republican women of the Forty-second Ward yesterday afternoon. He declared he would "stand by the existing Constitution and its amendments and all the enforcement legislation that has been enacted."

The dry platform adopted by the Republican National Convention in 1928, upon which President Hoover was elected, was cited by Mr. Grundy as a reason for his attitude. The present senator was a delegate to that convention.

He said he would support liquor legislation recommended by the Wickersham Commission appointed by the President, if it is in accord with the party platform.

WOMEN TO HEAR TICKET HEADS

Candidates will present their platforms at a dinner under auspices of the Allegheny County League of Women Voters in McCreery's dining room at 6:30 p. m. Friday.

Acceptances have been received, according to Jessie W. Ewald, publicity secretary of the league, from Republican candidates for United States senator, Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, Joseph R. Grundy and Francis H. Bohlen; Republican candidates for governor, Gifford Pinchot, Thomas W. Phillips and Francis Shunk Brown; Democrat candidate for United States senator, Bedgwick Kistler, and Democratic candidate for governor, John M. Hemphill.

Reservations for the dinner may be obtained at the league's office, 1501 Peoples Bank Building, according to Miss Ewald.

Riley's Withdrawal From Race Expected

Political observers expect P. F. Riley, former alderman of the Seventeenth Ward, to withdraw in the near future as candidate for state senator from the Thirty-eighth District and leave the field to Joseph G. Armstrong, Jr., son of County Commissioner Armstrong.

State Senator M. G. Leslie declined to seek another term after Riley had been placed in the race by friends of Mayor Kline, and Armstrong entered to further complicate the situation.

Herrington Enters Legislature Contest

Fred J. Herrington has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for one of the four members of the Legislature from the Sixth District. He pledged to work for old age pensions, relief of unemployment, clean elections and abolition of the coal and iron police.

Silks

The Three Important Silks for Spring Sewing
Exceptional Qualities, Colors and Designs

$1.95 Yard

We've prepared our stocks of silks for spring dressmaking. We've assembled every fashionable type of fabric wanted for the various kinds of sewing . . . and in every case we purchased only qualities that will further Horne's reputation for high quality merchandise. Here are the most important silks for spring—and the diversification at this price demonstrates our commanding position in the silk business.

Truhu Pure-Dye Crepe

We recommend Truhu crepe for every kind of sewing—for afternoon dresses, evening gowns, lingerie and negligees because it has a rich texture, and it is absolutely color-fast no matter how you wash it . . . in short its quality is unmatchable at anywhere near this price. More than seventy-five colors are offered.

New Printed Flat Crepes

These are all new crepes that deserve to be placed in a higher-priced group than $1.95 because of their quality and designs. Black and navy blue grounds—the most sought-after silks for street and daytime frocks—are plentifully represented. Lighter shaded silks and white backgrounds are included, too. You'll like every design in this collection . . . from the tiny triple-posie prints to the larger bubble prints, and the many sizes of dots that appear on various colored grounds.

Black Crepe-back Satin

Imagine . . . a Horne-quality black satin for only $1.95 yard. You can make a black jacket for your fashionable black-and-white dress . . . a summer wrap or coat . . . a smart street or afternoon dress of this satin for an amazingly small cost. Both sides of the fabric may be used, too; the lustrous satin or the dull crepe side.

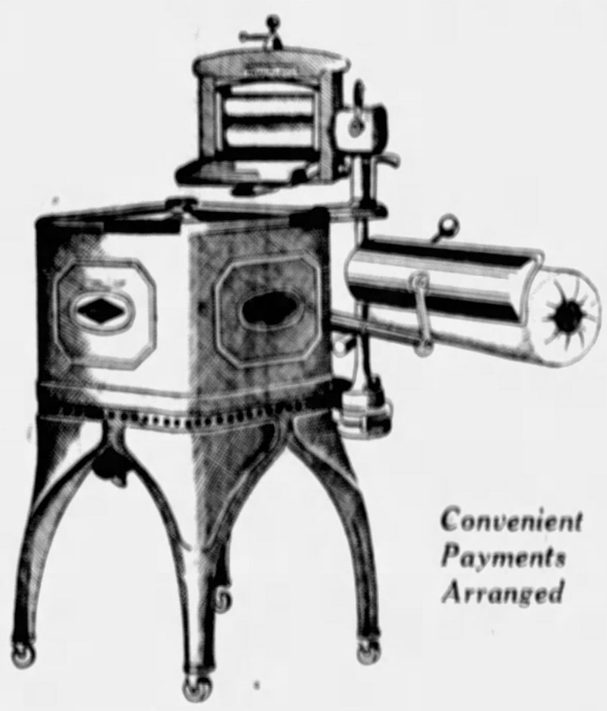
An Especially Planned Sale of

100 "Faultless" Washers

With the New 2-in-1 Ironer Attachment



Convenient Payments Arranged

$119.50

Ordinarily we would sell 100 of these splendid outfits in a month at a higher price. But now we propose to sell 100 in a few days at a special price.

The "Faultless" Washer is an efficient, quiet running, easy-to-operate machine. It has simple, positive mechanism. All gears run in oil. No exposed working parts. Double-walled tub of rust-resisting steel and heavy gauged embossed copper. Rounded inside corners insure greater water action and faster washing. One-quarter horsepower, General Electric motor. Agitator is a large one-piece aluminum casting.

The new 3-in-1 Ironer attachment is wonderfully convenient, comfortable and compact. It is at exactly the proper height to permit the user to operate the roll and handle the clothing while comfortably seated in a chair. Full open end makes ironing easy. May be left on washer at all times; swing it against side of washer when not in use. The washer without ironer, $79.50.

WINTER HEADS ROTARIANS

HAGERSTOWN, Md., April 30 (AP).—Arthur E. Winter of Altoona, Pa., last night was elected governor for Rotary in the Third District at the district's annual convention here. He defeated F. Wright Taylor of Crisfield, Md., the only other candidate.

Thirty-eight Rotary clubs in the cities of Maryland, Delaware, District of Columbia, Pennsylvania and West Virginia are in the district. The next convention place of that district was not revealed.

Dr. Charles Edward Wimer of Lancaster, Pa., was nominated for a director of Rotary International.

The convention adjourned after the annual banquet at which Governor Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland was the principal speaker.

CHILDS AGAIN RESTAURATEUR

NEW YORK, April 30 (AP).—William Childs is back in the restaurant business, beginning again at 63.

The man who got his family name of the world-wide chain of 118 eating places, retired from the business, then a year ago opened the first of a new chain of restaurants on Broadway last night.

The new restaurants are to have no flap-jack-flipping maidens in the front windows, nor any of the white-tiled scenes Childs introduced into American eateries. Each will be done in the manner of "some scandinavian world center." The first one is in Moorish arabesque.

Rochester Blaze Damages Store

ROCHESTER, Pa., April 30.—Fire in the basement of a three-story brick business building invaded the Ben Friedman clothing store, causing damage estimated at more than $10,000.

Another apartment on the first floor and apartments on the third floor were reoccupied, smoke damage was caused in offices on the second floor.

Four German Reds Sent to Fortress

LEIPSIC, Germany, April 30 (AP).—Four young Communists, three of them Berlin students, were sentenced today to from six to 15 months in fortress for incitement to high treason. Three Communists are from Berlin, one from Duesseldorf, and one from Annaberg, were arrested today in connection with the Easter Sunday riots here.

Boys, Riding 'Blinds,' Quizzed in Theft

Two youths admitted in Morals Court today that they entered a chain store in Chicago Heights, Ill., and took $7.50, which they said, they found on the floor. The two, Joseph Bizzo, 17, of Chicago Heights, and Eugene Adams, 16, of Tarentum, were taken from a Chicago train riding "blind baggage."

...ret Blamed ... Downtown Fire

A lighted cigaret tossed by a workman into a pile of rubbish started a fire on the sixth floor of the Irish Building, Penn avenue and Eighth street, today, according to occupants of the building. The blaze was subdued with a hand extinguisher. Damage was trivial, firemen reported.

Charles D. Watson, an auditor, of 1007 Arlington avenue, in his will filed for probate today, leaves an estate valued at $16,800 to Mrs. Anna K. Davis, housekeeper for Mr. Watson and for his father for 21 years.

3 Sons Inherit Mother's Estate

The will of Mrs. George F. Cox, of Homestead, leaves a $12,000 estate to three sons, Harry, Barry and John Cox, who are also named as executors.

Village Gasless Because of Dispute

WAYNESBURG, Pa., April 30.—Residents of Blacksville on the Pennsylvania-West Virginia state line continued this week to prepare meals on camp fires and outdoor ovens as the community started upon its third consecutive week without gas supply.

A steam shovel excavating for a new bridge removed the only gas line, and a legal fight as to responsibility for the break has delayed resumption of service.

FREEMAN WINS TAX SUIT

Attorney John M. Freeman was awarded judgment of $12,400, with interest from 1926, by Federal Judge E. P. Schoonmaker in a suit brought against D. B. Heiner, collector of internal revenue. The court upheld the plaintiff's contention that he had been unlawfully assessed on his income tax for the year 1918 instead of 1919.

The tax, amounting to $10,000 of a $99,500 fee received by the law firm of Watson and Freeman as counsel for the receiver of the J. V. Thompson estate, later when the estate was placed in bankruptcy, the trustee filed exceptions to the fee and $50,000 was placed in escrow. The trustee afterwards agreed to the fee but the escrow did not expire until January 2, 1919. The action was to recover on the difference of the 1918 assessment and a 1919 tax liability.

JILTED, SHOOTS TWO WOMEN

CHICAGO, April 30 (INS).—Vernon Roberts was under arrest today, charged with the probable fatal shooting of Miss Madge Woodhouse, artist's model and her half-sister, Miss Martha Nixon.

Jealousy over a supposed rival for Miss Woodhouse's hand was given by police as the probable cause of the shooting. Roberts said Miss Woodhouse, who was chosen "Miss Chicago" at the fine arts ball in 1923, had jilted him Monday night, police said.

Roberts accompanied the artist's model to Miss Nixon's apartment yesterday, where an argument ensued. He then shot each woman twice, according to police. Neither woman is expected to live.

TRAFFIC AIDES HONOR MARSH

A party in honor of their retiring chief, Burton W. Marsh, was held by the members of the Bureau of Traffic Planning in the department offices in the City-County Building yesterday afternoon.

Presentation of a specially engraved desk set was made to Marsh by Donald W. McNeil, assistant traffic engineer. McNeil, Peter J. Stupke, maintenance engineer, and Joseph Ryan, chief clerk, formed the committee in charge.

Marsh leaves for Philadelphia tonight to assume the position of traffic engineer there. His successor has not been appointed.

Members of the Better Traffic Committee will fete Marsh at a testimonial dinner at the University Club tonight. About 75 city officials and traffic committee members are expected to attend. Entertainment will be furnished by members of the Pitt Cap and Gown show and by the Duquesne Light Company orchestra.

HANOVER MAN AS EDUCATOR

The Rev. Henry I. Stahr, pastor of Emmanuel Reformed Church, Hanover, Pa., has been elected executive secretary of the Board of Christian Education of the Reformed Church in the United States with central offices in Philadelphia. Besides exercising supervision over 1,740 Sunday schools in the United States and Canada, this board has general oversight of the entire denominational educational program of the congregations.

He has been chairman of the Sunday School Advisory Board of Eastern Synod of the Reformed Church, a member and president of the Board of Christian Education, chairman of the Collegeville and Frederick Summer Missionary Conferences, and president of Reading and East Pennsylvania classes.

2 DEAD, 1 DYING, AUTOISTS HELD

Two motorists were to post bond today with the coroner pending inquests into two fatal accidents during the night. Another victim of an accident is in a critical condition in Mercy Hospital.

Albert G. Stewart, 60, of 1500 Grandin avenue, Dormont, was fatally injured when hit by an automobile in West Liberty avenue near Brookline boulevard. Ronald F. Mackinson, 18, of 1936 West Liberty avenue, the driver, will appear before the coroner today.

William Brown, 5, of 604 Arch street, Carnegie, died in Mercy Hospital early today, having been hit by an automobile near his home last night. Robert Everly, 33, of 218 Railroad avenue, Carnegie, the driver, will post bond today.

Struck by an automobile in Fifth avenue near Brady street, last night, George Fox, 8, of 436 Beelan street, suffered a probable fracture of the skull. He is in Mercy Hospital. John Argentina, 22, of 3427 Ward street, was driving the machine, police reported.

Alex Chesonich, 40, of 3437 Rivington street, Philadelphia, suffered a fractured right leg when hit by an automobile while crossing West Carson street at South Main street this morning. He was removed to the South Side Hospital by police who arrested the driver, William Derenzie, 35, of 212 St. Andrew's street.

Indian Museum Planned for State Park

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 30 (AP).—The Pennsylvania Historical Commission is considering the institution of a museum for local Indian relics in the residential building in Conrad Weiser Park, near Reading, according to an announcement here by Dr. H. H. Shenk, state archivist and secretary of the commission.

The commission plans to visit the park in the near future before making its final decision in this matter.

Child Hurled Over Trestle By Train; Only Shaken

BALTIMORE, Md., April 30 (AP).—A 4-year-old boy was hit by an express train, hurled over a 20-foot trestle and hospital attendants said he only suffered slight lacerations on the forehead. He had strayed from his mother, who had taken him to a carnival lot and was walking home alone when hit.

The boy, James Elmer Hillgren, was rushed to the Memorial Hospital, where he was held for observation. The accident occurred on the tracks of the Baltimore and Ohio at Asquith street and Exter Hall avenue.

Gunman Wounds 2, Dies Fighting Police

DALLAS, Tex., April 30 (AP).—A gun battle with police ended in death here last night for B. G. Perocchi, 35, who barricaded himself in a house after wounding John Techas, 33, and W. R. Greenlee, a policeman, who attempted to arrest him during a disturbance in a park.

A riot call brought out 25 police officers who surrounded the house and charged in upon Perocchi in the face of bullets from his revolver.

KAUFMANN'S INAUGURATES TOMORROW Six "Art in Industry" Contests

In order to stimulate greater recognition and employment of art in industry, Kaufmann's presents six contests, three for adults and three for school children, based on the Boardman Robinson murals and on the new first floor. The Pittsburgh Press will collaborate.

Cash prizes amounting to $2,500.00 will be distributed among the forty winning contestants.

A Poster Contest

The winning posters will be those which best express the spirit of Art in Industry as exemplified by the new first floor of Kaufmann's.

First Prize $100.00
Second Prize $50.00
Third Prize $25.00

Five Honorable Mentions will be given.

Grade School Essay Contest

This will be open to any grade school pupil who describes in not more than five hundred words one of the Boardman Robinson mural paintings, which will be unveiled on our First Floor tomorrow.

First Prize $100.00
Second Prize $75.00
Third Prize $50.00
Ten Prizes, each $25.00

Essay Contest For Everyone

Open to anyone who submits an essay of less than 2,500 words dealing with the subject, "How Art Influences My Daily Life. First prize, $300.00; second prize, $150.00; third prize, $50.00.

High School Play Contest

Open to any high school pupil who submits a short play based on one of the ten Robinson murals depicting the History of Commerce. The five winning plays will be produced in the Kaufmann Auditorium with carefully selected casts and directors, beginning Monday afternoon, June 6, 1930. The prizes for the five winning plays will be $100.00 each. Ten prizes of $10.00 each also will be awarded.

Stage Set and Costume Contest

Open to all high school students who submit working drawings and sketches for sets and costumes to be used in staging the production of the five prize-winning plays. The prizes for the five winning sets and costumes will be $50.00 each.

A Costume for Women's Clubs

In order to stimulate a growing interest in the handcrafts and the use of Art in Industry, Kaufmann's will give a prize of $500.00 to the women's club in the southwestern district, whether or not affiliated with the state federation, which produces the most comprehensive and beautiful exhibition of hand-made objects during the period from May 1, 1930, to May 2, 1931.

Details may be learned at the Art in Industry Contests Bureau on the first floor of Kaufmann's, or from the Art in Industry Contests Editor of the Pittsburgh Press. Also, by calling on the telephone, Atlantic 1000 or Court 4925 and asking for Contest Information.

PUBLIC UNVEILING MURAL PAINTINGS

By BOARDMAN ROBINSON

And The Formal Opening of The Completed First Floor

At a simple ceremony, Kaufmann's will dedicate to the cultural enrichment of Pittsburgh, the prize-winning murals which have been permanently placed on the walls of the new first floor. Boardman Robinson, who is acclaimed America's foremost mural painter, won the highest award of the New York Architectural League with these murals, painted on commission of Kaufmann's. The murals tell the story of commerce from the earliest days. You are cordially invited to be present at the unveiling.

No Part of a Dollar Spent for Beauty Is Ever Wasted

More and more the nation is demanding the artistic along with the utilitarian, the simple and the beautiful as well as the merely useful.

In line with this realization, and in order to discharge ourselves of our share of the responsibility, we formulated plans in 1925 for a five-year program which provided for the remodeling and redecorating of the first floor of this institution. Our purpose was to show all who entered that utility is beauty, and that commerce must become ever more and more the patron of the arts.

Now that this program has been completed, we are sponsoring competitive activities that will focus the attention of many people on the architecture, murals, lighting and other unique features that we have used to demonstrate this belief. And since it is evident that our youngest generations are rapidly growing in discrimination, some of these activities are planned to interest boys and girls.

When the first floor is opened tomorrow morning in its completed form, and the murals unveiled, it will be with our sincerest hope that sponsorship of private initiative will continue more and more to foster pride in workmanship, in order that the artist may be restored to industry, unemployment lessened, and a counter balance created for the preponderant weight of the machine in contemporary life.

BOARDMAN ROBINSON

Tells How He Did It!

IN AN ILLUSTRATED LECTURE IN THE AUDITORIUM

Friday at 4 O'Clock

Art Classes—All who are interested in the theory and practice of the fine arts—should find great inspiration in Mr. Robinson's words—'twill be like hearing El Greco tell how he did the murals at Toledo—how each step was thought out, until the finished creation stood forth. Mr. Robinson will make sketches to illustrate. Everyone is welcome.

CHAMBER AIDS RATE FIGHT

The Chamber of Commerce yesterday filed a formal complaint with the Public Service Commission asking for a hearing on the Interstate Commerce Commission's edict to increase the tariff scale on short haul iron and steel shipments within the Pittsburgh industrial district.

The new tariff, which is effective May 20 embraces freight stations between Pittsburgh and the following border points:

Allenport, Avonmore, Beaver Falls, Belle Vernon, Bellfield, Burgettstown, Butler, Elwood City, Jacobs Creek, Kittanning, Latrobe, Midland, Washington and Whitsett Junction.

The respondents named in the complaint are the Baltimore & Ohio, Bessemer & Lake Erie, Pennsylvania, Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, Pittsburgh & West Virginia, Pittsburgh, Chartiers & Youghiogheny and the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh railroads. These common carriers already have filed with the state commission the new tariff schedules.

Under the new scale it was pointed out, Pittsburgh would be placed at a disadvantage with Chicago, Cleveland, St. Louis and other industrial centers which have extensive switching zones with reasonable charges for intermill movements of iron and steel, not subject to any increase under the readjustment which will prove costly here.

Hurt in Auto Crash, Sues for $20,000

Mrs. Rose Greene, hurt May 3, 1929, at Negley and Stanton avenues, when the car in which she was riding collided with a Green cab, has sued Meyer Greene for $20,000 damages. Mrs. Greene and her husband, who joins in the action, assert the plaintiff was thrown against the dashboard of the car and Mrs. Greene shaken up. She also claims she is suffering from shock.

Rochester Names Memorial Speaker

ROCHESTER, Pa., April 30.—The Rev. John S. Taylor, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church, was chosen by the Rochester Memorial Association as the Memorial Day speaker.

New Castle Pupils Hear Aviation Talk

NEW CASTLE, Pa., April 30.—Senior high school boys and girls were addressed by Dr. W. O. Wooserman, instructor in aviation at the University of Pittsburgh. He spoke on aviation as a vocation.

Once Bar Porter, May Be Poet Laureate

LONDON, April 30.—(AP)—A man who has roamed the world in carefree hobo fashion, and once was even a porter in a New York season, may be the next poet-laureate of England.

Indications today were that Prime Minister MacDonald soon would appoint a successor to the late Robert Bridges and the name of John Masefield is most prominently mentioned.

Masefield has been a seaman, ship's cook, farm hand and hobo. After a long struggle for success, it would be finally attained in his most famous novel, "Sard Harker."

Masefield is 53 years old and has a wife and two children.

BANK CASHIER KILLS HIMSELF

CLINCHBURG, Va., April 30.—(AP)—After addressing relatives in the bankers and in the bank presidents, Roland R. Wright, 35, cashier of the Bank of Clinchburg, shot and killed himself yesterday.

A coroner's jury found that he came to his death by his own hand.

W. P. Buchanan, president of the bank, wired the chief bank examiner of Virginia asking that he send some one to take charge of the institution.

Buchanan said the troubles of the bank started about eight years ago due to the defalcations of a former cashier.

Wright took charge of the bank after the embezzlement and had succeeded in largely overcoming the former difficulties, Buchanan stated.

Recently business had declined, he said.

Meadville Mayor Urges Fast Time

MEADVILLE, Pa., April 30.—(AP)—Mayor C. W. Gill has issued a proclamation in which he requested and recommended that daylight saving time be adopted by the citizens of Meadville next Saturday at midnight. Previously the Mayor had requested that only city employes and departments adhere to the time.

The question of daylight saving has come up in several Northwestern Pennsylvania cities this year, with Oil City and Franklin deciding against it. Titusville, which used daylight time last summer, presumably will remain on standard time.

HERRON FETED AT BANQUET

The public service of President John S. Herron of City Council was lauded at a testimonial dinner in his honor last night in the William Penn Hotel given by the Homewood - Brushton Board of Trade.

The gathering of 1,200 friends which filled the banquet hall included practically every person of prominence in public life.

While politics was barred, speakers of every political complexion extolled the career of Herron during his service in Council since 1913 and his loyalty to the public and his friends.

At the speakers' table were Mayor Charles H. Kline, former Mayor William A. Magee, County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong, Congressman P. J. Sullivan, State Senators Frank J. Harris, James J. Coyne, Morris Einsmith, William D. Mansfield and A. J. Humphreys, Councilman W. Y. English, Edward Madge, Dr. Francis K. Whitfield, E. T. Whitter, City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt, J. J. McCaig, George R. Dorman, Director Edward G. Lang of the Department of Public Works, Taylor Allderdice, Joseph Stadtfeld and Director James M. Clark of the Department of Public Safety. Dick Brittey, general chairman, introduced Frank E. Shaughnessy as toastmaster. The Rev. P. W. Snyder delivered the invocation.

Telegrams were read from many prominent Pittsburghers unable to attend. A feature was the appearance of Post 351, American Legion drum corps.

Two Men Injured As Truck Upsets

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., April 30.—David Stein, 2185 Fifth avenue, driver, and John Miller, 85 Roberts street, helper, both of Pittsburgh, are recovering from injuries sustained when their truck left the road at Locust Point, Darlington road, and turned over in a field.

Steffin-Hill Road Repairs Completed

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., April 30.—Steffen Hill road, which connects Beaver Falls and New Brighton with Highway Route No. 51, will be opened today. The road has been closed for six weeks undergoing repairs to damage caused by a storm.

Buy a home and start on the road to independence. See the real estate offers in the Sun-Telegraph Classified Ads.

Rock Kills Boy Walking Along Highway

MASONTOWN, Pa., April 30.—Donald Dean, 17, of New Geneva, was fatally injured when struck on the head by a rock while walking along the Smithfield-New Geneva highway. The rock, which caused his death, is believed to have been loosened by blasting which was in progress to cut the roadbed. It fell 200 feet.

INDUSTRIAL AD EXHIBIT OPENS

Nearly a score of Pittsburgh industries, numbering among them the public utilities, last night exhibited advertising showing results of their co-operative work with the commercial engineering department of Carnegie Institute of Technology. The exhibits, in room 218 Engineering Building, will continue tonight and tomorrow night.

First built for the annual Exhibition Night at Tech, the industrial exhibits are being shown for the sixth year. The Bell Telephone Company, one of the concerns represented, last night gave motion pictures showing the production and distribution developments accomplished with Tech's commercial engineering department during the past year.

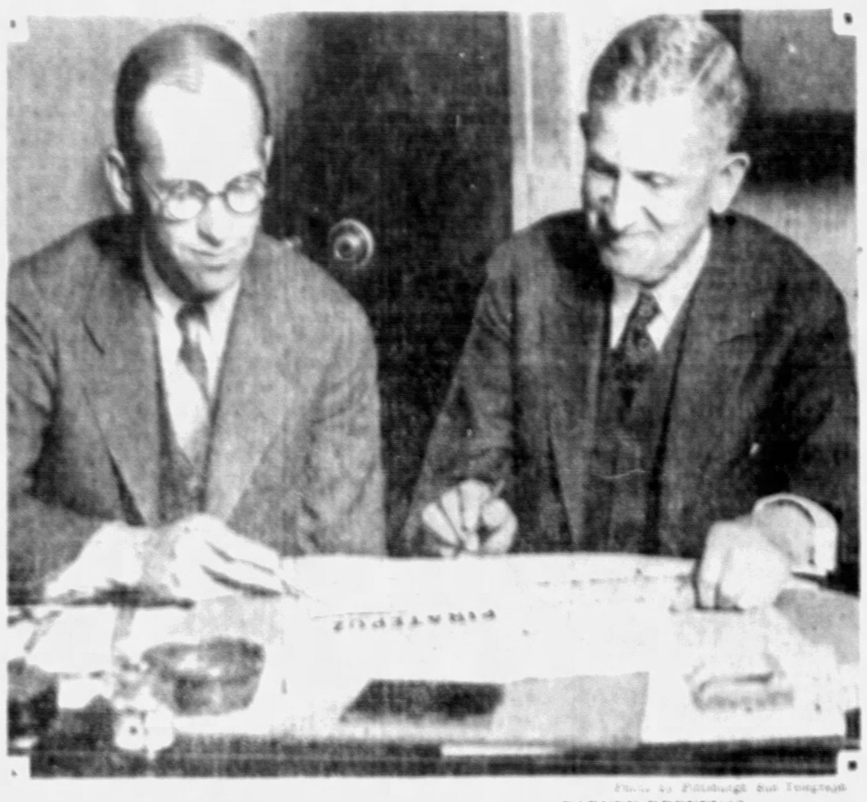
PIRATE OWNERS OKAYING PIRATEPUZ



SAM DREYFUSS
Sam and Barney, owners of the Pittsburgh Pirates, putting their okay on the Piratepuz.

BARNEY DREYFUSS
after trying to solve the first one. Barney's an enthusiastic booster of the new novelty puzzle.

'PIRATEPUZ' HIT RIGHT OFF BAT

"Piratepuz" the fascinating new baseball puzzle contest has jumped right into popularity Readers of the Sun-Telegraph who send in the correct or the most nearly correct and neatest answers to these daily puzzles will be handsomely rewarded Twenty-five grandstand tickets for the Pirates games and three cash prizes—$10 $5 and $2 50—will be awarded every day

The "Piratepuz" is a fascinating game for young and old men and women—boys and girls

Barney Dreyfuss and Sam Dreyfuss, owners of the Pirates from whom the puzzles derive their name put their Okay on "Piratepuz" yesterday—right off the bat A Sun-Telegraph photographer caught the two of them trying to solve yesterday's puzzle Barney Dreyfuss said:

"This new game is one of the most intriguing I have ever tried to play. I think that I have correctly solved the puzzle in today's paper, but I'm far from sure of it. Like thousands of others I'll be waiting for the publication of the correct answer."

"I like it because it dusts off the brain—it's a teaser," said Sam Dreyfuss. "You do not necessarily have to be interested in baseball to follow these puzzles, but a more intimate familiarity with the names of the players on the Pittsburgh team would be helpful. I'm for 'Piratepuz'—let's have lots of 'em."

All you have to do in "Piratepuz" is to determine the name of the player represented by the scrambled letters in the daily puzzle—just unscramble them and then submit your answer, giving the correct, complete name of the player represented

Yes, it's easy and profitable—a fine opportunity to test your wits and your knowledge of the players on the Pittsburgh National League Baseball Club roster this year.

Doumergue to Seek Quiet After Term

PARIS, April 30.—(AP)—Gaston Doumergue, like Calvin Coolidge, intends to abandon political activity after his term as president of the republic ends in 1931

The President, who will retire to his native town of Nimes, Southern France, said he would not accept a senatorship and would not run for the Municipal Council of Nimes.

Concreting Starts On Butler Bridge

BUTLER, Pa., April 30.—Work began today on concreting the floor of the new steel bridge over Slippery Rock creek at Daughertys Mill. The superstructure was finished last fall The bridge, built by the state, replaces the one way bridge that has been used for many years on Highway Route No 8

The estate is worth almost a quarter million dollars.

URGES SUBSIDY FOR MARRIAGE

PHILADELPHIA April 30 —(AP)— Judge William E Lewis sitting in Domestic Relations Court predicted that the time is not far off when the state will subsidize marriage in a manner to prevent the breaking up of homes through unemployment

The jurist this week concludes four months of hearing disputes between husbands and wives in which unemployment has been a factor The marriage subsidy idea he said would have to be carried out "under conditions that would insure against taking advantage"

Judge Lewis believes subsidy of marriage by the state would encourage early marriage of which he is in favor

3 Lovelorn Cuban Girls Kill Selves With Fire

HAVANA, Aril 30.—(AP.)— Three young Cuban girls who could no longer endure their disappointments in love committed suicide together yesterday, dying in agony after having made flaming torches of their clothing and bodies.

Ramona Jimenez, 16; Maria Gonazalez Emndez, 17, both of Cardenas and Elena Cordero, young Manicaragua maiden, were the victims. All three saturated their clothing with alcohol and applied lighted matches after penning brief notes to their parents.

SEEKS 'REFORM' BY ARSON

WHEELING W Va April 30 —(AP)— The case of a village "bad boy" who resorted to the strange expedient of burning a country school house in order to attain self-reformation was disclosed here by Deputy State Fire Marshal Edward Ritz

Returning from Stouts Run, a small community in a remote section of Wetzel County, Ritz said that Floyd Barker 15 pupil in the little one-room school made a signed confession that he set the structure afire in the hope that he would be detected and sent to the Boys Industrial School at Prunytown

Barker is being held in jail at New Martinsville and will realize his ambition to be sent to Prunytown Ritz asserted

The loss in the school house fire was $1 000

UNVEIL MURALS TOMORROW

Public unveiling of the 10 mural paintings depicting the history of commerce is expected to draw hundreds of art lovers and shoppers tomorrow morning to Kaufmann's first floor, where an informal program begins at 10:30 o'clock.

The murals, painted by Boardman Robinson, occupy prominent display positions throughout the first floor in settings appropriate of the modernistic furnishings with which the store has been refinished.

Mayor Charles H. Kline will accept the paintings for the city, signaling the unveiling of each painting. Edgar J. Kaufmann, president of the store and responsible for the introduction of art in modern merchandising, will give a foreword.

A second public program will be staged Friday afternoon, when Robinson will sketch each painting in charcoal and crayon during a lecture outlining the story woven through the series of murals. This program will begin at 4:30 p. m. in Kaufmann's auditorium.

A private unveiling will be held tonight for craftsmen who worked on the remodeling of the store. Speakers will include Col. Samuel Harden Church, Edward F. McGrady and Kaufmann.

CAROL SEEKING RECONCILIATION

BUCHAREST, Rumania, April 30.—(AP.)—The newspaper, Cuventul, published a story here confirming rumors that former Prince Carol, who sacrificed the throne of Rumania for a love affair, had broken off with Mme. Lupescu and is endeavoring to effect a reconciliation with Princess Helen, his former wife.

The newspaper says that Carol wrote a letter conveying this idea to the princess at Easter. Prof. Jorga, his former Tutor, also visited the princess to plead his cause.

The professor, who is leaving for London shortly, will it is believed, carry the answer of the princess to her exiled ex-husband. The answer, and the attitude of the royal family remained unknown. The question of reconciliation is still being discussed.

Rumors of Prince Carol's impending return to Rumania and reconciliation with Princess Helen have been frequent of late. On March 17 friends of the prince said that he was homesick and had questioned his former wife as to her attitude in case he should decide to return to Rumania. He was described as being weary of Paris and Western Europe.

DAWSON, Pa., April 30.—John W. Gibson, 73, first bookkeeper employed by the Washington Coal and Coke Company, of Star Junction, and for many years an auditor with that company, died at his home from penumonia. He had been ill one week.

Man Being Held In Clothes Theft

WAYNESBURG, Pa., April 30.—Wilbur Chestnut, 25, of Westland, Washington County, is held on a charge of entering and robbing a tailoring shop in Carmichaels, where, police say, he stole several suits of clothing.

South Brownsville Vet Enters Hospital

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., April 30.—E. P. Corwin, 42, of South Brownsville, who suffered partial loss of his voice when gassed in the World War, has been taken to the Naval Hospital, League Island, Philadelphia, for treatment.

Store Clerks, Attention

"For two years I suffered with irregularities and finally had to leave school. I got no relief until my married sister told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After taking only two bottles I felt well. Since then I have been able to clerk in a store, on my feet all day and have suffered only once from my old trouble. I want other girls, especially store clerks, to know what it did for me."—Dorothy L. Fairchild, 924 Walnut Street, Freeland, Pennsylvania.

RULE OF ISLAND UP IN COURT

LONDON, April 30.—(AP.)—A British high court may have to decide whether Lundy Island, containing 1,000 acres and 42 inhabitants, is "outside the world" so far as British laws are concerned.

Martin Coles Harmon, London business man and owner of the tiny domain, was fined £5 (about $24) with the costs of 15 guineas (about $75.50) April 15 on a charge of issuing special coins for the island.

He was granted leave to appeal.

Harman bought the island in Bristol Channel off the north coast of Devonshire, in 1925. Since then he had been more or less of an uncrowned king.

SIX HURT WHEN SEAMEN RIOT

LONDON, April 30.—(INS.)—Six persons were seriously injured and under hospital treatment after a riot between 500 British seamen and about 100 Somali seamen at North Shields, Northumberland, today.

The fighting broke out when 13 of the Somalis were signed on as members of the crew of the steamship Cape Verde, in preference to white seamen. Knives and razors were freely used and police charged the rioters with their clubs.

MOTHER TO GET POST ESTATE

PHILADELPHIA, April 30.—(AP.)—H. S. J. Sickel, Philadelphia lawyer, today said that most of the "substantial" estate left by Mrs. Adele Ritchie Post, former stage star, will go to her aged mother, Mrs. Ella N. Pultz, of this city.

Mrs. Post, known to theatergoers as Adele Ritchie, and Mrs. Doris Murray Palmer were found shot to death in the Palmer bungalow in Laguna Beach, Cal., last Friday. The coroner's jury, which investigated the case, returned a verdict that Mrs. Post had shot her friend Mrs. Palmer and then committed suicide.

Cornwell Not in Senate Contest

CHARLESTON, W. Va., April 30.—(AP.)—Former Gov. John J. Cornwell, Democrat, in a telegram to the Charleston Gazette last night said he would not be a candidate for the United States Senate from West Virginia. Cornwell's telegram was in response to an inquiry made by the newspaper following mention of his name in public reports that he was being looked upon as a possible candidate in the Democratic primary election next August.

Man Killed in Fall At Blast Furnace

ALIQUIPPA, Pa., April 30.—Falling 45 feet from a blast furnace at the plant of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation, Frank Moore, 28, boilermaker, of Aliquippa, was killed. Moore was repairing a boiler, lost his footing and fell from the scaffold.

En-Deshabille Plea Wins As Census Dodge Excuse

CHICAGO, April 30.—(INS.)—This business of taking the census may be a lot of work, Assistant United States Attorney Alfred W. Bosworth concluded today, but it is not without its compensations, even to one's vocabulary.

Bosworth yesterday learned a French word from a woman whom he had arraigned on a charge of evading a census enumerator.

"I was en deshabille," explained Mrs. G. B. Brown in a scarcely audible voice when Bosworth asked her why she had refused to see a census taker.

"What does that mean," he demanded.

"Well, if you insist," said the defendant, "it means that I had very few clothes on when the enumerator called."

The charge against Mrs. Brown was dismissed.

GEN. HOXIE DIES IN FLORIDA

MIAMI, Fla., April 30.—(AP.)—Brig. Gen. Richard L. Hoxie, 86, United States Army, retired, veteran of the Civil War and the Spanish-American War, died at his winter home, following a long illness. Mrs. Hoxie was with him when he died.

After preliminary funeral services in Miami the body will be taken to Washington, where military services will be conducted, followed by burial in Arlington Cemetery.

Gen. Hoxie, close friend and adviser of Henry M. Flagler, pioneer developer of the Florida East Coast, first came to Florida in 1873.

48 Canadian Ships Shown Taken By U.S.

OTTAWA, April 30.—(AP.)—A report submitted to the House of Commons said 48 Canadian ships have been seized by United States prohibition officers since January 1, 1922.

In four cases protests were made by Canada, and in two instances the United States government apologized, the report said. No Canadians were killed or wounded by prohibition officers during the period.

Nurse Gains 7 Lbs. in 2 Weeks with Yeast and Iron

"I am a nurse at the hospital," writes Miss Martha Burns, "and I want to let you know I am glad to recommend Ironized Yeast.

"It gave me a good appetite. I got strong and gained 7 pounds in 2 weeks. I could write all day about how much good Ironized Yeast did me. You would be surprised at the strength I gained in 3 or 4 days."

People everywhere are amazed at the wonderful benefits of Ironized Yeast. Many write they were doubtful when they started. But after taking it regularly for only 3 or 4 weeks they gained 5 to 15 pounds. Ugly hollows fill out. Skinny limbs become gracefully rounded. Blemished skin clears.

Only when Yeast is Ironized is it more effective—for Iron is needed to bring out the weight-building and strengthening values of Yeast. Pleasant tablets in a handy bottle. Never cause gas or bloating. Safe—no harmful drugs.

Go to any druggist today and get a full size treatmept of Ironized Yeast. If after this generous trial you are not delightfu', your money back instantly from manufacturer.

SAVED HIM TRIP OVER THE SEA

World's Tonic Took Place of Change of Home.

Sometimes this climate, with its fogs and frequent changes, seems to disagree so much with people who came here from other countries that the doctors order them back to their native land. Mr. John Szymonsky, who lives at Scottdale, Pa., was one of those unlucky people. For twelve years he worked in the tube mill, and he got so badly rundown that the doctors told him he must go back to Poland to recover his health, because the climate here did not agree with him. We went back for six months and got well, largely, he thought, because of a tonic he got in the old country. But when he came back here and went to work, it was only a few months until his old trouble came back on him, and he had to quit work. Pittsburgh doctors told him he could not get well in this country.

Some of his friends suggested that World's Tonic might help him. He did not have much faith in it, but consented to try a bottle. Now he says: "This is only my third bottle of World's Tonic, but I feel just as good as when I was in Poland, and I am going back to my old job as healthy as ever I was."

So many of these cases have been reported that many people believe World's Tonic, in addition to its general value for everybody, has a special value for people who were born across the seas. Some of these folks even say it tastes like famous medicines they used abroad. While there is nothing else just like World's Tonic, it is not unlikely that the years of research that went into its formula, extending over different parts of the world, brought to it some of the remarkable healing ingredients that have been used so successfully across the water. World's Tonic is intended to be used wherever people are rundown or sickly, anywhere in the world, for many sections were searched to make it most effective. That is why it is named World's Tonic, and why it is used so successfully by hundreds of foreign born with whom this climate has failed to agree, as well as by so many who have lived here all their lives.

It has been the means of saving some from expensive trips back to the Old World, helping them when other treatments have failed. World's Tonic works on the blood. It helps clear away the impurities, tones up the bowels, kidneys and stomach, and thus assists in building up the system so that one has the strength to overcome an unfavorable climate. Before you give up use this good medicine, which can be bought at Dow's, May's & Liggett's, Mayflower, or at any other first class drug store. (A-20)

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM PFARR

From now on we shall turn a large but deaf ear to all reports of this country's progress. We have decided on this drastic stand because of a comedy at the Penn this week. It is a comedy of pie-tossing. No sooner is one pie tossed than another is on its way. Pie-tossing, a delicate art, was outlawed by scorn many years ago, but here it is again, still good for laughs. You may boast that to laugh at pies being splashed in the face of an innocent or guilty bystander is beneath you, but we won't believe it. We believe pie-tossing is in its infancy; we hope it is. You owe it to yourself, or somebody, to see these pies being tossed at the Penn this week.

What prisoners do in their spare time is answered by the annual report of the institution whose full name is Allegheny County Workhouse and Inebriate Asylum. The farm report is on Page 91. This shows that in 1929 the prisoners raised 180 bushels of green tomatoes, which is only fair production. But the bushels of green onions were 781, and, we are happy to say, 1,054 bushels of green beans were brought from the earth.

Samuel C. Kincaid, the farm manager, vouched that 1,056 ticks of straw were formed, on the one hand, and 954 pillows of straw on the other. There is a discrepancy, which we are quick to detect. This means there are 102 ticks of straw which are pillow-less.

Happier news is that 63,684 eggs were laid by the chickens on the workhouse farm. This is excellent. If there are 100 chickens on the farm, the figures show that each chicken was responsible for approximately 6,000 eggs, or, better still, 18 eggs per day, including Sunday. We called up the workhouse to find out just how many chickens there are on the farm, but the line was busy. One hundred strikes us as a fair figure, although it may befuddle the farm relief question.

I am a little late, but I want to welcome home the "prodigals." They tell me that our "parity pact boys" got back home. They must have not done much over there, for I never heard of any of them being decorated. It's almost impossible to live in England that long and not be "knighted," for something.

They pulled in on the same day as the eclipse. Of course, we know when an eclipse is going to happen, but nobody knows when one of our wandering delegates will come drifting back home from somewhere. Even if we didn't get "parity" we want to thank England for giving us the boys back.

Yours,
WILL.

SAFE AND SANE DIET CUTS CALORIES

Menus for Third Day Provide Body Energy While Patient Reduces

"Cut down the calories" is the slogan for young girls and women who are trying to attain that sylph-like figure.

The normal human being requires 17 calories per pound of body weight, each day. A girl weighing 120 pounds, for instance, needs 2,040 calories a day.

CUTS CALORIES.

To reduce, the number of calories per pound of body weight should be cut to twelve, says Dr. A. I. Ringer, one of the consultants for the Medical Information Bureau of the New York Academy of Medicine.

The reducing diet, prepared by Dr. Ringer, at the request of the Sun-Telegraph every day this week, contains just enough calories to supply the necessary bodily energy.

If carefully followed, the diet will reduce weight at the rate of one pound a week.

TOMORROW'S MENUS.

Here is the third day's diet for tomorrow:

BREAKFAST.
Sliced pineapple.
Four tablespoonsful of cereal.
Dry toast.
Coffee, one cup, with milk—no sugar.

LUNCH.
Canned salmon.
Cabbage salad.
Mashed potatoes.
Coffee; one cup, with milk—no sugar.

DINNER.
Chicken broth.
Tenderloin steak
Egg plant.
Cucumber salad—without dressing
Thin slice of bread.
Tea, one cup, with milk—no sugar.

CURRY ESTATE WINS $411,400

A jury in Common Pleas Court today returned a verdict awarding $411,400 damages to the estate of Albert Curry against the County of Allegheny.

The award was made in a damage suit over the condemnation of the former Curry Building. The structure was torn down to make way for the erection of the new county office building.

A board of viewers originally had awarded $370,000 to the Curry estate, but the county refused to pay that amount and took an appeal to court. A year ago a jury brought in a verdict of $313,000 damages, but this in turn was appealed by attorneys for the Curry estate.

In the litigation, County Solicitor W. Heber Dithrich represented the county and Harold F. Irons, former assistant city solicitor, represented the Curry estate.

Toledo Editor Aids Prison Fire Inquiry

While visiting in Pittsburgh, Grove Patterson, editor of the Toledo Blade, was notified that he had been appointed by Gov. Meyers Y. Cooper, of Ohio, as a member of the special committee to investigate the recent fire at the Ohio State Penitentiary, Columbus. The committee is to be composed of five leading citizens of the state. Mr. Patterson was in Pittsburgh to attend the unveiling of the Boardman Robinson murals at Kaufmann's department store last night.

Homeville Youth Held Up, Robbed

County detectives today were searching for two men who robbed and beat George Steiner, 18, of Center avenue, Homeville, near his home last night. Covering Steiner with a revolver, one of the thieves relieved his victim of his pay envelope containing $11.50, while the other struck him on the forehead with a pair of "knuckle-lers."

The men escaped.

Mother Complicates Ken's Marriage to Ardeth

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Ardeth Carroll, who rooms in her Aunt Stella's boarding house, is being wooed by Neil Burke. While out motoring with Neil, Ardeth sees Ken Gleason. Ardeth has never been introduced to Gleason and the two just gaze at each other. Neil becomes jealous. Later Neil asks Ardeth to marry him, but she refuses. Ardeth goes to work for Jeanette Parker in a new specialty shop. There Jeanette introduces Ardeth to Gleason. The two new friends go on a Sunday outing together to a houseboat owned by Gleason. Ken explains that he is employed by Jeanette's father. They return to the city after a happy day. Ardeth hopes to see Ken soon, but she is disappointed. Ardeth is surprised when she meets Ken one evening after leaving the shop. They have dinner together. After driving Ardeth home Ken says he could not stay away from her. Ken brings Tom Corbett to the shop and introduces him to Ardeth. Ardeth is surprised when she reads that Ken is engaged to Cecile, Jeanette's sister.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XIX.

Ken stopped speaking and for a moment there was only the faint splashing in the lake to break the silence. A moment, tremulous, with the beauty of the evening weaving through it, so that forever after the girl remembered this as a time of perfumed dusk and black branches interlaced against a gray sky where silver stars looked through. Poignant joy stealing through her, stinging tears to her eyes.

As though he sensed this, Ken drew her into his arms, his mouth crushed down on her shadowy lips.

"Sweetheart . . . Sweetheart . . ." came his muffled whisper. "You do love me? Say it, Ardeth!"

"Oh, of course I do!" It was more of a sob than a spoken admission. "You know I do!"

Clinging to him with closed eyes and eager lips. Content only to be in his arms. Content to let the future take care of itself.

He felt that her face was wet. Tasted the salt of her tears on his lips and his arms tightened.

"My girl—," his voice came smothered against her hair. "Mad about you from the first . . . lovely golden thing, you!"

The light had darkened perceptibly when Ken spoke again. "We'll have to go a little slow at first, sweetheart. I have to consider Mother, you know. If I went to her and told her we were going to be married, it would be sort of a shock to her. You know how old people are, Ardeth. And I don't want to hurt her if I can help it. We don't want to hurt anyone with our happiness, do we, sweetheart?"

Pride Hurt

Ken Says His Mother Is Peculiar

His face was a vague white blur in the thick light when she glanced up.

"Of course, if she knew you she couldn't help but love you. I only wish I could take you to her this very minute and say 'Mother, here's my girl! We're going to be married'—that's what I'd like to do, Ardeth. But Mother's—well, she's a trifle peculiar—I don't mean to be harsh," he said quickly. "But the dear old girl's going to need a little managing."

Warned by her proud little movement he drew her closer and spoke hastily. "Ah—don't get your back up, sweetheart. You know I've made up my mind for myself—but, let's try not to hurt anyone in this? You'll help me, won't you darling?"

Deep in her heart faint doubt was stirring and her pride was hurt. But she crushed it as disloyal. Ken was right . . . they didn't want to hurt anyone with their happiness.

Darkness enfolded them before they remembered, with a rush of laughter, that they had had no dinner.

"Now, that's the way to train a wife!" Ken chuckled. "Teach the wenches to live on love! It cuts the bills in half!"

Happiness

Excited at Thought of Getting Married

She laughed, but her heart had given a mad leap of happiness. A wife. . . . Ken's wife! Golden wine bubbling through her veins, turning her eyes deep and her lips sweet so that he must stop the car to kiss her again.

They ate in a little beach restaurant, sitting at a window table where they could see the lonely light of the Farallones flashing on the black horizon. Out there, the breakers, dimstreaked with foam, spreading themselves in pale scallops on the beach. The beach . . . where a lonely girl had wept through a lonely afternoon—how many centuries ago?

They drove back slowly through the dark park. Saying little now, content to be together. The girl's head rested happily against Ken's shoulder. Now and then she turned her eyes to watch him, and at those times a little glow of thankfulness and wonder was lit in her heart.

She lifted her finger, drew it down the bridge of his nose. "Such a nice nose as it has! There! I've wanted to do that since the very first time you took me for a ride."

"And you bolted into the house and left me to drive home wondering what I'd said to make you run away."

Afraid

Doubts Attitude of His Mother

She flushed and tried to laugh. "Oh . . . you don't know my family! I've never been able to have anyone visit me, but—" She checked herself. The thought of Neil was disturbing just now.

Her eyes were wistful and she clung as they said good night. "Ken . . . aren't I silly? I'm afraid . . ."

"Don't be afraid, Ardeth," he said softly. "Just trust me . . . just give me a chance. I'll make things come right for us."

She stood on the pavement, watching the red tail-light of his car disappear about the corner and, as always, the chill sense of forlornness crept over her.

Why should she feel this, she thought with a sharp sensation of alarm, on this night of all nights when Ken had told her that he loved her? When they had spoken of being married?

This was silly nervousness! This was borrowing trouble! Ken's mother couldn't keep them apart if they really loved each other. She must not let doubt creep into her love for him. She must be strong . . .

Meets Neil

Wants to Know Where She's Been

Things—unpleasant commonplace things, relegated to the corners of her mind—stole out to overwhelm her. The old, gray life closing in on her. The shabbiness — the bickering— Aunt Stel's nagging — Neil's watchful, black eyes and the faint, irritated fear he could always rouse in her. The present stretched before her like a gray bridge which she must cross to reach that bright future with Ken.

She went softly up the steep steps of the flat and let herself in with her latchkey. The familiar musty smell of the hall crept about her as she closed the door quietly. It brought a feeling of depression and guilt. Aunt Stel would be furious because she hadn't come home for dinner. Ardeth hoped she was in bed—too wearying to talk to Aunt Stel tonight.

She had turned to grope her way to the staircase which led to the upper flat when she started and stifled a small scream.

A tall figure looming before her in the dark hall. The weak gleam of the street lamp filtering in through the colored glass panel of the door lit Neil's face.

He grasped her wrist. "Where've you been?" he asked between clenched teeth.

SUCCESS LAID TO ADVERTISING

The tremendous growth of the United States within recent years can be traced to advertising, Charles C. Younggreen, of Milwaukee, president of the Advertising Federation of America, told more than 400 persons at the annual banquet of the Pittsburgh Advertising Club in Kaufmann's last night. The banquet was in connection with the third annual exhibit of the club, which opened Monday night and closes Friday. Younggreen said:

"It is an educational force which has created new desires, multiplied business and elevated standards of living. Newspapers have done tremendous jobs in the promotion of advertising possibilities. As the greatest medium of advertising they have made it their business to elevate it to the high scientific standards and to jealously guard the ethics of the profession."

J. C. McQuiston, of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, was formally presented the Harvard award for the best institutional advertising during 1929.

Other speakers were Dr. Samuel Black Linhart, of the University of Pittsburgh; William C. Arthur, of the club; Dr. Carl Wallace Petty, pastor of the First Baptist Church; Benjamin I. Davis and Neil H. Swanson.

Lang Requests 17 More Inspectors

Seventeen additional inspectors will probably be added in the Department of Public Works in a short time. The request was before Council yesterday. It was approved providing Mayor Charles H. Kline adds his request to that of Director Edward G. Lang for the additional men. They are needed, it was explained, to take care of work already authorized. Inspectors are paid $140 a month.

Two W. Homestead Policemen Off With Injuries

The West Homestead police force today was badly crippled, two of its motorcycle officers being laid up with injuries received in traffic accidents. Motorcycle Patrolman Harold Russell, 25, of 485 West Seventh avenue, was thrown from his machine yesterday and suffered injuries to the right ankle. Motorcycle Patrolman William O'Brien, of West Eighth avenue, is in the Homestead Hospital, having suffered a fractured right leg earlier in the week.

REDS GRANTED MEET PERMIT

Members of the Communist Party have been granted permission to stage a May Day rally in West Park, North Side, tomorrow. The meeting, according to the permit issued by Public Safety Director James M. Clark, is to start at noon and last one hour. Police have been ordered to stop any attempt to continue the meeting after 1 o'clock.

Director Clark said that no disturbances, noisy demonstrations or passing of objectionable literature would be tolerated. Max Solman, one of the local Communist leaders, made application for the permit. Director Clark also announced that he had refused a permit for a meeting to be held in East Park later in the day.

The Communists will be permitted to march in a body to their hall in James street after the park meeting. Meetings will be held in the hall later in the afternoon.

200 Sign to Take Islam Grotto Trip

More than 200 reservations have been made for the annual pilgrimage of Islam Grotto to New York Saturday night. Special cars will be run on Pennsylvania trains. The delegation will be headed by Carl A. Walter, general chairman. Headquarters in New York will be at the Pennsylvania Hotel.

ROBBER FELLED BY WOMAN

A robber who broke into the store conducted by Jerry Ardolina, 269 Paulson avenue, early today was beaten into submission with a milk bottle wielded by Ardolina's wife.

Mrs. Ardolina, asleep in an apartment above the store, was awakened by a noise at 4 a. m. this morning. She descended with her husband to the storeroom and saw a man dash from the cash register down a pair of steps to the cellar.

While her husband ran out to the rear to see that the robber did not escape by a window, Mrs. Ardolina guarded the cellar door and called out:

"Come up here, or I'll shoot."

The intruder mounted the steps from the cellar and Mrs. Ardolina, hiding behind the door, struck him on the head with a milk bottle. She then beat him into submission while her husband summoned police.

This morning in East End Police Station, the prisoner, a Negro, said he was Leo Truman, 27, of 208 Indiana way. He was held for court on a charge of breaking and entering a building.

Following his arrest, $3 in an envelope taken from the store cash register was found in the cellar.

Alumni to Assist Duke Junior Prom

PATROLMAN ACCUSED BY VICTIM

Park Watchman in Custody As Witness; East End Officer's Condition Grave

Patrolman Owen Waters, 55, a veteran of 30 years' service, was being held today in connection with the shooting in Highland Park last night of his superior, Lieut. Walter Burns, who is in the Pittsburgh Hospital with a bullet wound through his neck.

Waters and Ralph Tucci, of 273 Wall street, a watchman at Lake Carnegie, arrested as a material witness, were turned over to homicide detectives at the hearing before Magistrate Charles Papale, in East End Police Station today.

Patrolman Waters testified he found Lieut. Burns wounded near the lake boathouse. He denied shooting his superior, and accounted for an empty cartridge in his revolver by saying he had shot at a rat in Highland Park several days ago. Tucci did not testify.

ACCUSES PATROLMAN

East End police first learned of the shooting when Patrolman Waters telephoned the station for the police patrol. When the patrol reached the scene, they found Lieut. Burns lying on the ground near the shanty. He was hurried to the hospital where his condition was regarded as serious.

The bullet, hospital physicians said, struck Lieut. Burns in the back of his neck and emerged through the mouth.

From his cot in the hospital, homicide detectives say, the lieutenant accused his subordinate of the shooting. Burns, lieutenant of the police in Highland Park, is said to have told detectives that he found Waters asleep in a shanty near the boathouse and the two quarreled.

Waters was immediately suspended by Inspector Bernard J. Kirley and arrested on a suspicious person charge.

KIN OF ALDERDICE

Lieut. Burns, 50, lives with his wife and two children at 1030 Flemington avenue. He is a brother-in-law of Councilman Robert J. Alderdice, and has been a member of the police force 18 years. He was appointed a lieutenant eight years ago.

WATCHMAN'S STORY

Detectives Edward Prichard and W. R. Harris, who searched the park for witnesses, questioned Tucci. He said, detectives reported, that he had passed the shanty at 7:30 and saw Waters there. He passed again at 8:30 and found the patrolman near the wounded lieutenant, it was said.

Hurt Riding Truck, Files $25,000 Suit

For hurts received while riding on a truck of the Pittsburgh Valley Bottling Company, William Fischer asks $25,000 damages from Samuel Lachman, trading as the bottling concern. He claims that on January 21 last he was riding on the front of the truck at Mahon and Kirkpatrick streets which was backed into a vacant lot, injuring him, through carelessness. He claims to have sustained injuries to his spine, back, head, chest, arms and legs.

SERVICE BOARD HOLDS HEARING FOR NEW TAXI LINE

PERMIT ASKED BY HILAND COMPANY

Judge Summons Cabbies For Contempt Hearing; Four Held in Attack

The Public Service Commission today heard incorporators of the Hiland Taxicab Company on the application of the company to inaugurate a new cab service here.

E. W. Ennis, who testified on the stand that he was to become president of the concern, said that the company would operate 200 cabs as soon as it was granted a certificate of public convenience by the commission.

On cross-exammation by Attorney Charles K. Robinson, representing the Parmelee Transportation Company, Ennis said he is one of the nominal owners of the new concern with funds advanced by the Frank D. Saupp Company. He said that the late Frank D. Saupp had given his approval to the project. He also declared that the new cabs would be regular Dodge motor cars with strengthened chassis.

CONTEMPT HEARING

Judge James R. Macfarlane, who yesterday dismissed the striking taxicab drivers' petition asking that contempt of court charges against 29 strikers and members of their committee be stricken from the records, has set 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning for the defendants to show cause why they should not be ruled in contempt. The contempt proceedings was brought by the Yellow Cab Company, alleging the strikers and others named had violated an injunction forbidding operation of automobiles as common carriers without a public service certificate.

FOUR ARE HELD

Four men are being held by police, pending hearings today, accused of having attacked V. R. Beadling, 44, of 5021 Penn avenue, a Yellow Cab driver, in front of the West Penn Hospital late yesterday. According to the police, Beadling was hit on the head with a bottle while waiting for a passenger. He is confined to the hospital, suffering a probable fracture of the skull.

Beadling, police say, succeeded in holding one of his assailants until police answered a riot call sent in by hospital attaches. The suspect gave his name as Carl DeShantz, 35, of 4717 Lorigan street. Three others, who are alleged to have participated in the attack, were arrested later. They identified themselves as Dominick Zummo, 35, of 129 Carver street; Fred Eckendorfer, 25, of 4733 Yew street, and Milford Mantzell, 26, of 4725 Cypress street.

Summer Law Course Arranged at Pitt

To keep members of the Bar in touch with the latest developments in their profession, the University of Pittsburgh school of law plans to offer advanced courses in law during the summer months. The courses will be designed to give the attorney the same opportunity to keep abreast of developments in his field that the doctor is offered by the many short courses given in hospitals and medical schools.

SHOT IN EYE, $10,500 GIVEN

For the loss of his right eye, in an accidental shooting, Lawrence J. Matthews, aged 10, Sherman avenue, yesterday won a verdict of $10,500 in Common Pleas Court against Joseph Costa of Overbrook.

The shooting occurred Thanksgiving Day, 1926, in Overbrook, when the boy received several stray shot, one of which struck him in the eye, the others entering other parts of the body. Costa fired the shot gun, causing the injury. As Matthews is a minor, his mother, Margaret Matthews, joined in the action and receives $500 of the amount awarded. The case was heard by Judge George V. Moore. J. Thomas Hoffman represented the lad.

Woman Writer Breaks Toe in Bicycle Spill

GREAT NECK, N. Y., April 30.—(AP.)—Thyra Samter Winslow, short-story writer, who hadn't been on a bicycle since her girlhood in Fort Smith, Ark., decided this spring, that, what with the birds singing and the buds bursting, nothing would be finer than a bicycle ride.

"But if you don't believe that it is embarrassing to fall off a bicycle on a public road, you just attempt it," she said. "And then later try to tell your friends how you came to have a broken toe."

FOUND GUILTY, GETS BAIL

Thomas S. Molyneaux, 30, of East street, was at liberty on $1,000 bail today pending an appeal from a verdict finding him guilty of voluntary manslaughter.

Molyneaux was found guilty in connection with the death of John A. Ryan, 75, of 418 Tripoli street, January 17. Ryan had been discovered lying unconscious at Montgomery avenue and Sandusky street and later died in Allegheny General Hospital.

Before Ryan was found, Molyneaux had reported to police that he had struck a man whom he believed was going to hold him up at the spot where Ryan was discovered unconscious.

SEDER CENTER ANNIVERSARY

The conclusion of four years' work in the Isaac Seder educational center of the Young Men's and Women's Hebrew Association was marked with a dinner given by A. Seder in the Hotel Schenley last night. A symposium on adult education featured the dinner. An educational report was read by William Kolodney, following introductory remarks by Charles Joseph, toastmaster.

Educational problems were discussed by Dr. Vincent Lanfear, director of the downtown division of the University of Pittsburgh, who has been in close touch with the work of the center. Other speakers were Rabbi Benjamin Lichter, of the B'nai Israel Congregation; Dr. G. A. Yoakum, professor of education, school of pedagogy, University of Pittsburgh; J. B. SWISSVALE BOY SHOT DEAD BY POLICEMAN

Negro Lad Caught Breaking Into Garage Shot First In Flight, Says Slayer

Shot down by a motorcyle patrolman's bullet, William Martin, Jr., 16, Negro, of 2121 Monongahela avenue, Swissvale, was pronounced dead when taken to Braddock General Hospital early today.

Martin fired first at the patrolman, John Camillo, of Rankin police, according to Police Chief Michael Jordan. The discarded revolver was found following the shooting.

Camillo was passing the Rankin Auto Company Garage, Fifth and Rankin streets, Rankin, shortly after last midnight when Steve Dernat, of 347 Third street, Rankin, night attendant of the establishment, told the officer prowlers were trying to force a rear window.

GUN DUEL IN ALLEY

Going to the rear, Camillo discovered three boys. Two of them escaped by running.

Camillo chased the third, who ran down Rankin street, police said, and fired at Camillo just as he reached Autumn way.

The fleeing youth turned into the alley, and Camillo, according to his report to Chief Jordan, fired one shot, the bullet striking the fugitive.

Camille picked up the fallen boy and took him in his motorcycle to the hospital.

MOTHER QUESTIONED

Investigation disclosed that the boy formerly resided in 1210 Morrow street, Wilkinsburg, and only recently had moved to Swissvale. A post mortem examination was conducted at the hospital by Dr. Thomas H. Snowhite.

Chief Jordan said the revolver found near where Martin fell showed one bullet fired. Jordan questioned Mrs. Millie Martin, mother of the dead boy, at the Rankin Police Station following the shooting.

County Detective Joseph Bodner was assigned the case and was to present his report to Chief George W. Murren today. Rankin police and county detectives are searching for the two boys who eluded Camillo.

Suit for $25,000 Follows Cab Crash

Suit for $25,000 was filed by Clarence W. Hays, Hobart street, against the Pittsburgh Transportation Company, who alleges he suffered concussion of the brain when a cab of the company in which he was riding collided with another car. The accident happened December 28, 1928, at the Boulevard of the Allies and Van Braam street. Hays claims the driver of the cab did not slow down, prior to the collision.

Today's Question: What is your pet method of inducing sleep?

Miss Rafferty

MARGARET M. RAFFERTY, North Side, secretary: I seem to drift off into sleep naturally and without any great effort. When I think I won't be able to sleep I'll stay up until I get tired and then go to bed. By doing this I never have to toss around in bed and wonder what time it is.

Ted McClelland

TED M'CLELLAND, South Hills, tire salesman: I believe a long walk before retiring is always a good way to induce sleep. Sleep comes easily for me. A tired man can always sleep. Then again, it often appears that I hardly get time for a good sleep.

Miss Lacher

BETTY LACHER, Mt. Oliver, adjustment supervisor: I go ahead doing things about the house all evening until I get so exhausted that I fall fast asleep when I jump in bed. I suppose, though, that some people have a difficult time getting to sleep and a few may have to use opiates.

Miss Hovan

PEG HOBAN, downtown, traffic engineer: I have no pet method of inducing sleep. Sleep is something that comes to me easily. Maybe because I stay up late. There is one sure way of going to sleep quickly. All you have to do is to dance about four hours and then go home and to bed. Dancing makes you want to sleep.

H. Grzeskiewicz

HENRY GRZESKIEWICZ, Lawrenceville, service station cashier: Usually I have no difficulty in sleeping. I work at nights half the time. You would think it would be hard sleeping in the daytime but it isn't. It seems that I get so tired that I go to sleep almost as soon as I get into the bed.

Miss Kelly

ANN KELLY, Carrick, clerk: Sleep is something that I don't have to induce as a rule. There are times, of course, when I don't feel like sleeping. At these times, a hot bath goes a long way towards bringing on sleep. They say that nervous people have a hard time falling asleep, I'm not nervous.

MAN, TERRIBLY BURNED, REFUSES AID FOR 16 HOURS

POLICE BELIEVE HIM THROWN FROM CAR

Waitress Questioned After Hospital Authorities Find Victim Unable to Talk

Mystery today surrounded the burning of William Rallic, 35, found in a rooming house last night 16 hours after he was believed to have been thrown from an automobile.

Early yesterday the victim, whose address was not learned by police, staggered into the kitchen of the rooming house of Mrs. Margaret Billings, of 2444 Charles street, burned from the waist to the head. He sat in the kitchen all day, forbidding Mrs. Billings and Minnie Bogene, a roomer, to summon aid, police say.

When another roomer learned of Rallic's condition, he notified police. Rallic was taken to the Allegheny General Hospital where his condition was regarded as serious. He was unable to talk.

Investigation by detectives disclosed that an automobile had stopped in the neighborhood just before 3 a. m. yesterday, and shortly afterward Rallic staggered into the house. Mrs. Billings said that Rallic had come to see the Bogene woman.

The latter, a waitress, was questioned in a downtown restaurant where she is employed. She said she had not seen Rallic for a week, police said. Mrs. Billings said the woman had left the house yesterday to go to work, while Rallic was sitting in the kitchen.

SPEED PLANS ON BOULEVARD

Preparation of plans, maps and consideration of property line changes will be the next step taken by the City Planning Commission in its proposal for a Liberty crosstown thoroughfare proposed at the expenditure of $10,000,000.

Ordinances will be introduced in Council Monday which will cover the Eleventh street features of the proposed traffic plan. Council, according to President John S. Herron, has been studying the proposed changes with the city engineers and will probably make its decision within 10 days.

The complete traffic system was first announced yesterday. Approval by Council followed by plans for a bond campaign will be necessary steps. The commission proposed the through traffic plan after studying many proposals. It will handle crosstown traffic without trolley car hindrance, the plans proposing elevation and improvement of several existing thoroughfares, including Bigelow boulevard. The latter roadway will include an elevated section from Tunnel street to Sixteenth street.

NEEDLE IN LEG, $30,000 ASKED

Alleging that her right leg is partially paralyzed because a needle used to administer an anesthetic was not removed, after it was broken off, is alleged by Mrs. Martha P. Butler in a $30,000 damage suit filed in Common Pleas Court against Dr. D. B. Martinez.

At the time of the alleged occurrence, Mrs. Butler lived at 582 Franklin street, Freeport, but is at present living in New Brighton, with her husband, Howard P. Butler. The needle, she claims, was broken off in her body, March 14, 1928. The following day, she gave birth to a child in the Magee Hospital. She claims that promises were made that the needle would be removed, but that it was not removed. Of the $30,000 asked, the husband claims $10,000 for expenses.

Investigate Fire In Oakmont Stable

COUPLE STARTS ON SWAMP TRIP

Ottmer von Fuehrer and his wife, Hannah, with bags, ammunition and scientific equipment, left last night with the Florida Everglades their destination.

Associated with Carnegie Museum as artist and taxidermist—but particularly a collector and maker of scientific group exhibits—Fuehrer expects in six weeks or so to get material for an Everglades exhibit here, and he's hurrying to get a Royal Palm tree before a tornado beats him to it. Typhoons and tornadoes have reduced them in number so that only a few are left. He's not going to bother with the alligators that infest the moss swamps—unless they bother him.

Mosses, flowers, trees, landscape and insects—with a few animals—will be sought particularly. Being an artist and painting his own backgrounds, he intends to sketch the land and make larger cyclorama when he returns.

Mrs. Fuehrer's job is flowers. She's to make casts with paster of paris, particularly of the more perishable ones. When she returns she will reconstruct them in wax.

Dr. O. E. Jennings, curator of botany at the Museum, and Mrs. Jennings made a survey of the Royal Palm State Park last fall as a preliminary to the trip. This will make Fuehrer's third group. A fourth he expects to get during the summer from Mt. Rainer, Wash.

Teachers, Parents At Espe to Meet

The newly-formed Parent-Teachers' Association of Espe School, McCandless Township, will hold its first regular meeting tomorrow evening in the school's auditorium. Mrs. D. APPEAL COURT HEARS CASES

Claiming that he did not prove that a Pennsylvania Railroad train was running 50 miles an hour when it struck the automobile of Joseph Peruzzi, injuring him, the former appealed to the Superior Court to set aside the judgment of the lower court, which gave him a $3,500 verdict. The point was argued before the higher court yesterday. It is averred the plaintiff did not prove that he stopped within 100 feet of the crossing on the Freeport road, at Harmarville, July 13, 1925, the scene of the accident.

The appeal of the case of George L. McNemry against the Borough of Bellevue, taken by the latter, was argued before the Superior Court. McNemry brought suit for $10,000 damages caused by a sewer which flooded his cellar, and was awarded $1,360 by a jury. The borough asked for a new trial on the claim the verdict was against the weight of the evidence. The motion for the new trial was refused.

Other cases argued included the Borough of Avalon against Mary G. Shafer, executrix of the estate of Elvina M. Shafer, regarding the filing of a lien; First National Bank of Pittsburgh against the Bank of Pittsburgh, N. A., regarding the payment of a note; J. B. Laney against Philip Mehlman, growing out of alleged malicious prosecution; Liberato Diffona against Louis Galiando and Vincenza Sena, on a note transaction.

Self-Defense Wins Acquittal Verdict

Henry Gibson, 30, Negro, of Wylie avenue, is free today following his acquittal on a charge of murder in Criminal Court, where he had been on trial since Monday. He was charged with the death of Fred Ester, 35, of 3554 Butler street, who was shot January 26 at 7441 Cassinn way. Testimony was to the effect that Ester had attacked Gibson, who claimed he shot in self defense. The case was tried before Visiting Judge E. M. Biddle, of Cumberland County.

SCHOOLS AID HEALTH WEEK DRIVE

Programs on May Day Will Climax Activities; Poster Awards Made

Child Health Week activities in Allegheny County will reach their peak tomorrow when May Day programs are presented in city and county schools.

The observance of Child Health Week began Monday with exhibitions of gymnastic work and games, displays of health poster and lectures. In almost all instances the entire health program is the work of pupils. Several of the schools are also staging evening programs, thereby giving parents the opportunity to view the work.

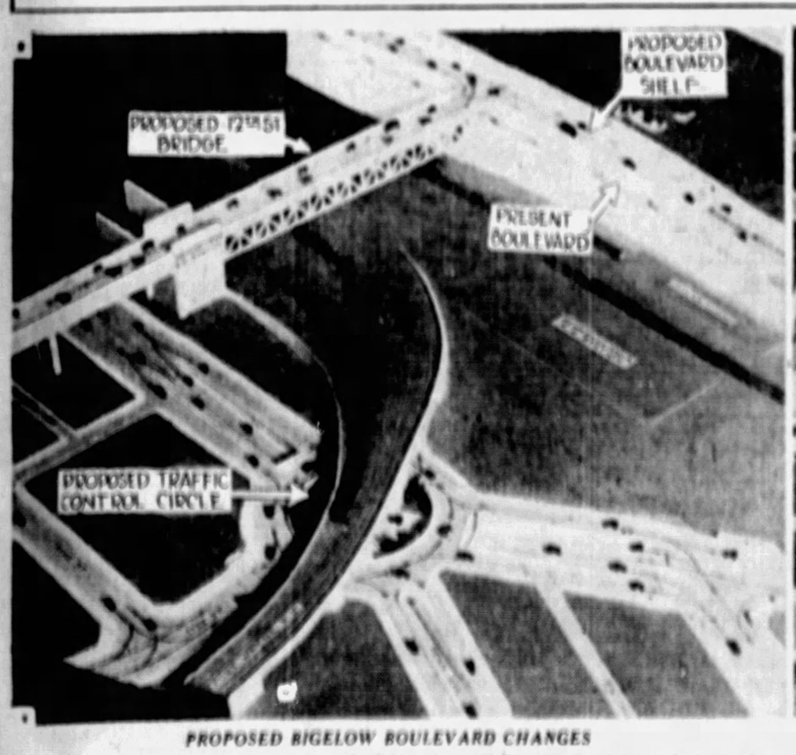
Working in conjunction with the schools, the Pittsburgh Child Health Council annually offers prizes for the best health posters made by pupils of the various grades in the public and parochial schools of Allegheny County.

This year's winning posters were drawn by Louise Campbell, Liberty Junior High School; Clark McKee, Rogers school; Peter Jurash, Horace Mann school; Herbert Beck, Rochelle school; Rafiada Augustine, Second Ward school, Millvale; John Vete, Stephen Foster school; James Istvanick, Myer Avenue school, Port Vue, and Florence Pribisco, St. Joseph's Parochial school, Verona.

The winning posters and several receiving honorable mention will soon be placed on exhibition in downtown stores, according to Dr. A. M. Kerr, medical supervisor of Pittsburgh Public Schools.

Mrs. George Alter, chairman of Allegheny County May Day committee, will supervise tomorrow's festivities.

Model of Proposed Crosstown Thoroughfare



PROPOSED BIGELOW BOULEVARD CHANGES

Proposed shelf on Bigelow boulevard hillside from Sixteenth street towards town, to handle two-way traffic, connecting proposed Twelfth Street Bridge to the North Side. The present boulevard would handle one-way, city-bound traffic. A circle at Liberty and Penn and Eleventh would take traffic under Pennsylvania Railroad improvements.

WASHINGTON PLACE—GRANT STREET—SEVENTH AVENUE PROPOSAL

A depression in the widened boulevard from Washington place to Grant street at Seventh avenue would permit present available turn, while a slight elevation will carry one-way channl beyond Tunnel street to Grant. A park would separate Tunnel and Grant street traffic, with the boulevard widened and some buildings eliminated.

BOULEVARD OF ALLIES PROPOSALS

A tunnel would be built from the Allies under improved section of Shingiss street, connecting with proposed elevated highway from Liberty Bridge, on to the Bigelow. The planned Horace street ramp would carry southbound traffic to Liberty Bridge, and a control circle would eliminate traffic from Shingiss, Boyd and Watson streets.

Drama League's 6th Annual Players' Contest for Amateurs Opens

The Drama League's sixth annual amateur players' contest opened last night in East Liberty Carnegie Library, and if the first night's performances may be taken as a criterion, even the judges' task of sitting on four nights of amateur acting will not prove such a heavily onerous duty.

Of the three plays given last night, "Maker of Dreams," "Close to the Wind" and "The Valiant," the last was outstanding and an astonishing example of what unsuspected gifts may be brought to light through just such opportunities as these annual contests afford. The Hall-Middlemass tragedy showed the careful and intelligent direction of Mrs. Lane Thompson, contest chairman, although her name has been all too modestly omitted from the program. A uniformly fine cast, including Franklin Yellig, Robert P. Bates, Elizabeth Bartley, H. Ward Ewalt, A. McB. Colledge and H. B. Bainbridge (especially the last two), gave the play with a moving naturalness and a finished artistry that was far and away above amateur average acting.

Mary Jones Sherrill's Seton Players, of Greensburg (Helen Verosky, Alvina Knopka and Catherine C. Cox), gave a fine and effective reading to "Close to the Wind," which is by Eleanor A. Barnes. A particularly fine setting was assembled for this play.

The P. M. I. Players, Edith Malette, Mildred Gilchrist and Thelma Fout, lacked distinctness in the Oliphant Downs fantasy, although there was poise that promises future accomplishment on the part of these young players under Miss Martha Steckel's direction.

Tonight: West Virginia University Dramatic Club in "The Little Stone House"; Aspinwall Woman's Club drama department in "Mail"; Mt. Lebanon Woman's Club drama department in "The Undercurrent"; Chesboard Players, of the Pittsburgh School of Speech, in "Mansions."

Tuesday Musical has had programs of many kinds, but none ever more impressive than that of yesterday. Mrs. James Stephen Martin has done an exceedingly admirable and arduous piece of work in her compilation of Indian music into the song cycle which was the high light of yesterday's program. From Cadman, Leoni, Troyer and Jeancon, Mrs. Martin has given us in music the life of the Indian from the stirring call of the dawn to the sunset of the race.

Indian Music

Elizabeth Young (Mrs. Lewis E.), Esther Edmundson Mohr, Richard Elvis and John Dickson Fulton, in costume and makeup, united their splendid vocal gifts (as well as commendable histrionic talent) in the cycle and gave it a profoundly impressive and beautiful interpretation. An elaborate setting of young trees, tepees, blankets and other properties, together with careful lighting, added effectiveness and picturesque appeal.

The first half of the program consisted of a group of five piano numbers presented with brilliancy and artistry by Virginia Brown Wilharm and three violin numbers well done by Della Herring, with Anna Laufe Perlow at the piano. All were compositions selected for their fitness on the American program.

Mrs. Lulu Sanford Tefft, of Los Angeles, who is here getting "local color" for her life of Cadman, brought the composer's greetings to his former fellow citizens.

At the tea tables were Mrs. Henry H. Hannah, Mrs. George H. Wilson, Mrs. Will Earhart, Mrs. S. H. Nichols, Mrs. J. Pierre Vogel, Mrs. Henrietta Bodycombe, Mrs. F. F. Rohrer, Mrs. W. A. Weldin and Mrs. E. W. Flaccus.

The Morning Choral, directed by Mrs. Taylor Allderdice, will give the program Sunday at the Woman's City Club musicale, the closing one of the season. Assisting will be Ruth Thoburn Knox, violin; Helen Glen-Campbell, soprano, and Clara Patterson Ruzza, piano.

Sunday Musicale

The choral's numbers include "Remembrance", "Little Dustman," "Ave Maria," Brahms, "Valse Triste," Sibelius, with soprano solo by Miss Mabelle Murdock; "No Blade of Grass Can Flourish", Bach, "Hark, Hark the Lark," Schubert-Lewando; "Nussbaum," Schumann, "Goin' Home," Dvorak, with violin obligato by Mrs. Knox, "Cradle Song," Brahams.

The Druiden Singing Society will hold the first of a series of five euchre and "500" parties this evening in its clubrooms in East street, North Side. The other four parties will take place on the next four consecutive Wednesdays. The club holds a dance each Saturday evening in the same clubrooms.

Miss Scoville Marrying In East

One of the loveliest of spring weddings is taking place in the East today, and it interests Pittsburgh society folks because the bride is a former Sewickley girl and because one of the bridesmaids is from Sewickley.

The bride is Eleanor Shannon Scoville, daughter of the Royal L. Scovilles, of New York, formerly of Sewickley, and a niece of Christian I. Shannon, of Sewickley. She's marrying Jonathan Godfrey Wells, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Jonathan Godfrey Wells, of New York, this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the chapel of the Beloved Disciple Church of the Heavenly Rest.

A profusion of ferns, spring flowers and lilies decorate the chapel for the event. The bride, who is being given in marriage by her father, is wearing her mother's wedding gown of old ivory satin, fashioned with a court train and trimmed with Point de Venise lace. Her veil is of ivory tulle, banded with lace to match that on the gown. Her quaint bouquet is of lilies of the valley.

The bridesmaids are wearing similar gowns of lettuce green taffeta in the period mode and picture hats of beige straw. And they are carrying flame-colored snapdragons and yellow freezia.

Green Frocks

The bridesmaids are Mary Oliver, daughter of the Henry Olivers, of Sewickley, and Florence Scoville Brown, of Cleveland; Rosamund Starr and Edith Wells, sister of the bridegroom, both of New York. And Flora Brown is maid of honor.

The best man is Edward James Courtney, of New York, and John Lynch, Jr., Demarest Adams, Crosby Smith, Howard Hopkins and John Dunn, all of New York, are ushers.

After the wedding there'll be a reception in the home of the Herbert Scovilles, New York. Following the rehearsal yesterday, Rosamund Starr gave a tea, and last night Flora Brown gave a buffet spuper in her Park avenue home. supper in her Park avenue home. groom held his bachelor dinner in the home of his father and mother.

On Friday everyone in Sewickley will be circus-minded, and some Pittsburgh folks, too, who are planning to go to the valley to attend the village circus the Child Health Association will sponsor that night in the Guild Hall. First of all there'll be a parade, headed by a calliope, at 5 o'clock. At 8 o'clock the hall will be open for dancing, at 8:30 folks may attend the sideshows and visit fortune tellers, and play various games always associate with a circus, at 9:30 the regular performance will begin. Later in the evening the sideshows will be open again.

Circus Friday

One of the newest features added to the entertainment is a clown roller skating act, headed by Bennett Edson. Others appearing in the act will be Thomas and Theodore Bray, James Ebbert, William Doolittle, Putnam Goldsbury, William Galbraith and Ralph McLeod.

There'll be a pony ballet given by Mrs. H. G. C. Williams, Stanley Lyon, Jane Edson and Hanson Thomas, who'll be leading.

Among those paying visits to Atlantic City are Mrs. Gordon Fisher, Jr., Mrs. Edward Vose Babcock, her mother, the W. F. Marshes, who are at the Chalfonte-Haddon Hall, and the W. H. Fundenbergs, who are stopping at the Seaside Hotel.

Social Gossip

Another bit of news comes from the East. June Kennedy, daughter of the John McCartney Kennedys, of Bigelow boulevard, was on the committee in charge of the junior prom at Wellesley on Saturday.

Members of the Junior League are following with interest news of the tenth annual conference of the Junior League Associations of America being held in New York this week.

As I mentioned some time ago, Priscilla Hall and Elizabeth Arbuthnot are Pittsburgh delegates, and they are the guests of Lydia Rayman, of New York.

Helen Leovy and Mrs. Joseph M. Scribner, prominent members of the Pittsburgh League, are also there as national delegates. They are taking part in the discussion of the Junior League dramatic work. Helen is the guest of Mary Todd, of New York, and Mrs. Scribner of Mrs. Vanderbilt Webb. Another Pittsburgh league member at the conference is Marjorie Kimball.

ALLURING ENSEMBLE OF FILMY WHITE GEORGETTE

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, April 30.—Put and take is a most popular pastime with the designers of evening frocks here. With graceful impartiality they take from the bodice or the wrap and add to the skirt to create the really smart evening ensemble, and so we are again wearing models that, so far as the back decolletage is concerned, commence only down where the waist begins. But the skirt, long, trailing and voluminous, contrasts vividly with the great open spaces and cleverly balances the frock to create the correct silhouette that is much softer than the severe princess line that obtained last autumn.

FILMY WHITE clouds of georgette appear on the evening horizon just now much to the joy of the woman who finds that that fabric is both graceful and very helpful in creating the slim silhouette that is so expressive of the present mode. Filmy ensembles of white georgette are alluring and never outwear their welcome and when combined with black fur they are gorgeously graceful and becoming to almost every type. An ensemble of white georgette should only be included however in a wardrobe that is well-stocked, for somehow it seems expressive of only the most formal functions and occasions.

PATOU has indorsed the evening ensemble of white georgette in the guise of an exceptionally attractive creation of which we have had sketched for you. Skillful draping characterizes the frock, the bodice of which has a very deep cowl back and is bloused in front. Folds of the georgette are drawn in tight drapery about the hips and draped at the further side. Almost touching the floor at front and sides, the skirt trails in two short trains at back. With the Patou dress just described is worn a long coat of white georgette heavily trimmed in silver fox and in marked contrast to the short wrap now prevailing. The coat is bloused in back and trails on the ground while the sleeves are elbow length.

RABBI GLAZER MEET SPEAKER

FAIRMONT, W. Va., April 30.—(AP.)—The annual gathering of the West Virginia Federation of Temple Sisterhoods, was featured last night with a banquet attended by 200. Rabbi A. Goldberg, of Charleston, the principal speaker, discussed "What of Judaism?"

Mrs. S. H. Baron, wife of a Uniontown (Pa.) rabbi, also addressed the assemblage. Her topic was: "Is the Average Adult of Today Religious?" and it dealt mainly with the younger generation.

Rabbi Benedict Glazer, of Pittsburgh, appeared before the afternoon session. He talked on "Some Religious School Problems and Their Possible Solution."

3 Women Hurt, Car Burns in Collision

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 30.—Following a wreck of three cars in the Hill Church road near Canonsburg, three women were taken to the Canonsburg General Hospital, slightly injured, and one car was destroyed by fire. Kathryn Waldron, 18, of 502 Collins avenue, East Liberty; Alberta Schafer, 19, of 19 Shannon avenue, Overbrook, and Mrs. Ann O. Law, of 325 South Graham street, Pittsburgh, received cuts and bruises. CAPONE PARTY VISITS CUBA

HAVANA, Cuba, April 30.—(AP.)—Alphonse (Scarface) Al Capone, Chicago gangster, arrived here late yesterday from Florida for what he blandly termed "a brief vacation." He was accompanied by six of his henchmen and a physician.

Capone and his seven companions made the trip from Miami by airplane after a secret departure, with destination unannounced, from his Florida estate.

The eight men registered at a Havana hotel, Capone signing the register as "A. Capone." They took a suite on the third floor and remained inside most of the day. The gangster chieftain made himself popular with the hotel barber and manicurist by tossing them five dollar tips after they had attended him in his room.

Meals were served in the rooms also, and Capone remained unavailable to visitors. It was learned that he intends to stay in Havana several days.

Vocational School Plans Completed

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 30.—Plans for the vocational school of home economics at Claysville have been practically completed and work on the new structure will begin immediately. The building will be of Colonial design, to contain two stories and basement. The building will be a gift of Mrs. W. J. E. McLain.

DRUGS EXCITE THE KIDNEYS, DRINK WATER

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble because we often eat too much rich food. Our blood is filled with acids which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead, your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache, or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or if you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, begin drinking lots of good soft water and get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

Gleaming white washes with this safe soap!

WHEN millions of women will use no laundry soap but Rinso . . . you can be sure there's a reason! And the reason is that Rinso washes clothes whiter, safely.

In Rinso's thick suds, the dirt soaks right out. Clothes come so snowy, even boiling isn't needed. This scrubless way of doing the wash saves hands from becoming red and rough.

Rinso is granulated, compact. One cupful gives more suds than two cupfuls of lightweight, puffed-up soaps. The makers of 38 leading washing machines recommend it. Get the BIG package. Try it for dishes, too.

BOGGS & BUHL

GOSSIP FROM HOLLYWOOD STUDIOS AND LOCAL AMUSEMENT NOTES

Greta Garbo Plays Tennis And Norma Talmadge Loses Weight

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1930, by Public Ledger Co.)

HOLLYWOOD, April 30

That the double barrage of lights on a technicolor set are twice as hard on the eyes, the nerves, the hair and the disposition as Klieg lights is something (with apologies to Walter Winchell) I've known all along. Other things are

That Jack Gilbert taught Greta Garbo how to play tennis and now the Garbo can beat her weight off those tennis courts.

Greta Garbo

That Norma Talmadge loses from five to 10 pounds in making a picture.

That many orchards in this section, maybe other places too, pay on the average of $1,000 an acre and Mary Pickford and Doug Fairbanks have 6,000 acres for this and citrus cultivation.

WILL WRITES HIS OWN

That Will Rogers cynical whispers to the contract writes all his own copy.

That Lois Moran's mother is foremost among the shrewd business women of the town. Mrs. Moran knows her stocks.

Will Rogers

That Frances Marion, scenarist, once directed pictures.

That Richard Dix clings to bachelorhood despite human nature.

That Tom Mix's Cruise around the world projects a picture in white trousers, white shirt opened at the throat and white cap pulled low over one eye.

YAHS AND YAHS AGO

That Betty Compson played the violin in a vaudeville act yahs and yahs ago—but not too many.

Betty Compson

That Jack Holt was a surveying engineer for Uncle Sam in the old romantic Alaskan days of Rex Beach, Jack London et al.

That Harold Lloyd rarely does any nocturnal hailing.

That Erich von Stroheim does not wear a monocle in public.

That Lowell Sherman does. But not to be toity. He's near-sighted in the monocled optik.

THE BAKING HAZENDA

That Louise Hazenda can bake a mean cake and likes to.

That the Al Jolsons never go places in a hectic social way.

That studio gatemen are one reason why people go Soviet.

That Hoot Gibson has one of the finest collections of guns and pistols in the country.

That Louis Wolheim plays one of the finest games of bridge in the colony.

That Mrs. Thomas Ince and Holmes Herbert who have just filed matrimonial intention papers coupled off a year or so ago and now are prepared for domestic hatness.

GOING TOGETHER

That Mrs. Wallace Reid and Walter (the director) Lang go together.

That Colleen Moore at heart is not the flapper she portrayed on the screen at all. Colleen's a serious young woman.

That when Gloria Swanson married Wallace Beery back in the dim flick ages she wasn't even a second fiddle in the cinematic racket.

That I could keep this up until the rent came due but I won't as my chief doesn't expect me to do any sustaining. It isn't in my contract.

J. Fred Lissfelt

Marion Anderson, Negro contralto one of the most dignified and eloquent of our recital singers returned to Carnegie Music Hall last night under the auspices of the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority. Since last year this young singer has made big strides in her art she has not yet reached the limit of her great possibilities, but when she does let us hope that our concert halls will overflow to hear one whose technical and artistic powers can never fail to touch us very deeply.

Her programs never deal with trifles. She chooses from among the world's best music, but last night failed to relieve the serious aspect of all her songs with a little humor. Her attention to the purities of bel canto in the Italian songs is most gratifying. Her musicianship for reading Schubert and Brahms is now significant. For the first time she gave us a taste of her attitude towards operatic singing in the Card Scene from Carmen and with the exception of some slips in pronunciation proves she lacks no imagination for the visualization of drama.

Miss Anderson's spirituals still sound the feelings of the camp-meeting tent though they are polished as the white man might sing them. The quality of her deep voice preserves them for her race and luckily it will remain. Throughout the evening the singer showed enormous sincerity and understanding of her art and we shall cheer whenever she comes.

William King played accompaniments.

WALTER WINCHELL On Broadway

Wish

I've tried my best to rout your memory,
And when the victory is almost won
Your strange allure comes creeping stealthily
And back I am again where I'd begun.

A girl I pass may hint a bit of you,
A voice I hear will cause a fitful start,
And I am left to start the task anew
Of breaking down your stronghold in my heart.

I mind the time I was a whistling lad,
And life was just a gay enchanting lark;
I whistle yet—but, oh, the tune is sad—
For well I know I'm whistling in the dark;

I hope the time will never come when you
Will understand what I am going through!

From a Barrymoron?

Among other things difficult to believe in the New York Sunday World of April 27 is Mr. Paul Sifton's interview with Ethel Barrymore. The First Actress is quoted as being in a lather about New York first-nighters particularly the appalling wisecracking critics.

"New York," according to Miss Barrymore and Mr. Sifton, "is infested with the most terrible men who write. No one used to pay attention to them. But now you pick them up in dentist's offices. Managers pay attention to them and their impertinent wisecracks. One or two of them ought to be shot at dawn. It is a sad comment on American manhood that Walter Winchell is allowed to exist. And the worst of it is, not that he is published here, but his stuff appears all over the country."

Rebuttal

Well it is difficult to believe this Ethel Barrymore statement. Difficult because we saw her but once in our career and that was during the premiere of her starring vehicle, "The Constant Wife," at the Maxine Elliott Theater a few years ago. Our report was choked with superlative comment on her grand playing and her charm and her class. She was delightful and in the notice we asserted that she was surely America's greatest actress.

We have never seen Miss Barrymore, on or off the stage, since, chiefly because we have been barred from the playhouses in which she has since appeared. So it is difficult to believe that she ever said anything of the sort or even mentioned our named to Mr. Sifton, whom we prefer to believe placed those words in her mouth.

Because Mr. Sifton's play, "The Belt," was not only deservedly black-balled by us and most of our confreres, but was belted straight into the playmorgue within a fortnight.

As If We Didn't Know

Wayne G. Hailey has come to the conclusion that it is more blessed to give than receive—a dig.

Golly!

The recent flying activities of Colonel Lindbergh had a group of locals chinning about fliers and one reporter wondered if this fact ever appeared in print. When Chamberlain and Levine were 1,000 miles across the Atlantic on the hop to Germany, Levine penciled a note to Chamberlain.

"Oh, my God!" wrote Levine, "what am I doing out here on this ocean? I just remembered that I have $12,000 in cash on me!"

Not New, But Clean

Take it from Bob Benchley: It hasn't been revived in twenty years. A dialectician who was very hungry raced into a railroad station restaurant during a train stop to snatch a bite of food. The waiter was sorry, but all they had left was a ham sandwich. The very orthodox fellow decided that it would be better than nothing and bit into it.

Almost simultaneously the heavens crashed and a deafening bolt of thunder nearly felled him.

"Oy!" he trembled, as he looked out of the window at the sky, "all dis excitement for a tiny bit of sendvich?"

Fact

They vouch for it at the Cocoanut Grove, Boston's most fascinating night club. The master of ceremonies was irritated by a beautiful young thing who hissed him every time he came on or she tossed pennies at him. She did it every night for almost a week. He decided to kill her with kindness.

"Will you dance with me?" he asked her one evening. She agreed. While they danced he said: "Gee, honey, why do you hiss and throw coins at me that way? Don't you like me?"

"I'm mad about you, you brute!" she cooed. "That was the only way I could get you to notice me."

The romance still is blazing and he can't lose her now, fearing the consequences if he gives her the chill.

A Form of Criticism

In Paris, according to a local, there is a Cat and Dog Cemetery. On one pet's resting place is this marker:

"All the rest of my friends are cats, but this cat was my friend."

Deadlier Than the Male

The female of the species certainly is. At five the other night club yawning a drunken woman began screaming, screeching and calling people vile names. Her clawing, kicking and fighting proved too much for the staff of bouncers. Finally, her curses aroused a hard-boiled chap, whose religion was offended. He knocked out her teeth but his terrific blow couldn't fell her.

We had never witnessed such a scene before. The usual night club brawls are fought by men, you know. Men are easier to handle, for when a man gets too gay someone sneaks up from behind and lets him have it with a quart bottle of mineral water on the skull, and there you are. I mean there he is.

Romance

Maybe the hooch is getting better. Perhaps it was the drummer of the orchestra who was singing. It Happened in Monterey" via the megaphone "... my indiscreet heart longs for the sweetheart that I left in old Monterey." At any rate, they loved each other, oh, so madly, and it was their last night together. Her mother, it appears, was talking her back to Europe so she could forget Him.

Caressing each other tenderly and on the verge of tears she hoped he would never forget her. He vowed that he never would.

"Then let me make certain that you won't," she said, and she pressed her burning cigaret on the back of his right hand, holding it there for several seconds. The scar she said would remind him of her forever.

Then she made him press his burning cigaret on hers.

HAMPDEN, GILLETTE ON STAGES HERE NEXT WEEK

Walter Hampden comes to the Alvin Monday for one week only to present three famous plays—"Richelieu" Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday evenings, "Caponsacchi," Wednesday matinee and night and Saturday night, and on Saturday matinee, for one performance only, "Hamlet." Seat sale opens tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

Saturday, May 10, will be the last day that William Gillette will play on any stage. He will make his final appearance on the stage of the Nixon in "Sherlock Holmes." Seats are now on sale at the box office of the Nixon for this engagement, which begins next Monday.

Edith King, leading lady of the George Sharp Players, and Walter F. Jones, the character man, will be prominent in Dion Boucicault's melodrama of yester-year, "After Dark," which will open in the Pitt next week. When Harold Throckmorton and Christopher Morley revived this old opus in an out of the way "opry house" in Jersey City, it played an entire year.

Plays Lead

Ingeborg Torrup has the leading feminine role in "Richelieu," which Walter Hampden is to present in the Alvin next week.

DENTIST HELD IN DRUG CASE

SHARON, Pa., April 30.—Dr. John Ingram, Negro dentist of 120 Idaho street, Farrell, is being held in jail here on a charge of violating the Harrison narcotic act.

He was arrested yesterday by Government Agents William T. Duffy and Joseph Colebob, of Pittsburgh, and Chief of Police Charles Steger, of Sharon.

Dr. Ingram is said to have sold 14 decks of Cocaine to a woman government informer and to have accepted marked money, later said to have been found in his possession.

Ingram was remanded to jail in default of $10,000 bond.

The government agents also arrested Lindy Bell Nixon, 24, also a Negro, of Beechwood street, Farrell. She is said to have had 40 grains of cocaine in her possession.

SEEK BUILDING SUIT ACCORD

An attempt is being made to effect a compromise to avert the receivership asked for the Law and Finance Building. It was brought out in Federal Court today.

Judge F. P. Schoonmaker granted a requested postponement when he was told the F. H. Smith Company, depositary for the building's interest and amortization payments, is trying to arrange a means of protection for bondholders.

The bondholders, who asked for the removal of the Smith company, are Esther S. Kelly, John L. Snyder, Margaret L. Orr and Martin Engstrom.

Street Idler Held For Detroit Police

Joseph Gillino, 38, of Detroit, who told Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in Central Police Court today he was a gambler and had come here to pass the time away, was remanded to jail until detectives get in touch with Detroit authorities. He was arrested downtown last night by detectives, charged with being a suspicious person.

Ortiz Rubio's Aid Sought by Catholics

MEXICO CITY, April 30.—(AP.)—Sixteen Catholics arrested Sunday for parading in violation of the religious laws have been sent to Belin jail. A memorial asking their immediate release has been sent to President Ortiz Rubio.

EMPLOYE HELD IN THEFTS

To solve the numerous thefts of money in the Fort Pitt Candy Company at 1622 Penn avenue, City Detective Frank Malone hid in the room containing the safe and alleges he saw a young employe open it and take $18.

In Morals Court today Malone identified Frank Polini, 18, of 1207 Penn avenue, as the thief. Polini confessed and told of several previous visits. Samuel Tamburo, proprietor, said $580 had been taken in six months. Polini was held for court on a charge of larceny.

Promise Halts Action For Habaes Corpus

Promise to the court that J. Edward McCammon, of 1153 Pemberton street, would not remove his two children pending outcome of a divorce proceedings brought by his wife stayed habeas corpus proceedings today. Mrs. Margaret A. McCammon, residing near the home of her husband at 1160 Pemberton street, brought the action fearing her husband would remove J. Edward, Jr., and Margaret.

STAINS CHECKED IN DUAL SLAYING

MUSKOGEE, Okla., April 30.—(AP.)—Alleged blood spots found on a coat worn by John W. Wike, one of two traveling companions of George and David Smith, Connecticut capitalists, today added more mystery to the slaying of the Smiths here Saturday night in a hotel.

Wike, whose home is in Sharon, Conn., and P. G. Seeley, of Washington, Conn., the fourth member of the automobile party whose visit to Oklahoma ended in tragedy, are to be given preliminary hearing today on charges of murder.

Both deny any implication in the slayings, asserting the Smiths, who were brothers, were shot by two robbers, who fought with the victims in their hotel room.

MARRIAGE CODE CHANGE ASKED

CHARLESTON, S. C., April 30.—(AP.)—More than 100 representatives of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States, here for a three-day session of the National Church Congress, today prepared to celebrate the corporate communion of the congress.

Those attending the congress last night heard a discussion of the church's position on marriage and remarriage.

Dr. T. F. Opie, Burlington, N. C., said the law of the church permitted divorce only on ther ground of unfaithfulness, declaring that "for the church to maintain a standard which is based on two or three thousand-year-old philosophy, biology or religion, is blind and stupid."

Dr. John Rathbone Oliver, of the faculty of Johns Hopkins University, declared the church's marriage code should be revised as to make no exceptions, but to adhere strictly to the "old way" as the best.

Palestine Conquers Locust Invasion

LONDON, April 30.—(AP.)—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Jerusalem today said that the locust invasion of Palestine had been conquered and that the pests probably would be eradicated from Transjordania soon. Eighty thousand gallons of oil were used and 18,000 acres of land ploughed up to destroy the plague in Palestine.

See today's Sun-Telegraph Classified Section for a big selection of "Help Wanted" ads. The very job for you may be open now.

DUAL SLAYING TRIAL OPENS

BALTIMORE, April 30.—(INS.)—Vincent Siacco, formerly an exporter, living in Brooklyn, N. Y., indicted on charges of killing Cyrus Bachman, Mt. Pleasant, Pa., and Robert P. Klinefelter, Lebanon, Pa., here April 6, went on trial today.

William Curran, Siacco's attorney, announced he would show the court Siacco shot in self-defense when the two men came here to see him.

Elizabeth Lite, formerly a New York show girl under the name of "Maudie" Lite, is the state's star witness. The police believe that jealousy over the attentions Klinefelter and Bachman were paying the girl prompted the shooting.

2 Game Wardens Slain, Killer Dying

SAN FRANCISCO, April 30.—(INS.)—Two deputy fish and game wardens were slain today in a gun fight aboard a fishing boat in San Francisco Bay. One of the men was identified as Andrew Curry, of San Francisco.

Their alleged slayer, Anton Anderson, owner of the boat and a resident of Crockett, Cal., was taken to an emergency hospital in a dying condition from gunshot wounds.

Britain Sets Wheat Minimum for Bread

LONDON, April 30.—(AP.)—The agricultural correspondent of the Daily Express says the British government has definitely decided to establish regulations requiring a minimum percentage of British wheat flour in every loaf milled in Britain.

The newspaper says the minimum will be a varying figure and that the government's policy will shortly be published in the form of a governmental "white paper."

Furrier Actress Sued Dies on Stand

NEW YORK, April 30.—(AP.)—While testifying in his own defense in a civil action, Harry Garfunkel, 50, furrier, slumped from witness' chair, and to the floor, dead.

As he fell his wife, who was present with their two sons, shouted:

"She did it, she did it."

She pointed to Mrs. Mabel Taormina, a motion picture actress, who was suing Garfunkle's firm for $50,000 for alleged false arrest and imprisonment.

DUKE PREPARES FOR DIVORCE

EDINBURGH, Scotland, April 30.—(AP.)—Lord Anderson today permitted abandonment of a divorce action brought by the Duke of Leinster against the Duchess in 1926, but about which nothing was done.

It was recalled that on April 9 the duke's counsel intimated in court that when the 1926 action had been cleared away another would be brought by the duke.

The duchess, who is the former May Ethbridge, British musical comedy star, was bound over for two years by a Lambeth magistrate on April 19, after being found guilty of an attempt to commit suicide following a quarrel with a man named Williams with whom it was testified she had been living in Brixton.

Homestead Estate Willed to Widow

An estate of $37,500 is left by Benjamin Friedlander, of Homestead, to his widow under the terms of his will. He names a brother, Harry Friedlander, and a cousin, Morris Friedlander, as executors.

URSULA FORHAN WEDS COUNT

ROME, April 30.—(AP.)—Miss Ursula Forhan, daughter of R. J. Forhan, dental manufacturer, and Count Enzo Romeagnoli D'Urbinia, of Bologne, Italy, were married here today.

The bride was dressed in black. Her witness was Raymond Saulnier and his witness the sculptor, Prince Paul Troubetzkoy. Only a few close friends attended.

NEW YORK, April 30.—(AP.)—Ursula Forhan, married today at Rome to Count D'Urbinia, was the former Mrs. E. Murphy, and was divorced in Paris two years ago from an Omaha (Neb.) cattle man.

She has lived abroad eight years, and has two sons in Oxford. Her home formerly was in New York.

WEDS EMBASSY SECRETARY

PARIS, April 30.—(AP.)—The famous Church of Notre Dame de Paris today was the scene of the wedding of Miss Anne Tyrrell, daughter of Lord Tyrrell of Avon, the British ambassador to France, to Adrian Holman, a secretary of the British embassy.

The French government was represented by high officials, all the members of the diplomatic corps attended, and leaders of French, English and American society were present in large numbers.

The bride, who is in her early twenties, has twice visited the United States.

Camilla and Mary Esther, the two little daughters of Walter Evans Edge, the American ambassador, were among the little company of children who held the long train of the bride.

U. S. Ship Blamed In Kirkwood Sinking

HAMBURG, April 30.—(AP.)—The Admiralty Court today held that the steamship President Harding was not entirely blameless in her collision with the British collier Kirkwood last week, inasmuch as her speed was high considering the situation and that she merely stopped her engines instead of reversing.

The court said no criticism was attached to the skipper of the Kirkwood. The Kirkwood sank after all but one of the crew had been rescued by the President Harding, now in drydock undergoing inspection.

Delicious—New!

THEY WILL WIN HER

. . . a luscious cereal with a "VEGETABLE EFFECT"

An entirely new creation by HEINZ of "57" fame.

See how it wins your children.

You, Mother, know the good that vegetables do in regulating the important health-habits of children. But you are aware also of the difficulty of getting such good foods consumed in right amounts, so this new delicious cereal should be a boon to you. The reason is this:

HEINZ of "57" fame has included a fine cereal-cellulose in flavory, crunchy, oven-toasted flakes of rice—a natural food-substance which is part of rice itself.

NOT BRAN

No, this food-substance isn't bran. It is soft and fluffy—not harsh or irritant in any way. Its volume, however, is increased four to six times by the absorption of moisture after eating, forming the mildest, gentlest, natural bulk and roughage that Science has developed.

HEINZ with more than 60 years' experience in food making, spent 8 years in perfecting it.

Proof is easy, Mother. Let a children's jury try these alluring Rice Flakes on the point of flavor only. If they sustain our claims to the most delicious of all cereal flavors, let your children have this luscious food twice daily for one week to start the regulating "vegetable effect"; once daily thereafter to continue it.

IN ONE FOOD ONLY

Here is a food the benefits of which you need not "take on faith." In a few days children's health-habits are definitely improved. And you need do no urging—think what that means to you! If you are not satisfied in every way, your grocer will refund the purchase price.

Of course HEINZ Rice Flakes contain all the usual energizing food value of rice. Don't serve in place of vegetables but to supplement them.

Remember that HEINZ patents control this extraordinary feature, in the daintiest of all flaked foods. No other cereal of any type supplies it. To get it for your children, therefore, you must insist on HEINZ Rice Flakes, for no other cereal will answer if you want to make this test.

Just as good for grown-ups as for children.

U. S. PLANS PEN NEAR ERIE

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP.)—Attorney General Mitchell announced that the Department of Justice's prison building program would place the penitentiary for the northeast section of the country in the vicinity of Erie, Pa., either in New York or Pennsylvania.

He said a survey had shown that Erie was the center of the prison population for the northeast section of the United States.

The Attorney General said that one of the contemplated Federal jails would be at El Paso, Tex., where there are some 400 Federal prisoners in county or state institutions.

It was probable that other jails might be placed in Detroit, in Chicago, and other large congested centers, he said.

The prison program calls for two Federal penitentiaries, one in the northeast and one in the southwest section of the country, is now before Congress. Has it passed the House. After the program is authorized it will be necessary for Congress to appropriate money for the work.

BRISTOW BANDIT CHIEF SLAIN

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP.)—Edwin Schoenrich, American consul at Mazatlan, Mexico, reported to the State Department that Gen. Rodriguez, commander of Mexican forces, had informed him that his troops had killed Cruz Delgado, leader of the Bristow bandits.

The bandits are those who last month captured J. E. Bristow, Oklahoma oil man, held him prisoner for six weeks and finally released him to his son on the payment of $1,500 ransom.

Schoenrich said that Delgado was killed April 24.

The bandits exchanged shots with the soldiers, who captured one prisoner and continued their pursuit. The prisoner said the band was composed of 10 men led by a former soldier named Antonio Cortes.

MEXICO CITY, April 30 (AP.)—Dispatches from Guadalajara said that Federal soldiers had located near Zapopan the group of bandits that kidnaped Dr. George E. Purnell and held him for ransom last week. Dr. Purnell, an American dentist who had lived in Mexico for 35 years, was released on April 23 for $200.

Girl Scouts Plant Flowers At Newell

NEWELL, Pa., April 30.—Cooperating with the work of the Woman's Club of Newell, Girl Scouts of Troop No. 1 of Newell, are planting flowers and grass seed in all parts of the town.

'Jungle' Hoboes Hilarious With Stolen Wine

OAKLAND, Cal., April 30 (AP.)—A great hullabaloo in the "jungles" near Livermore brought police to the scene. They found approximately 100 hoboes making whoopee on stolen wine.

Nineteen of the itinerants were arrested and 18 placed in jail on vagrancy charges. One was taken to a hospital with a fractured skull and five of them nursed cuts and bruises as a result of a clash with police. The wine had been stolen from a winery near Livermore.

METERED MAIL RULES EASED

WASHINGTON, April 30.—(INS.)—Rules relating to the acceptance of metered mail matter of the first and fourth class were liberalized under an order issued by Postmaster General Brown.

Under the order first class mail may be deposited in street package collections boxes in lots of not more than 300 pieces and fourth class mail irrespective of the number of pieces or whether they are identical, will be accepted at post offices from persons or concerns who have been accorded permits to mail fourth class mail as metered permit mail.

Attractive House Dress

Pattern 1896

Sun Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS

The slender lines and neat appearance of this house frock will endear it to women of more ample proportions. The long pointed vestee following the slender skirt panel tends to lengthen the figure. The pointed neckline is extremely becoming. Tiny pearl buttons trim the vestee.

Pattern 1896 is lovely made of printed gingham, percale, cotton broadcloth, dimity, pongee, etc., and trimmed with white pique collar, vestee, cuffs and belt. The pattern gives both long and short sleeves, set-in and well fitting.

Designed only for sizes 18, 20, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 36 requires 3⅞ yards of 36 inch fabric and ¾ yard trimming.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins carefully wrapped, or stamps for each pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE wanted.

Our PATTERN BOOK of NEW SPRING and SUMMER STYLES is FIFTEEN CENTS, but only TEN CENTS when ordered with a pattern. Address all mail and orders to Sun-Telegraph, Pattern Department, 243 West Seventeenth street, New York City.

1.—Enclose 15 cents in coins.
2.—Write clearly NUMBERS of patterns and SIZE wanted.
3.—Write or print your NAME and ADDRESS plainly.

BLAST SUSPECT GETS BAIL

READING, Pa., April 30.—(AP.)—Samuel Itzkovitz, 45, of Shenandoah, seventh man to be arrested after the fatal alcohol apparatus explosion in the old Reading Paper Mills, this city, on February 16, arranged for bail on a charge of involuntary manslaughter and the illegal manufacture of intoxicating beverages. Daniel Shalek, also of Shenandoah, was arrested several days ago on similar charges and gave bail. Bond of $10,000 is asked in Itzkovitz' case.

The previous arrests were those of Alex Klingerman, of Philadelphia, alleged beer baron, and four men injured at work in the plant. Pennsylvania Railroad detectives arrested both Itzkovitz and Shalek. The mill in the explosion adjoining the Pennsylvania Railroad Station and the station buildings were badly damaged when the mill blew up. A railroad telegrapher was one of the nine men injured. Two pedestrians were killed. Shalek, Itzkovitz, Klingerman and the four injured inside the plant are all held on the involuntary manslaughter charge. Itzkovitz and Shalek are believed to be wealthy operators in the beer or liquor trade and to have been the financial backers of Klingerman.

VENANGO JUDGE ASSAILED

FRANKLIN, Pa., April 30.—A stir was provided when the term of court got under way. Attorney Q. D. Hastings, counsel for the French embassy in the famous "children of France" case, accusing Judge William M. Parker of "unwarranted and unjudicial attitude and manner" in that case, as well as in the one involving the estate of Jacob Sheasley.

The charges were made in connection with a motion that a different judge preside. On both actions Judge Parker issued a rule to be argued the fourth Monday of May.

In the case of the French orphans, Hastings had filed a counsel fee of $10,000, which the Venango court has never allowed. The action is a sequel to the litigation in the estate of Dr. John K. Crawford, of Cooperstown, who bequeathed $72,000 to the "fatherless children of France." The money is now being used for the car of French war orphans.

Kaufmann Center Opens Playgrounds

The new playground of the Irene Kaufmann Settlement will open tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock when members of the settlement present a child health day and a May Day program. The new playground will be open every day until October 1.

33-Inch Snake Killed By Foreman

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., April 30.—Andy Pascarell, Monongahela railway foreman, yesterday killed a 33-inch copperhead and two garter snakes.

He killed a 43-inch copperhead last year.

RAIL PLAN HELD DANGEROUS

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., April 30.—To prevent more grade crossing accidents through routing of Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railway trains over the Southwest branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad, City Council passed a resolution condemning such a step and served notice that if attempted, every effort to block it would be made.

The Pennsylvania tracks cross 10 streets in the city limits, only one of which is guarded. It is alleged that trains of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia would create great hazards to traffic.

Rumors have been prevalent that the Pittsburgh and West Virginia, building an extension from Cochrans Mill to this city to connect with the Western Maryland, expected to operate its trains over the Pennsylvania from Pennsville to a point south of here, where the junction with the Western Maryland would be effected.

STATE GROWS IN POPULATION

HARRISBURG, April 30.—(AP.)—The first million of Pennsylvania's 1930 census returns were available here, showing a gain of 8.84 per cent over the 1920 population of the same units.

Comprising this compilation of the Associated Press were a total of 359 townships, boroughs and cities whose aggregate had increased from 928,016 ten years ago to 1,010,118 in the current enumeration. The increase for the group was 82,102.

These figures indicated that the 1930 total for the state would approximate, if not exceed, the 10,000,000 mark. An increase of 8.84 per cent, over the 1920 total of 8,720,017 would produce a new population figure of 9,490,866. There has been, however, an upward tendency in the state percentage as the returns of the larger units are received. This is shown by the fact that the present percentage has advanced from one of 8.65 which the first half million—composed largely of small units—displayed.

The greatest increases are being shown in the case of cities, townships and boroughs whose 1920 population was between 5,000 and 10,000. This group has shown an average gain of 15 per cent during the decade as compared with a 12 per cent gain for cities between 10,000 and 30,000 and a nine per cent increase for units between 1,000 and 5,000. The smaller units of less than 1,000 population have revealed an average gain of only three per cent, while two cities of more than 30,000 population—Wilkes-Barre and Scranton—have an average increase of 3.8 per cent.

Here Are the Rules for "Piratepuz"

(1) Every day until further notice the daily Sun-Telegraph will print a frame, or diagram in squares, each containing the letters that will, when placed in order, spell the name of a Pittsburgh Pirate baseball player.

(2) In this frame it may be possible that abbreviations and nicknames will be employed. The readers of the Sun-Telegraph in solving the daily PIRATEPUZ are to endeavor to submit as their answer the full, complete and correct name of the player devoid of nickname or abbreviation other than that of the middle initial if there happens to be one.

(3) This is a contest that will test the skill of the readers of the Sun-Telegraph as to their knowledge of the names of the players of the Pittsburgh club.

(4) There will be a new PIRATEPUZ every day and daily prizes for the correct and most nearly correct answer will be awarded as follows:

1st Prize ..... $10.00 in Cash
2nd Prize ..... 5.00 in Cash
3rd Prize ..... 2.50 in Cash
Next 25 Prizes—Each a Grandstand General Admission ticket to the Pirates game, good any day during the season.

(5) Neatness in the preparation of answers submitted will be a factor in the judging. In case of ties, the contestants so tied will be given an equal award. The decision of the judges will be final in all cases.

Contestants agree that entries become the property of the Sun-Telegraph. The contest is open to everyone—men and women, boys and girls—no matter where they live, with the exception of employees of the Sun-Telegraph. You do not have to purchase a copy of the Sun-Telegraph to enter this contest. The files of this newspaper are available at the Sun-Telegraph Branch Office, Fifth Avenue and Market Street, where any person can copy or trace the puzzle.

(6) All answers must be addressed to the PIRATEPUZ Editor, Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and must be postmarked not later than midnight of the day following the publication of the PIRATEPUZ for which the answer is submitted. Contestants are requested to place the number of the puzzle on the low outside left-hand corner of the envelope.

(7) Winners will be announced one week after the publication of the PIRATEPUZ—on the corresponding day.

We Now Present

By DARRELL V. MARTIN,
Radio Editor.

PITTSBURGH'S HISTORY in the last 60 years will be depicted in the Rosenbaum program over KDKA at 9:30 tonight. The musical atmosphere for this broadcast will be completed by a string choir of muted violins and cellos. Sara Logan, contralto, and Eugene Baldridge, tenor, will be the soloists.

As the guest of Van Heusen on WJAS at 9 o'clock, Frank Crumit will offer several of his more popular numbers. Vee Lawnhurst will croon "I Still Remember" and "D'Ya Love Me?"

Frank Crumit

A movement of Bela Bartok's Dance Suite, ringing with the martial, virile sweep which made the Hungarians the fiercest warriors of Europe, will be played by Howard Barlow's Philco Orchestra, WJAS at 10.

How Benventuto Cellini met the conflict between romance and his art is told in the first of a series of radio dramas to be broadcast by KDKA at 9.

KDKA is to broadcast the Des Moines, Ia., midnight baseball game Friday night.

Folks at KQV have scheduled Helen Kane for a personal appearance May 9.

Facts and Figures Dept.—Arthur Brown, popular operator at WCAE, reports that the air pressure against this world of ours is six quadrillion tons. Those differing with "Brownie" will please argue the case outside; the matter's too heavy for us.

McNamee and Clem McCarthy are to do the honors for NBC at the Kentucky Derby May 17.

SHORT WAVES:

Forty-five per cent of the country's actors have radios in their dressing rooms.

Chic Sales is to introduce a new rural character on Columbia and WJAS starting Sunday, May 18.

WNBO at Washington, Pa., is to have a studio at Waynesburg.

Tom Gerun, 29 and unmarried, has had a big success at the William Penn. His showing against Ben Bernie and Ben Pollack, regular NBC orchestras, was remarkable.

Admiral Richard Byrd is to talk over the NBC on June 29 if KDKA doesn't get him first.

WMAQ has a good orchestra leader by Jim Carrigan, home town product.

TRIAL OPENS IN CINEMA FIRE

EDINBURGH, Scotland, April 30.—(AP)—Long lines of people, mostly women, waited in the rain for hours yesterday to attend the opening of the trial of Charles Dorward, manager of the Glen Cinema at Paisley, where 70 children died in a fire and panic on New Year's Eve.

Dorward is charged with culpable homicide. The long indictment chiefly concerned charges that an iron gate outside one exit was locked. Lord Alness, Lord Justice clerk, declared the essence of the indictment was that it was Dorward's duty to keep the two exits open. He said:

"If the gate had not been locked the deaths of these children might have been avoided."

BUSINESS today requires that the successful man be physically fit and mentally alert.
Men, especially, forget themselves physically. Their work demands practically all their time. They do not exercise enough. They get little or no sunshine. They are robbed of a good appetite . . . and when their red-blood-cells fall below normal their flesh becomes flabby, their nerves unsteady. Their strength must be reinforced.
Soundness of body and peace of mind depend upon the proper number of red-cells in the blood—5,000,000 to the cubic millimeter. They give blood its color and are carriers of nourishment to every part of the body. It is dangerous to let the red-cell count remain below normal.
With an increase in the red-blood-cells, you will be on the right road to Health. This is Nature's way to body power and to clear skin. Naturally, with your strength restored, it is easier to fight disease and infection; to enjoy your food and to sleep soundly. When firm flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby, you will feel strong—your nerves will become steady—more happiness and friends will follow.
S.S.S. has been a blessing to millions who have taken advantage of its wonderful medicinal properties. It helps Nature build rich, red-blood-cells. It promotes healthy body building.
You will be pleased to know that S.S.S. is made from only strictly fresh vegetable drugs. It is easily assimilated. Pleasant to take.
S.S.S.
is taken by many people at least once a year to keep their blood in good condition. Seek energy, vitality and the blessings of good health through this time-tested remedy which has been on the market over 100 years. Take at mealtimes. CHICKIE By ELENORE MEHERIN

CHAPTER LXXIII

The fear sat on her breast—sat like an incubus, awful in its imperturbable heaviness. She tried to fling it from her. Then it would seem to grow larger, take her breath, exhaling terror through her veins.

She was helpless before these alarms that went shaking and cold into her mind and made of her heart a frantic thing that hid and whimpered.

She beat [illegible] dead fighting it panic. She stood before her mirror, startled at herself. And seeing her face pretty as a flower, eyes so gray and beautiful, she smiled. She looked the very same waif and slender. But she wouldn't—surely not if this motionless thing were true.

And in the office she joined Stella Wilson and Janina clinging to them, dreading the merriest talking with the old gay flippance a hundredfold increased until Janina said: "Congratulations, one kid! Real said haven't you? Didn't think it was in you."

That made her feel light as foam and glad. She was just the same she was like any one else. They could see that. And why not? Why should this thing of agony and shame be hers?

It wouldn't! Wait and soon she would laugh at the wilderness that drove her so that made her desolate as a fugitive flying from his own thought, driven as an animal is not from his fellows, even from himself.

Wait and soon in her relief she would be the blithest thing that ever the green earth grew. Oh she would forget that she had mourned. In her gratitude she would bless the air and little flowers and the dear appealing stars that twinkled so—bless them with a gayety that would never die, that would make her brain to endure, oh anything, if only this might pass, might leave her free.

So she pushed it down and kept it from her thought with an insistent: "Of course not. How could it be? Oh, it's not."

Fear Returns

At her desk typing at lightning speed, concentrating with new intensity on her work she gained peace. She was able to think calmly, ridicule this obsession of hers even to say: "The idea! Of all the idiotic things to pick on, why this!" And now:

But alone away from the comfort of Janina and Stella's chatter with no wall between herself and her fear it reached up and shook her mind. It did this at odd moments as she dried the dishes in the evening. She would stand rigid a cup in her hands. Coming out of this terror she glanced stealthily at Jennie. Jennie didn't notice.

Or it seized her sometimes as she took a dress from the closet. Suddenly leaning her weak, leaning against the wall murmuring in fright: "No! Oh, God—no."

More terrible than ever after she said good night to Jennie and Jonathan, then just as she closed the door of her room, then it sprang, then the walls were alive whispering in the pulsing quiet: "It is! It is!"

She turned to this side and that, she covered her face and sometimes she sank on her knees at her bed, twisting the blankets in her hands mad pitiful prayers at her lips. "God—don't let this happen, oh, please anything but this, you won't."

She was quieted. Tomorrow she would forget, be glad again.

Each night it was another tomorrow, each morning take up the lock step with Fear. Until sometimes she fancied a visible presence dogged her, a relentless forbidding shadow, and others would see her turn suddenly pale as it touched her, they would see her stop short, catching her breath.

Jennie Happy

So she became unnaturally alert watching herself. So she became unnaturally winsome. Oh—she couldn't do enough for Jennie. Let her bring in the dinner. Sit still, Jennie darling—let her bring the tea.

Jennie blossomed under all this attention. Jennie grew young. They went out in the evening together, strolled down Mission street, shopped. Once Jennie said: "Jonathan, you won't be lonesome? Chickie and I are going to make new curtains for the living room."

Jonathan answered: "Take your time, girls! Don't flirt with the lads. That's all."

A thing like that made Jennie blush, made her old heart glow—silly fellow, that Jonathan! She linked her arm in Chickie's, went sprys down the block.

She was proud of this tall radiant thing, this child of hers, never done with the wonder of it, the thrill of being Chickie's mother.

In the store where they bought the scrim Jennie met an old friend. The old friend said: "Why, is this Chickie?" Her eyes, surveying the delicate figure, all but said: "I can't believe it!" Dumpy little Jennie Bryce with a daughter like this!"

Chickie saw the moist, shiny joy in her mother's eyes, saw her head give that little happy lift. She turned abruptly—bent down over the scrim, whispering to herself: "Oh, mother! Oh, God!"

And the days passed. And the weeks.

One night she took Wildie. She said to those two sitting in the living room: "I'll stroll down to Mary's. I won't be home till late, perhaps."

She took the dog with her straining at the leash. Then she began talking to herself frantically. "Oh, I know I know it is. Oh, God!"

And ran quicker, let Wildie pull her. And kept that up block after block till her steps failed and the dog came up to her, licking her hand.

Thinks of Barry

There was a small park. She sat down. Wildie crouched by her side, raising himself now and then, licking her face, tasting her tears, pressing his head in devotion against her knees.

She wound her arms about his neck, saying faintly: "What shall I do, oh, Lord." She looked up and could see the lights, yellow and blurred, of the automobiles.

Many a time Barry had taken her hand, murmuring gayly: "Look up, frail ah, catch it as it falls! Here, let me see her pretty eyes."

She could remember this. And now. Remember "this Barry she had so loved. That when he said to her: "Oh it is right, right as the sun, as the river flowing down here to meet the sea. It is for me!" That when he said that she was convinced and yielded him her heart.

But he didn't want it any longer. It grew a burden to him. She didn't want it either. Throw it away!

But where.

And she fancied that she would walk again. This time to the water.

She began to cry, resting her head against the dog. He whimpered. That made it harder, made her heart swell and turn. She knew now. It was true. It must be weeks and weeks.

Then she thought of Jennie. And Jonathan. Then of Mary. Then Jimmy. Oh, all of them. They would look at her and turn away, too grieved, too shamed to see her eyes.

No they wouldn't! Oh, no! She'd not bear that! Never.

If only the earth might part and cover her, if only she might drift into death, cease—get away from herself.

Sends Message

Her thoughts went back to him—to that letter he had written. Suppose he knew? Suppose he could see her sitting here, crying like that—talking to a dog, because there was no other one to tell it to.

She fancied his face blanching, fancied his lips shaking. And he would come over and take her hands, lift her up. He would say: "I never dreamed, Chickie—never dreamed of this." He would let her cling to him.

Oh, would he?

But she didn't want to, no, not now. Not with the love gone from his thought.

She sat there hours until the cold bit into her skin, until her brain numbed. But she said to herself: "Oh, no! He can go—not him. I won't."

The next morning—many mornings—she awakened with that deadly weight crushing her.

One day, finally she decided. There was nothing else she could do. No other way to meet it. She would have to tell him, have to take his hand and let him lift her up.

She sent a telegram, sent it in care of the Gulf Steamship Company. He would visit Moore might seek a place from him. Her message would reach him.

She said:

Barry, come back, will you? You must. A terrible thing has happened.

She waited.

Household Hints

A little vinegar in the rinsing water will keep black stockings a good color.

Wrap summer frocks in tissue paper, then place in heavy cretonne bags before putting them away for the winter months. This will prevent them from becoming grimy.

Shining windows, through which the household sees the first spring days, are a housewife's rightful pride. They are not difficult to have if a soft chamois leather, wrung out of clear water is used to wash the dirt off. This should, of course, be followed by a brisk polishing with a soft cloth.

Pretty Nose Goes Far, but Fascination Farther, Advises Fay King

By FAY KING.

MR. ZIEGFELD says the most important feature is the nose, and that beauty most often wins by a nose.

Opinion seems to be that a nose should be small and straight or slightly tilted.

Because most artists paint that kind of a nose on the girls that adorn magazine covers, we have become accustomed to identifying that nose with beauty.

But beauty has one serious rival. Fascination! And the most fascinating women are not the most beautiful.

In fact, a fascinating woman who is homely may outshine a beauty whose perfection of feature is her only charm.

A perfect nose may add to beauty, but an imperfect nose by no means detracts from fascination.

Many girls considered very pretty have not the prettiest nose.

Love's Reawakening

Continuation of Love's Awakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge's Father Gives His Theory of Robbery

During every second of my drive back to the farmhouse from The Larches I was obsessed by the fear that Marion's telegram in answer to mine would spell a refusal to let my father see her grandmother's sandalwood box with its secret compartment. My father had elected to return with me leaving Jim to pilot the other car back and I was glad indeed that he was silent during most of the short trip home. As it was I had to spur myself into attention when his mild comment: "I fancy you did not hear me, Margaret," made me realize that I had not heard him when almost at the gate of the farmyard he had broken his silence.

"Oh, father! I'm so sorry," I exclaimed. "Please tell me again what you said."

"I was only asking you to give Mrs. Tiver an admonition concerning this key," he said. "Tell her to say nothing to anyone of her belief, and mine incidentally, that her queer lodger, Hallam, stole the key and replaced it again. The fact the agent's key is lost is most fortuitous. Let him believe that it was his lost one which fell into the hands of some unauthorized person, who used it to gain entrance into The Larches. I know," as without my volition, my eyes widened in astonishment, "This is not exactly an ethical proceeding, but neither is it going to do anyone any harm. If those fellows had not been able to get hold of a key they would have broken in anyway, so neither Mr. Halsey nor Mrs. Tiver can be held accountable."

"That is true, of course," I assented, but something in my tone made my father put his hand over mine caressingly.

"Tell her also that just as soon as we get formal permission from the police I'll let her know. She's the caretaker, isn't she, and she'll want to clear that food and those dishes away."

"Oh, yes," I returned "and of course, she will have to check the agent's inventory of furnishings and appointments, to see what, if anything, has been taken."

"I don't imagine she'll find a single thing gone," my father commented. "Perhaps a broken dish or two, but that will be the extent of the damage. I agree with you that those chaps were no ordinary burglars. They want something special from the farmhouse, and their attempt of last night was opera bouffe, calculated to terrorize us. But here we are! I'll go directly to my room if you don't mind. Call me as soon as you get an answer to your telegram."

When I could no longer see him, I turned my attention to my nearest problem, that of settling the latest manifestation of the ancient feud between my little maid Katie and my buxom neighbor, Mrs. Tiver.

With a weariness born of long experience, I dodged the kitchen and stole upstairs to Katherine's room, finding her busily packing, with Junior waiting upon her like a loyal little page upon a queen.

"Have you some time for me, now?" he asked hopefully.

"Not now, darling," I returned. "Besides, Aunt Katherine needs you now. She has to take this afternoon train, remember."

"There's someone in this house who needs you," Katherine murmured, stressing the pronoun, as she dispatched Junior to the closet after another pair of shoes. When he was out of hearing she went on with an amused laugh in her voice:

"Mrs. Tiver has taken sanctuary in your mother-in-law's room. I believe Katie chased her out of the kitchen with a rolling pin, or words to that effect."

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND.

The Man Beautiful

The judges in all feminine beauty contests are men. But as yet there has been no male beauty contest in which women were the judges.

The feminine idea of masculine beauty is something to which men have never given a thought. A man just looks in the mirror and says, "Oh, well; I may be a little bald and a little overweight, but there's something darned attractive about me, eh, what?"

But if women would break their conspiracy of silence and voice their longings for beauty in the male, some of the starry-eyed, long-lashed heroes of Hollywood would receive the surprise of their lives.

No man could win a Beauty Prize in his Annette Kellermans. Because, while a woman is beautiful, according to what she reveals, a man is beautiful only in proportion to what he CONCEALS.

The man who could most successfully hide his Adam's apple and camouflage his feet, would undoubtedly receive the first prize in any contest. The man who knew what to do with his hands while posing for a photograph would receive honorable mention.

And the man who had the best tailor and knew how to keep his evening shirt from bulging, would come somewhere high up on the list.

Good shoulders, good teeth and a winning smile would count for more than soulful eyes. And a strong chin would far outweigh a whole head of curly hair.

A bald head might pass unnoticed—but a beard would utterly disqualify Adonis himself as a "beauty" in the average woman's eyes. Women just simply HATE hair on a man's face!

Height, of course, every woman admires, because, no matter how strong and independent she may be, a woman always yearns to "look up to a man". If she married a worm she would probably dig a hole in the ground and crawl into it, so that she could lay her head on his shoulder and murmur, "Darling, how big and brave and strong you are!"

* * *

But the one vital, shining point in the list of a man's charms and attractions which women really admire, is that intangible something called PERSONALITY—force, character, virility—which expresses itself in his face, eyes and bearing.

Women don't much notice what man's features are like if they express strength, poise and a general healthy HE-NESS!

Narcissus, Adonis and Apollo wouldn't stand a chance of winning third prize in any beauty contest where women were the judges.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Avoid a Weak Heart

Good health of the heart depends very much upon the general good health of an individual. If you will take care of the simple things in daily living, the big things will take care of themselves. Eating the right food, getting proper exercise to keep the body in good condition, having adequate sleep and rest. These have a direct bearing upon heart health and general health alike.

DR. COPELAND

The heart, which is the engine of your body, does a wonderful piece of work for you. It pumps away day and night, to make possible all the things you wish to do.

Like any other machine, it must have its rest periods. It too, suffers from the wear and tear of life. Of course it never does stop beating but Nature has provided a time for it to slow down and recuperate. This it does during sleep.

The heart is made up of muscles which contract and expand in a rythmical beat. Under normal conditions, the heart rests one-tenth of a second after each beat. This short rest permits it to store up sufficient energy for its contraction period.

You cannot be well nourished, strong and full of energy unless your heart is able to do its full duty. It cannot do its duty unless the heart muscles are well-nourished and vigorous.

What the heart will or will not do depends on the heart muscles.

The heart, doing its work as it does by the action of its muscles, cannot work properly unless they are adequately fed, regularly exercised and guarded against poisoning through toxic substances set up in the body or by other poisons.

The food we eat must be prepared by the blood. The blood cannot do its good work unless is has a good heart to send it throughout the body. The heart, too, has to be properly fed and nourished.

Today when the fad is to be thin many a poor heart is undernourished. Underfeeding is bound to make the heart suffer.

For the muscles of the body and muscles of the heart we need protein foods for tissue building: lean meats, milk, cheese, the cereals and eggs. There must be regular intake of these foods or the heart grows weak.

The heart is hooked up with the body so that it shares all the benefits as well as all the disadvantages of the body. When you have poisons in the body arising from chronic sore, bad teeth and tonsils, chronic indigestion and constipation, the chances are that soon your heart will feel the bad effects.

Some mineral poisons have a way of undermining the heart action. Lack of iron in the food is another factor.

When you walk, run or indulge in sports the heart beats faster, with shorter rest periods in consequence. A great and sudden strain is put upon the heart and it has to accommodate itself to the added burden. If the muscles are fortified by nourishing food and right living you can see that it will be a more efficient machine to bear the great strain put upon it.

The emotions have an immediate effect upon the heart. News of an accident to someone near to you or any other emotional experience which brings a sudden strain on the heart is more easily born by the heart if it is in good condition. When you take care of yourself in what you eat, how you exercise, how you work and how you rest, you are storing up the necessary health and vigor of heart and body necessary for future emergencies.

Girls and boys in school and college should realize this. Too often we hear of the boy or girl who has been over doing in athletics in school or college. Athletics and sports in moderation are exceedingly good, but in excess they are harmful to the heart.

Vacation time will soon be here. Have a good time and enjoy every moment of it, but take your sports in moderation and come home rested and better fit for the daily round of living.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

The Surprise Party

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I am invited to attend, with my husband, a surprise birthday party given by a man in honor of his wife. I have never met the lady or her husband, but my husband is quite intimate with the gentleman, and has only casually met the lady. Please advise me whether it is necessary, or proper to take a gift, and if so, what would you suggest. R. S.,

IT IS REALLY NOT NECESSARY for you to take a gift to this party, but still I feel that if I were you, I should take a simple gift of some kind: a box of flowers or a lovely corsage for the hostess (although I wonder if one is a hostess at her own surprise party?); to wear, or a lovely box of candy, or a new novel, or a box of letter paper, or a box of glace or salted nuts for the party.

Tips on Dining

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. Is it necessary to place a chair in its former position after leaving the table in a restaurant cafe?

2. Which is the correct way to eat toast when served with jam? A.

NO, WHEN YOU rise from the table, leave the chair in the position in which it is.

2. Many punctilious hostesses now place with toast and jam, especially when they are served with tea, the tea knife and fork, which is the small knife and fork of the size of those that we used to refer to as "child's knife and fork." These are very convenient to use in eating toast and jam. Or, you may break off a small piece of toast and, with your knife, "assist" a very small amount of jam onto the piece of toast, and eat it in this way.

Groom's Attire

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I am about to be married shortly and would like to know what to wear. I am to be married about 7 o'clock in the evening and there is to be a reception at a hotel after the marriage ceremony in the church. The bride is going to wear a veil. Will full dress be correct, and if so, what color gloves, if any, should I wear.

MARTIN.

YES, FULL DRESS IS CORRECT, with all formal accessories, including white kid gloves. If you will send me an addressed envelope, I shall be glad to send you a list of the details of this formal attire.

Messages of Sympathy

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I would like very much to have you help me in this little matter.

My dearest brother-in-law is dead and I would like to know if it was right for my three children and their wives and husbands to send a floral piece and put "Mr. and Mrs." on the card, or should there have been a more personal message? He was a wonderful uncle to all his nieces and nephews.

What I mean is, don't you think it would have been better for them to have put just their first names on the card, and also have written a few words of sympathy? In a time of sorrow a few kind words of sympathy help, and I think my children were wrong.

MRS. C.

I AGREE WITH YOU, indeed I do, that it would have been more appropriate and warm-hearted for your children to have written their informal names on the card of sympathy. And also to have added a few words of friendly sympathy and sympathetic understanding on the card or cards.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Thursday, May 1

Most propitious circumstances are indicated by the lunar as well as mutual aspects bearing rule on this day. There may be excellent opportunity for important change in environment, employment and in commercial contacts, with the promise of advancement, financial success and fulfilled ambitions. It is a time for pushing toward high goals, but be careful as to personal subtleties and do not squander or jeopardize the funds.

Those whose birthday it is are assured a year of excellent prospects, with new openings for advancement and honored position, with financial increase and personal popularity. It is a time for pushing toward desired ends, but be on guard against subtle undermining and treachery in the private relations.

A child born on this day should be talented, ingenious and ambitious, should attain high position in desired channels, but it may be subject to private intrigues and betrayals.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Legs should not be reduced to such an extent that no calves remain. There should be a pretty outward curve between the knee and the ankle. To thin down and to fat up legs walking is the proper exercise; it brings conditions to normal. Walking helps along the work of the internal organs. It presents new pictures to the eye, and so stimulates mental processes. Every woman who has the time to spare ought to walk at least two miles a day.

If a lazy girl slumps and slouches enough she will have a body so out of alignment that she won't be able to straighten it. A good carriage is a reward of habit. By practicing the erect pose, keeping the chest high, taking the slack out of the backbone, the time will come when the body will assume the proper posture without being dictated to by the brain. Round shoulders and the concaved chest retard the work of the inner organs.

Bored ladies affect the countenance of the graven image. What for and why? The interesting face is one that shows fleeting expressions, changes, lights and shadows. Even a homely physiognomy takes on a glow of beauty when it expresses warm, human feelings. Ordinary manners demands that when one is in the company of others one will appear to be interested. People who are always bored are bores themselves.

Looking for the soap that has a way of hiding itself in the bath water is a bothersome exercise that has gone forever. For a moderate sum of money can be purchased a soap bowl which floats gayly on the surface of the water in which the soap stays put. Also one's bath brush. The bath brush, by the way, is not the popular institution it should be. It is only by its use that dead cells of the skin can be thoroughly removed. Swashing about with a soapy washcloth gives only a surface cleaning. The brush gets down to bed rock.

YOUTH SETS THE PACE

Pittsburgh is youthful, active and very much alive. Of its entire population, nearly half (44.55%) are in the 18 to 44-year age class; control 90% of all purchases made. More than 81% of the entire Pittsburgh population are under 45 years of age. The control of the purchasing dollars is unquestionably in the able hands of these youthful purchasers.

These buyers select their merchandise needs through their daily guide—the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. This newspaper, catering especially to the youthful and youthful minded, is primarily a part of this group.

Their interests are the interests of the Sun-Telegraph. What they desire the Sun-Telegraph campaigns for editorially. Already, the Sun-Telegraph has completed the major part of its platform, adopted at the suggestion of Pittsburgh's moderns two and a half years ago. Pittsburgh knows that the Sun-Telegraph is the newspaper favored and read by the majority of its active citizens. Pittsburgh merchants are aware that this same majority is their most lucrative market. They present their merchandise to it most satisfactorily through the advertising columns of the Sun-Telegraph.

ARRANGE FETE FOR CADUGAN

David D. Cadugan, director of the Carnegie Library, North Side, will be tendered a testimonial dinner by the Italian-American Club of the Twenty-seventh Ward on May 1 in the Schenley Hotel. The dinner will be a mark of recognition for the political activities of Cadugan over a period of many years.

David Cadugan

Salvatore Sunseri, chairman, announced that responses to invitations issued for the banquet have been received in great numbers.

Sam J. Grenet, chairman of the Twenty-seventh Ward Republican committee, will be toastmaster.

Before his appointment as director of the Carnegie Free Library of Allegheny, Cadugan was connected with the auditor general's office in Harrisburg and recently was chief clerk to Director Norman F. Brown of the Department of Public Works of Allegheny County.

2 DEAD, 2 HURT IN RAIL WRECK

ALLENTOWN, Pa., April 30.—(AP.)—Two Reading Railway trainmen were killed and two others badly injured as the result of a freight train pile-up on the Catasauqua and Fogelsville branch near Trexlertown late yesterday. The dead were John J. Bauer, engineman, and Charles E. Weaver, conductor.

The injured were William Berney, trainman, and Clarence S. Hagenburh, flagman.

All the members of the crew were residents of this city. Bauer and Weaver residing on Hall street within a block of each other.

George J. Black, fireman, and William W. Miller, flagman, escaped injury.

The crew was proceeding northward toward the cement region with 30 empty freight cars. Three-quarters of a mile south of Trexlertown, the tender of the engine left the rails. Seven cars followed and piled up in a mass of tangled wreckage.

Weavers' body was buried under the wreckage.

73 Donora Pupils Make Long Tour

DONORA, Pa., April 30.—Under the guidance of three members of the faculty, 73 seniors of the Donora High School will leave here tomorrow in motor buses on a tour which will include Gettysburg and Washington. The trip is the first undertaken by Donora students. The party will return Sunday.

Rex W. Dimmick, principal of the high school and newly elected superintendent of the Donora public schools, will accompany the students.

Find First Body Of Ship's Victims

NEW YORK, April 30.—(AP.)—The body of H. A. Westcott, one of the missing members of the crew of the freighter Thames, which burned in Long Island Sound last Thursday, has been recovered, according to a report to Coast Guard headquarters here.

Sixteen were missing from the crew of 26 after the fire. The body of Westcott is the first to be recovered.

JURY CONVICTS DRY KILLER

HINTON, W. Va., April 30.—(AP.)—A city officer was convicted of second degree murder and charges against a state policeman were nolle prossed in the death of William Fox, 39, killed during a raid on a moonshine still near here on March 6. Deliberating two and one-half hours, a jury in Summers County Circuit Court returned a verdict of second degree murder against J. A. Simmons. Hinton policeman. Immediately after charges against T. F. Yost, state policeman indicted in the same case, were nolle prossed upon motion of the state.

At the trial witnesses testified Fox ran when officers approached the still and Simmons and Yost fired at him. The officers said they did not shoot until after Fox had fired at them but the state contended Fox did not have a pistol at the still.

DREAD NEURITIS YIELDS READILY TO NEW KONJOLA

"I Am Glad to Give My Endorsement of This Wonderful Medicine," Says Happy Man.

What a glorious thing it would be for all who suffer and who would be well again, if all the health and happiness that Konjola, the new and different medicine, has brought into the world could be measured. Like any worth-while treatment, Konjola must be taken systematically in order to work the toxic poisons and accumulated impurities out of the system. It is recommended that six or eight bottles be taken, and while the first bottle usually produces results, it should be continued to thoroughly cleanse the system. Daily many local people call to tell the Konjola Man at the Dow Drug Store, Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, of the amazing benefits derived through the use of this superremedy. Is it not wise, sensible, to believe that what Konjola has done for others, it will do for you? Just the other day Mr. Harry J. Schreiber, Route No. 2, Glenshaw, Pa., made the following statement about the work of Konjola in his case:

MR. HARRY J. SCHREIBER

"I have been benefited so much by Konjola that I am glad to give my indorsement of such a wonderful medicine. I suffered terribly from neuritis in my right arm, shoulder and my back. I tried almost everything suggested but without relief. I even took special treatments but they were a waste of time. The pains were intense, I was almost frantic. Walking was difficult, I could not lift a thing, and I slept but little.

"My father recommended Konjola to me and I started on it. To be brief, I experienced something wonderful. The pains eased up before the one bottle I purchased had been completed. I felt that I owed a debt to this medicine and so I gladly make this public statement. I have since completed four bottles and feel fine. My appetite has increased, and I enjoy sound, restful sleep. The neuritis has vanished entirely. I have not felt it at all since I finished the first bottle of Konjola."

Konjola works with the important functionary organs of the body. Konjola drives the poisons from the system, regulates the organs of elimination and produces glorious and abundant relief. It is recommended that Konjola be taken from six to eight weeks for the best results.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Store, Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where he is meeting the public daily, introducing and explaining the merits of this new and different medicine. FREE SAMPLES GIVEN by the Konjola Man. Konjola is sold by all Dow Drug Stores in Pittsburgh and vicinity.

Pirates Reach Peak.
Rabbit Ball's Big Day.
Many Runs and Hits.
Hofman Game Recalled.

Task for Rosenbloom.

BUCS SHOW QUALITIES OF CHAMPIONS

FIRST PLACE DOESN'T count for anything at this early stage of the baseball proceedings, as they don't pay off at the pennant window until near the end of September, so that even if the Pirates fail to stick at the top for any great length of time right now it will not necessarily mean the loss of the flag. As a matter of fact, there are some Pirate rooters who would be just as well satisfied to see some other club setting the pace for a time and thus keeping Jewel Ens' youngsters free from the strain that the leadership involves when the team concerned is a youthful one.

George Grantham.

But even though the front position carries no prizes at present, there is a whole lot of satisfaction and encouragement in the manner in which the Bucs, behind the batting pace of George Grantham and the fourth fine exhibition of relief pitching by Steve Swetonic, attained the peak through yesterday's triumph over the Cubs in Chicago, while the Giants were being outslugged and beaten by the Dodgers.

FOR IT WAS a victory of a type, that, more than any other scored this spring, stamped the Rovers as being a real ball club. The Cubs are about the hardest club in either league to defeat on their own grounds, and to overcome the seemingly hopeless handicap of Chicago's 7-to-1 lead and punch their way to a 13-to-9 decision the Bucs were required to have the qualities of genuine champions.

More than the mere playing strength of the Picaroons was on trial in that engagement. The uphill fight that confronted them after the third inning called for not only powerful hitting and strong relief pitching, but was the hardest test to which their gameness, steadiness, resourcefulness and battling spirit have yet been subjected. Only a great ball club could have turned that trick. A poor one would have crumbled.

FANS who were led by some of the low-score games in the first week of the season to question whether the lively ball was still being used in the major wheels have their answer in the figures telling of the runs and hits made in yesterday's games.

With the Dodgers and Giants—Melvin Ott's two home runs and one single leading the way—staging the biggest slugfest of the season up to date in New York, the awaiting contagion appeared to spread all around the circuits.

Melvin Ott.

ONLY TWO CLUBS in the 14 that played made fewer than six runs. In the Dodger-Giant game alone the contending teams amassed 34 tallies and 41 hits. The Pirates and Cubs made 22 runs and 27 hits. In the seven games played the teams rolled up a total of 123 runs and 186 hits, an average of more than 17 runs and 26 hits to a game. Only three clubs failed to break into double figures in the base-hit column. Five clubs scored from seven to 11 runs in one inning. And that's supposed to be big league baseball. The rabbit ball has crowded skill and strategy out of the game to a great extent and made power the predominating factor.*

EXCEPTING POSSIBLY THE mark for number of runs scored in the first three innings of a championship game, and the oddity that every Brooklyn batter made at least one hit, scored a run and knocked in a run, no major league records were cracked while the Dodgers and Giants were on a batting spree. The Dodgers made 22 hits; the record is 36. The Dodgers and Giants together made 41 hits; the record for two clubs is 51. The Dodgers made 11 runs in one inning; the all-time record is 18 and the modern mark (since 1900) is 14.

The Dodgers made 11 hits in one inning; the old record is 18 and the modern one is 12. The successive-hit record is 10. The Dodgers and Giants made 34 runs; the modern record is 49. The Dodgers made nine singles in one inning; the record is 10. The Dodgers and Giants made 13 runs in one inning; the record is 19. The Dodgers made 14 runs in two consecutive innings; the record is 21. The last-mentioned record, by the way, was made by the Pirates in the third and fourth innings of a game in Boston on June 6, 1894.

THE NATIONAL LEAGUE'S closest approach to the remarkable American League happening in St. Louis Sunday, when First Baseman Bud Clancy, of the White Sox, went through a nine-inning game without having a putout or an assist, was made in this city almost 20 years ago.

In a contest of regulation length between the Pirates and Cubs at Forbes Field on June 24, 1910, Artie (Circus Solly) Hofman, playing first base for Chicago, did not have a putout. He missed registering a parallel to Clancy's record, however, by having two other fielding chances, being credited with an assist, and charged with an error, and also by reason of the fact that the Cubs played only eight innings in the field.

Artie Hofman.

JIMMY ARCHER, behind the bat, had eight of Chicago's 27 putouts in that game, Johnny Evers had four at second base, Clarence Beaumont four in center field, Joe Tinker three at shortstop, Jimmy Sheckard three in left field, Harry Steinfeldt one at third base, and Frank Schulte one in right field. As the Pirates were leading, 6 to 3, when the Cubs were retired in the ninth, the Pittsburgh club did not play its half of the final inning. The Bruins, therefore, were called upon to make only 24 putouts and Hofman played but eight innings in the field against Clancy's nine last Sunday, so that Circus Solly's afternoon fell considerably short of equaling that of the White Sox player. But at that it still stands as the National League's nearest approach to a chanceless game at first base.*

PUBLISHED STATEMENTS that A. B. McCauley, with Washington in the American Association in 1891, was the only other major league first sacker to go through a game without a fielding chance, overlook a similar experience that fell to Guy Hecker, manager of the Pittsburgh Nationals in 1890, while he was playing for Louisville against Cincinnati in the American Association on October 9, 1887. Like Hofman, however, Hecker played only eight innings in the field. Five chanceless games have been recorded in the minors.

It was an error by a teammate that made Clancy's record possible in Sunday's game. Second Baseman Bill Cissell kept Clancy's slate clean by fumbling a grounder in the eighth inning. Had he fielded the ball cleanly, Clancy would have had a putout.

THERE IS AN old theory in the boxing game that the recollection of a knockout once suffered at the hands of a certain opponent will make the beaten battler a certain loser if he faces the same opponent again. Only Stanley Ketchel and a few others have proved exceptions. However, it will not be surprising if the dope is upset again tonight in Chicago when Tuffy Griffiths meets Jack Gagnon for the second time.

A few weeks ago Gagnon, considered outclassed, amazed the fistic

man. These relatives and friends have kept a constant vigil at his side since he was injured.

The funeral will be held at his former home in Youngstown. The body was shipped there today by automobile hearse. Dr. Sutherland and Whitey Hagan, assistant athletic director, accompanying it. Definite plans for the funeral and interment have not yet been made. Director of Athletics Harrison said this morning that the funeral likely will be held Friday. The entire coaching and athletic staffs will attend.

Murphy was injured when he crashed into Franklyn Hood, defensive fullback. The former halfback was leading the interference into the line, and as he smashed into Hood, he collapsed. Dr. H. A. R. Shanor, team physician, attended him on the field and ordered him rushed to St. Francis Hospital, where an X-ray examination disclosed that he had suffered fractures of the sixth and seventh cervical vertebrae. He was paralyzed when Dr. Shanor reached him after the accident.

Murphy played high school football in Youngstown and prepped at Wyoming Seminary, where he took honors as a student, as well as performing brilliantly in football. He entered Pitt in the fall of 1929, starred on the freshmen eleven that year and last fall played a halfback on the varsity, getting into all of the important games. He was regarded as one of the most promising backs on the squad.

The death of the well liked star cast a pall of gloom over the entire university today. It is probable that further spring practice, scheduled to end Saturday, will be discontinued at once.

U. S. CUP TEAM SAILS TODAY

NEW YORK, April 30.—(AP.)—The second American golfing expedition of the year leaves for Europe at 4 p. m., today when the Mauretania steams out of New York harbor with the American Walker Cup team aboard.

Bobby Jones, captain of the squad, and his seven comrades have timed their voyage so that they can get in about two weeks practice in England before the cup matches against the pick of British amateur at Sandwich May 15 and 16.

Players accompanying Jones are Harrison R. Johnston, George Von Elm, George Voigt, Dr. O. F. Willing, Don Moe, Roland Mac Kenzie and Francis Ouimet. Among others in the party are Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Johnston, Mrs. Von Elm, John G. Jackson, general counsel of the United States Golf Association, and Mrs. Jackson; A. L. Lewis, father-in-law of Jess Sweetser, former American and British amateur champion; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Paine and O. B. Keller.

Lucky Tor Annexes Handicap at Epsom

EPSOM, England, April 30.—(AP.)—Lucky Tor, the favorite at 13 to 2, won the City and Suburban handicap over the mile and a quarter course today. Lucky Tor is owned by W. M. G. Singer. Gordon Richards was up.

Lucky Tor won by two lengths from W. Barnett's Athford with Capt. J. D. Cohn's Vatout third, three-quarters of a length back. The field of 16 included some of the best handicap horses on the British turf.

The stakes were 2,000 sterling (about $10,000) and the odds against Athford and Vatout were 6 to 1, and 10 to 1, respectively.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—It is nice to be at the top of the league and rubber down at the Yanks. I haven't got such a thrill since I went up to the top of the Woolworth Building but you can say this for the American League, when you've got a powerful club like the Yankees in the cellar you have a solid foundation. I see by the papers the Cincinnati club may try playing games at night. After the baseball they've been playing they coldn't do any worse. Night baseball may be all right but the magnates will have us doing four shows a day Sundays and holidays yet.

Dedicate Withdrawn From Derby

LEXINGTON, Ky., April 30.—(AP.)—The Everglade Stable's Dedicate, one of the leading Western candidates for the Kentucky Derby to be run May 17, will not be a starter. X-ray examination of the colt revealed a bunchy growth on his left knee, and he will be thrown out of training at once.

The examination followed his disappointing showing in a race here last Saturday.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: MORE THAN 27 TO 1 PAID ON A HORSE THAT DID NOT RUN—On April 9, 1930, at the Bowie (Md.) track, E. F. Sanford's Chemin des Dames unraced two jockeys and was withdrawn from the race. As it had been in the hands of the starter, the bets stood and devolved upon the other field horse of the Sanford entry, Miss Dinwiddie, which won the race and paid better than 27 to 1 to the backers of Chemin des Dames. M. C. LADD WORKED THE REPETEND OF 1-97 MENTALLY—Although Ladd now is 75 years old, he is actively engaged in the teaching of mathematics. He claims he can perform the same division of any fraction, mentally, and says it is not a case of memorizing the figures because he does it verbally. A demonstration of his ability was given before the judges of a recent Chicago "Believe It Or Not" contest. Ladd's address is 21 East Van Buren street, Chicago.

TOMORROW—"OLD IRONSIDES" WAS WOOD.

U. S. WOMEN 'LIONIZED'

SUNNINGDALE, Eng., April 30.—(AP.)—Plans of the American women golfers for a practice round today were disrupted by one of the greatest gatherings of photographers on record. Instead of playing golf, Glenna Collett and her companions were obliged to make hundreds of practice shots for the benefit of the camera men.

Helen Hicks was one of the most photographed of the group. She played shots from bushes, bunkers and hillsides while the camera men shouted "more."

The players spent practically the entire morning with the photographers, and it was well into the afternoon before they were able to begin serious preparation for the team matches against British women tomorrow.

The match will consist of five foursomes and ten singles with the foursomes in the morning and the singles in the afternoon.

Miss Collett, the American champion, will use all 17 of the players on her squad while Molly Gourlay, captain of the home forces, will call on only 11.

For the Americans only Miss Collett, Virginia Van Wie and Maureen Orcutt will play in both the foursomes and singles. For the English team, nine of the 10 foursomes players will compete in singles, Mrs. Latham Hall giving way to Doris Chambers in the singles. The pairings follow.

Foursomes—Glenna Collett, New York, and Marion Bennett, New Britain, Conn., vs. Molly Gourlay and Enid Wilson, England; Virginia Van Wie, Chicago, and Virginia Holzerber, Baltimore, vs. Mrs. J. H. Watson and Jean McCulloch, England; Maureen Orcutt, Englewood, N. J., and Rosalie Knapp, New York, vs. Miss D. Pearson and Phyllis Lobbett, England; Mrs. Lee Mida, Chicago, and Frittzi Stifel, Wheeling, W. Va., vs. Doris Park and Diana Fishwick, England; Mrs. R. A. Martell, Hartford, Conn., and Peggy Watties, Buffalo, vs. Miss E. Corlett and Mrs. Latham Hall, England.

Singles—Miss Collett vs. Miss Gourlay; Miss Orcutt vs. Mrs. Watson; Miss Van Wie vs. Miss Wilson; Miss Hicks vs. Miss McCulloch; Mrs. O. S. Hill, Kansas City, vs. Miss Corlett; Edith Quier, Reading, Pa., vs. Miss Pearson; Bernice Wall, Dubuque, Ia., vs. Miss Park; Mrs. Stewart Hanley, Detroit, vs. Miss Lobbett; Mrs. Lee Federman, New York, vs. Miss Fishwick; Louise Fordyce, Youngstown, Ohio, vs. Doris Chambers.

BASKETBALL RULES.

The basketball rules committee at its annual meeting did nothing about the tip-off or the stalling game. With the A. A. U., Y. M. C. A., colleges, high schools and officials' associations represented, there were some 30-odd men on hand. It doesn't take a master mind to see that so large a body must be cumbersome, unwieldy and inefficient.

Knute Rockne

The National Basketball Coaches' Association at its meeting had some fine constructive legislation in mind which was entirely lost in the big meeting. Perhaps a committee appointed by the National Collegiate Association, joined by some representative high school coaches, could sit in session and turn out some rules which would be far more satisfactory than the present code. It could not be any worse.

W. Va. School Boy Hurls Perfect Game

FLEMINGTON, W. Va., April 30.—(AP.)—The perfect game, so rare in baseball, was accomplished by Pitcher McIntyre and his Lumberport High School team in a Central High School League game here yesterday. Lumberport won the game 9 to 0, and not a Flemington player reached first base.

McIntyre did not allow a hit and only 21 men faced him in the seven innings played.

THE LOWDOWN ON THE BUCS

By THE BENCHWARMER.

CHICAGO, April 30. — Well, folks, Jule has the team up there o top today and I want to tell you the Pirates looked like champs today doing their stuff coming from behind. Remember yesterday I was telling about Pie Traynor saying that a guy is good when he can get up off the floor and win like Tunney did? That's how the team acted in the third battle.

We were licked the day before yesterday and was six runs behind yesterday when we began to tramp on them bears. There's a lot of moaning on their bench these days, and I think they are still shooting at Gus Suhr. Gus went down a couple of more times yesterday, but the Chicago pitchers were so afeared of him they walked him five times. I think when a fellow gets on base five times through having a good eye he ought to get some kind of credit in the hitting column.

STEVE LOOKS GREAT

I think the best looking pitcher of the year is Steve Swetonic. Wisl you could have seen that boy working on Hornsby and Wilson in the sixth. Steve went right down the line with Hornsby. There were three on, only one out and a homer needed to tie the score. It's not hard for Rogers to park one in the right field

Crocker, Rainville Win in Tryouts

TORONTO, April 30.—(AP.)—Willard Crocker, No. 2 in the Dominion rankings, and Marcel Rainville, No. 7, were victors in the first two matches of the Canadian Davis Cup tennis tryouts here yesterday.

Crocker defeated Leroy Rennis, of Toronto 10-8, 9-7, 6-3 and Rainville conquered Walter Martin, of Regina, 7-5, 6-4, 6-3.

Dr. Jack Wright, Canadian champion, and Gilbert Nunns, of Toronto, already have been picked for the team but will work out during the present trials.

BULLETIN.

CHICAGO, April 30.—A heavy downpour started at noon here today, and indications are that the fourth and final game of the Pirates-Cubs series, scheduled for this afternoon, will be rained out.

By CHARLES J. BOYLE.
Staff Correspondent.

CHICAGO, April 30.—The satisfying first-place spice was upon the Pirates this morning, and, to steal a good line from our host, Mr. Wrigley, let us hope the flavor lasts. Manager Jewel Ens and his hustlers are tickled to reach the crest.

The fighting antics of the Bucros since the season opened was crowned yesterday with a big victory that displaced the Giants in the fight for first place. The score of the engagement at Wrigley Field was 13 to 9.

JONES TO START.

Skipper Ens has a surprise in store for the Bears this afternoon. Jewel will force the home batters to swing at the offerings of one Percy Lee Jones, who for quite a few seasons drew a monthly paycheck countersigned by Mr. Wrigley.

A sudden scarcity of pitchers caused Ens to nominate Jones, who, by the way, will have to try conclusions with Pat Malone, erstwhile son of Altoona.

Steve Swetonic was picked in advance for the fourth and last game of the series, but North Side Steve had to enact a hero role to get the Pirates out of the slough despond yesterday and he worked so hard through so many rounds that he would be unfit for

'BIG INNINGS' DECIDE WILD SLUGFESTS

ROBINS, PHILS, NATS, MACKS, TRIBE COP

Associated Press.

The idea of having one big inning to win a baseball game seems to be coming more and more into favor in the major leagues either by accident or intent. The sluggers of the big leagues, now finding their batting eyes rapidly after a rather slow start, are becoming a group of opportunists pounding out enough runs to gain the victory at the moment the opposing pitcher weakens.

The seven big league games played yesterday gave just one set of illustrations of this fact out of the many that have turned up lately. Three of these seven were decided directly by the one big inning, while the same factor had an important bearing on the result of the Brooklyn-New York Giant slugging match, in which most of the innings were big ones. The Cincinnati Reds and St. Louis Cardinals had no chance to hit, due to wet grounds.

The Robins and the Giants carried the idea to its limit as Brooklyn won for the second time in a row by a score of 19 to 15. Brooklyn scored 11 runs off four Giant pitchers in the second frame only to have the Manhattan warriors come back with a nine-run third frame.

BIG FRAME FOR PHILS

Philadelphia's National League Club likewise won an entire game in one inning with the Boston Braves as their victims. After seven scoreless stanzas of a duel between Ray Benge of the Phillies, and Bob Smith of Boston, Philadelphia suddenly started hitting in the eight to score all its runs in an 8-to-2 triumph.

The Pittsburgh Pirates gave the Chicago Cubs seven runs in the first three innings and got them all back in one to beat the National League champions, 13 to 9. The Pirates picked up a few runs first, but it was the seven counters in the sixth that gave them their ninth victory in 11 games and put them at the top of the National League standing.

The Washington Senators produced the only big inning in the four American League games to win their eighth in a row and make their winning streak the longest either major league has seen this year. They also gave away seven runs in three innings then tied the score in the third as they pounded Tom Zachary and Roy Sherid from the mound and went on to defeat the New York Yankees, 11 to 8. Five Yankee errors contributed to New York's downfall, three of them contributing to the Senator rally.

A'S TOP RED SOX

The champion Philadelphia Athletics were content to get their runs in pairs, but, led by Al Simmons and Mickey Cochrane, they got four twosomes and a single to beat the Boston Red Sox, 9 to 5.

Old Red Faber, of the Chicago White Sox, brought forth one of the day's two good pitching feats as Chicago downed the Detroit Tigers, 8 to 6. Faber went the full nine innings and, although he gave 14 hits, he fanned seven and had the backing of two home runs by Carl Reynolds and one by Bill Cissell.

Cleveland's 6-to-4 victory over the St. Louis Browns had the one thousand one hundred and first consecutive appearance of Joe Sewell as its feature, although he had nothing to do with the triumph. Joe was in no shape to play, as he has been running a high temperature for two days, but he has missed only one game since he joined the Indians 10 years ago and wanted to preserve his record. Johnny Hodapp's home run in the third, the first one hit by a Cleveland player this season, was the leading factor in the overthrow of the Browns.

GALLANT FOX

As a result of his smashing victory in the Wood Memorial stake at a mile and 70 yards at Jamaica Saturday, with Earl Sande in the saddle, Gallant Fox now reigns the outstanding choice to win the Kentucky Derby, May 17. Bookies have cut his price from 8 to 1 to 4 to 1. Crack Brigade and Desert Light, Derby eligibles, finished second and third, respectively in the test race.

MAXIE, TUFFY FAVORITES

NEW YORK, April 30.—(INS.)—Daring New York gentlemen, who make odds on boxing bouts, today were willing to lay 11-to-5 that Maxie Rosenbloom, New York light-heavyweight, will defeat Larry Johnson, Chicago Negro, in their 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden tonight. The match is a return affair, Rosenbloom having claimed a foul in their first encounter.

BIG GATE IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, April 30.—(INS.)—Tuffy Griffiths, Chicago heavyweight contender, meets Jack Gagnon, the Boston fighter, here tonight in a 10-round return bout, which may decide Griffith's pugilistic future.

Griffith, intent on revenge for the knockout defeat Gagnon handed him in Philadelphia, ruled an 8-to-5 favorite.

A $60,000 gate was indicated, when the advance sale surpassed $45,000.

New Carnera Discovered In Italy

VOLTABAROZZO, Italy, April 30.—(AP.)—In Giovannia Camporese, of this township, a toolmaker, 22 years old and 6 feet 6 inches tall, weighing 242 pounds, after a month's intensive training, boxing promoters of nearby Padua, home of the gentle St. Anthony, believe they have found a second Primo Carnera.

Camporese completed his service with the Mountain Artillery two months ago. His comrades aver that his favorite sport while with the colors was presenting arms with a barrel of a 75 mm. field piece or holding five husky soldiers in a pyramid on his massive shoulders.

He now is undergoing a more intensive training and is said to be developing considerable aggressiveness, speed and ring generalship. He expects to have his first fight about two months hence.

SHARKEY ALTERS CAMP PLANS

BOSTON, April 30.—(INS.)—Jack Sharkey today changed his mind again and announced he would not do all his training in Boston for his milk fund bout in New York, June 12, against Max Schmeling. He plans to establish a camp in Orangeburgh, N. Y., and will start daily workouts there May 12.

At the same time Sharkey said he would ask William F. Carey, president of Madison Square Garden, to make an effort to match him in 1931 for a bout with Gene Tunney or Jack Dempsey.

"I have studied Schmeling's style, and, being confident I can lick him, I would like to meet Tunney or Dempsey next year," Sharkey said. He added a Dempsey-Sharkey bout, either in New York or Chicago, would attract a record gate.

Helene Madison Sets Coast Record

SEATTLE, April 30.—(AP.)—Although disappointed because she failed to break her own world record of 60 4-5 seconds for the women's 100-yard free style swimming event, Helene Madison, of Seattle, will start training immediately for the national outdoor championships in Los Angeles next July.

In the century distance of the Pacific Northwest swimming championships here last night, Miss Madison established a new Pacific coast record of 61 2-5 seconds, but failed to lower her world mark.

SOCCER FINAL OFFICIAL NAMED

By TOM BIRKS

Jimmy McFarland, of Cleveland, vice president of the United States Soccer Referees' Union, has been named to officiate at the national amateur soccer cup final game at the Westinghouse High School Stadium Saturday afternoon, when the Fall River Raffies, of Fall River, Mass., eastern elimination winner, meets the Gallatin club, winners in the west, for the amats title.

McFarland is very popular in Pittsburgh and is one of the most capable officials in the Middle West. He refereed the national challenge cup final games last season in New York and St. Louis.

This will be the first time in soccer history that two teams from the same town appear in the professional and amateur finals. Fall River's professional aggregation recently won the professional title by defeating the Bruells, of Cleveland, and now the Raffies are anxious to take home the amateur title.

Gallatin, however, is following in the footsteps of Heidelberg, and it will be a determined bunch of Pittsburgh soccer boys who will try to hold the cup in Pittsburgh for another year. Heidelberg, the present titleholder, did not defend the title this season.

Gallatin plays exactly the same type of American soccer that enabled Heidelberg to cop two national titles.

President Armstrong Patterson, of Detroit; Vice President William Angus, of Cleveland; John J. MacEwan, of Cleveland, national amateur secretary, will be here for the game. The kick-off will be at 4 p. m., daylight saving time.

Knockouts Feature Etna Elks' Bouts

A pair of knockouts featured the amateur boxing show staged last night by the Etna Elks Lodge No. 932. The show was the second of the season sponsored by the Etna lodge, and provided eight good bouts.

The first K. O. was scored by Tony Savilla, Homewood Progressive Club, who stopped Herman LeDone, of the Ninth Ward A. A., in the second round. Butch Jacobs of the Hogan A. C., won by a technical knockout over Terry Adams, of the Superior A. C., in the first round. The summary:

112-pound class—Lawrence Lyons, Willow Club, won from Elmon Burns, Superior A. C., three rounds.

147-pound class—Jimmy Davis, Superior A. C., won from Dick Graham, Willow Club, three rounds.

160-pound class—Chuck Mullins, Willow Club, won from Eddie Peterson, Superior A. C., three rounds; Butch Lenzie, Hogan A. C., won from Jerry Adams, Superior A. C., technical kayo one round.

Kennywood Park Meet Events Listed

Entry blanks now are ready for the annual Marathon race and track meet to be held at Kennywood Park, on Memorial Day, May 30. The Marathon race will start downtown and finish in Kennywood Park. It is a handicap affair. The track and field events are as follows:

100-yard novice race, 100-yard handicap, one-mile run handicap, 220-yard handicap, 440-yard handicap, 880-yard handicap, running broad jump, running high jump and 16-pound shot put handicap.

Prizes will be awarded in all the events and a point trophy will be awarded the club scoring the greatest number of points in the track and field events.

Entries close on May 24.

EDWARDS BEATS HERMAN

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., April 30.—Freddie Edwards, of Chester, W. Va., defeated Jackie Herman, of Wheeling, in an eight-round bout here last night. In the semi-final, of six rounds, Ross Fields, Weirton, defeated Stan Ketchel. Kenny Davis, East Liverpool, defeated Kid Ritter, Sebring, in the four-round second bout, while Jackie Miller, Alliance, drew with Young Dorsey, Salem, in four rounds.

P. Waner Slips From Big Six Swat Lead

Associated Press.

Only a few of baseball's Big Six profited from the heavy hitting in yesterday's games. Al Simmons and Babe Ruth led the clouters for the day, but George Fisher went back into the lead without lifting a bat. Simmons got four hits in five attempts against the Red Sox, while Ruth connected for three doubles in four times at bat against Washington to join the .300 hitters for the first time this season.

Simmons shot his average up to .425, but he could not keep pace with Charley Jamieson, of Cleveland, who hit three times in as many attempts to regain the leadership of the American League and membership in the Big Six with an average of .429. While Fisher was idle at Cincinnati, Paul Waner failed to hit in four times at bat against the Cubs and dropped to second place with a .452 average. Rogers Hornsby, with one hit, went down to .238. The standings:

Fever May Snap Joe Sewell's Games' String

ST. LOUIS, April 30.—(AP.)—Joe Sewell's endurance record, which has reached a total of 1,101 games, was in danger of coming to an end today as the result of a high fever. The veteran infielder got his name into yesterday's box score, despite 102 degrees of temperature, which has been raging since the Cleveland Indians came here for the series with the Browns. Sewell took part only as a batter in the first inning. He grounded out, Burnett taking his place at third.

Manager Peckinpaugh won't know until game time today whether the Alabaman will participate in the finale of the series. Sewell's ailment was described as similar to influenza.

The present record is held by Everett Scott, also an infielder, who played in 1,307 consecutive games from June 20, 1916, to May 5, 1925.

JONES TO FACE CUBS TODAY

action today. The absence of Ervin Brame, who went to Tennessee to attend the funeral of his father, tended to cause a shortage in first-string pitchers.

Out of a welter of high spots yesterday was the first National League victory to come to Lief Erickson, the lanky kid left-hander who pitched a while in the middle of the game. Swetonic really deserved the triumph for his brilliant rescue act, but Steve is not the sort to begrudge another the sweets, especially a youngster. The rules of scoring provide that Erickson be given the verdict, although the Pirates seemed to be in a very bad way when the native son walked to the hill and fanned Rogers Hornsby with the bases filled and only one out.

The Buccos had a four-run lead at the time, but Steve had to take Hornsby and Wilson out of the picture. This he did with consummate grace. Steve fanned Hornsby again in an emergency of the eighth inning.

Lester Bell, of Harrisburg, almost sank the Pirates single-handed in the third when he nicked Remy Kremer for a homer with the bases loaded. The Cubs were out in front with a six-run lead on top of this wallop, but Sheriff Blake, hampered by poor support, could not withhold the invaders. The Sheriff was driven to shelter in the sixth when the Pirates made seven runs.

BOOTS HIT TIMELY

Boots Grantham's two-sacker with the bases loaded and two out was a telling punch against the Cubs in the big round. Boots nicked Lynn Nelson for his smashing drive against the right field bleachers. The Pirate second baseman thus discounted some loose fielding on his part earlier in the game.

Grantham and Charlie Engle, who also hit with exceeding timeliness, came out of the long battle with four hits each, while Gus Suhr established at least a season's record in the majors by drawing five bases on balls from a flock of Chicago hurlers. In all the Buccos garnered 16 safeties.

Kremer was among the missing after pitching three rounds. Erickson made his major league debut in the fourth and went along in fine stride until the Pirates had taken the lead. The youngster wabbled in the sixth and Swetonic rushed to the scene. Steve again looked like one of the game's leading sharp-shooters as he put the quietus on the Cubs.

seats, but with three balls and two strikes he let a strike float over and took the long walk back to the bench.

Steve made Hack send one up to Suhr and the inning was over without giving the Cubs a run. Steve was in a little jam again in the eighth when Heathcote got on base on an error. He fanned Hornsby again with three and two on Rogers. Rolly Hemsley threw a strike over second and Dick tagged out Cliff for a slick double play.

NEED PAY CHECK

Well, we're due back in Pittsburgh just in time to drawn down the old pay check. I'm not the kind of a bird that's always waiting for the first and the fifteenth, but the check tomorrow will be in the nick of time to keep me from touching somebody for a loan and I haven't done that yet. If we go home in first place, maybe the club will buy us new straw hats, but I don't want to be throwing hints at anybody. Looks to me as if McGraw will be buying us pitchers some helmets after that game yesterday.

Some of us young fellows thought the club would be handing out the three dollars, six bits for meal money here, but we're on the American plan and a fella has to leave a tip out of his own pocket. That's one reason why some of us are waiting on the pay check. But when you're winnin' you don't mind anything like that. There's been quite a lot of jockey stuff going on in this series and I guess Larry and I will have a few things to say in the last game.

SHOW PRIZES ANNOUNCED

Prizes and trophies, the value of which will aggregate $10,000, and a list of 70 competitive classes have been announced for the annual Allegheny Country Club horse show, scheduled for June 5, 6 and 7.

In addition to the trophies and cash awards, ribbons will be awarded for the first half dozen places; blue for first, red for second, yellow for third, white for fourth and green for fifth and sixth.

C. L. Cook, Shelbyville, Ky.; W. C. Stevenson and Arthur White, of Middleburg, Va., and Turner Wilshire, one of the best known steeplechase owners in the country, will have entries in the Sewickley show.

The Sad Case of Mr. X

"To think that I should ever have come to this," moaned Mr. X. "I've tramped all over this bloomin' town lookin' for work, and I haven't found a thing."

Poor Mr. X! Why didn't he read the Sun-Telegraph Classified Ads? There he could have quickly found what positions were open and where they were, and saved himself all that disheartening search from place to place.

fraternity by scoring a technical kayo over Griffiths in six rounds. According to the ancient rule, Griffiths would not be able to escape a second trimming tonight, but there is a strong chance that he will reverse the result of the first bout and defeat Gagnon by a decision on points at least, if not inside the limit. Tuffy looks to have altogether too much class for Gagnon, and it would require a second decisive victory for Jack to prove that the first was not merely a Queensberry accident.

Tuffy Griffiths.

WHILE GRIFFITHS AND Gagnon are battling in Chicago, another return match of general interest will be holding the boards in New York tonight. Maxie Rosenbloom, who won from Larry Johnson last month on a foul, is to meet the Chicago Negro again and may be hard pressed to escape defeat. Rosenbloom can fight, no doubt about that, and his style makes him a hard man for an opponent to reach with an effective blow. But don't underestimate Johnson or his possibilities. He is a real fighter and Rosenbloom will have to step his fastest to add another victory to the six straight he has scored in Madison Square Garden against Joe Sekyra, James J. Braddock, Yale Okun, Leo Lomski, Ace Hudkins and Johnson.

GUS SUHR, Pirate first sacker, did not equal the major league record when he drew five bases on balls in yesterday's game, but he fell only one short of doing so. The high mark is six, set by Walter Wilmot, of the Chicago Nationals, on August 22, 1891. But Suhr is the first player ever to get five walks while playing in a Pittsburgh uniform, though Ira Flagstead, now a Buccaneer, did it while playing for the Boston Red Sox in 1925.

Eleven other big leaguers have drawn five passes in a game since Wilmot set his record—Sammy Strang, Kid Elberfeld, Charley Hemphill, Tris Speaker, Roger Peckinpaugh, Whitey Witt, Sam Mertes, Heinie Groh, Hugh Critz, Melvin Ott and Max Bishop. Both Ott and Bishop broke into the list last year.

SCHENLEY, OLIVER NINES WIN LEAGUE FRAYS

M'KEES ROCKS, SCOTT HIGH ADVANCE

Schenley became more firmly intrenched in first place in Section I and Oliver advanced a step nearer the banner in Section II as results of yesterday's scholastic diamond tussles in the City League.

Champions of the section and the league for the past three years, the Bellefielders walloped Peabody, undefeated up until yesterday, 16 to 3. Six runs in the second inning put the game away for Schenley, but the Oakland sluggers continued to pound away at the offerings of the East End hurlers until the score became all out of proportion. Moran led the attack of the victors, hammering out five safe hits. Schenley obtained 14 safe blows in all, while Sidunicki limited Peabody to a pair.

OLIVER WINS

Oliver, fielding well and hitting at the right moments behind sterling hurling by Carmody, downed Langley 4 to 2. The defeat was the second in a row for last year's Section II champions. Carmody fanned eight Langley batters.

Flowry, of Ralston and Camino, of Vocational, each struck out 10 batsmen as Ralston pushed the North Side aggregation into the Section I cellar with a 2-to-0 defeat.

SOUTH HILLS LOSES

In another Section II fracas, Allegheny put a further damper on South Hills' hopes of a sectional flag by defeating the Tunnelites 6 to 5.

Scott High of North Braddock, W. P. I. A. L. defending champion, continued its quest of a second league title by defeating Edgewood 7 to 2. Kliskey struck out 15 as North Braddock triumphed. In a second Section II contest, Rankin defeated Wilkinsburg in a nip and tuck struggle, 7 to 6.

McKEES ROCKS COPS

In Section I, McKeesport put an effective stop to Turtle Creek's try for an undefeated record by defeating Foxy Miller's nine, 7 to 6. In Section III, McKees Rocks won its second game in a row, downing Mt. Lebanon, 8 to 3, and Crafton turned back Dormont by a 6-to-0 score. Hazernick turned in a fine three-hit shutout triumph for the West Enders.

Shady Side Academy made it three straight by downing Sacred Heart High, 12 to 2, on the Academy grounds. Ford City continued to grace the win column with a 5-to-1 victory over Pitcairn. The box scores:

Memory of Pongo Joe to Be Honored

CHICAGO, April 30.—(AP.)—A popular subscription has been started among baseball players, fans and sports writers to honor the memory of the late Pongo Joe Cantillon, one of the most picturesque figures of the national pastime.

Donations will be spent in establishing a bed in some hospital where any needy baseball player can be cared for free.

Cantillon was in baseball for more than 40 years as player, umpire and manager. At the time of his death last winter, he was umpire-in-chief of the American Association.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 30. — (AP.) — Spug Meyers, Idaho welterweight, outpointed Joe Rivers, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, in a 10-round boxing contest here last night.

WOLFF WINS

NEW YORK, April 30.—(AP.)—Allie Wolff, Brooklyn, knocked out George Deschner, of Newark, in the fifth round of a scheduled six-round fight here last night.

DOUBLE WINDUP AT GARDEN TONIGHT

By HARRY KECK.

An attractive double windup card is offered the local boxing fans at Duquesne Garden tonight.

Young Saylor, of Charleroi, who knocked out Mickey Solomon, of New Castle in his most recent start, at the Moose Temple, and Freddie Mueller, of Buffalo, a veteran, who has boxed many of the leading lightweights and welterweights, meet in the top number, and Benny Schwartz, of Baltimore, and Marty Gold, of Philadelphia, crack bantams, furnish the other 10-rounder.

Gold recently upset the dope by staying 10 rounds with Jackie Rodgers and giving him a good fight at the Moose Temple, while Schwartz is fighting his way back toward a return bout with Rodgers, who knocked him out in the first round at Motor Square Garden after Benny previously had beaten him at the Bridgeville Speedway.

In the two preliminaries tonight, Peaches Gallagher, of Swissvale, will give Jimmy Perry, of Alliance, O., a chance to redeem himself for a six-round knockout defeat in their first meeting in the same ring last Wednesday night, and Jackie Murray, Negro welterweight, of the Hill, will oppose Gene Reed, of Charleroi.

Marty Gold

Between Rounds

Harry (Kid) Wallace, of Philadelphia, newest protege of James (Red) Marsh, a few to town today for his bout with Farmer Joe Cooper, Turtle Mayor (Ind.), veteran, at the Moose Temple, Friday night. Cooper, well up in some time tomorrow. Promoter Flynn yesterday completed the card for the show by signing Ted Tansey, ace boy from Rudy at Washington, Pa. Monday night he took Billy Ball, hard hitting Negro pilot of Canton, O., in the semi-final, and Johnny Walter, amateur star of Clairton, to meet Sammy Penn, of Steubenville, in the second bout. Eddie Thomas, of the Hill, will box the Grips Kid, of Beaver Falls, in the opening number.

Andy Tomenky, of Wilmerding, reports that he is laid up with an infected right foot, which is the reason he was unable to go through with a bout on the card tonight. Andy, former Pitcairn high star, is the brother, who did following a bout with George Tomenky, holder of Andy.

Phil Goldstein, local lightweight, now fighting out of Cleveland, is vacationing with Jess Goodman, his stablemate, with the latter's folks in Richmond, Va.

Big return bouts are booked in New York and Chicago tonight. Maxie Rosenbloom and Larry Johnson do the honors in the former citadels and Jack Gardner and Teddy Griffiths in the latter. Rosenbloom won on an alleged foul and Griffiths was the victim of an upset knockout defeat in the first skirmish.

Johnny Dunn and Jackie Rodgers will meet at 126 pounds, give or take a pound or two, Chief Quash, at Motor Square Garden, next Monday night. Dunn scaled 125½ pounds for his bout with Andy Martin at Duquesne Garden last Wednesday night, and was not shaking weight on that occasion, as Martin scaled 127 pounds on the limit. Johnny weighed only 119½ pounds when he first defeated Rodgers, at the Moose Temple, and he came in at 122 for their second bout, at New Kensington. Rodgers has been doing his best fighting recently at around 124 pounds.

Benny Schwartz weighed 119 pounds when he finished working out yesterday for his bout with Marty Gold tonight. He weighed 120½ for his recent battle with Jackie Rodgers and 117½ when he won over Rodgers last summer. Benny does his best fighting at between 117 and 119 pounds and feels he will be right for his tussle tonight.

Since Gene Stanton, young Cleveland heavyweight, defeated Emmett Simon at Akron last week, they're trying to arrange a Stanton-Johnny Risko go at Shelby. Frankie Simms beat in Cleveland. Either would be a natural.

Battling Battalino, the featherweight champion, proved that he is a much better boxer than he is generally credited with being when he defeated Bobby Gleason in a bout at Hartford, Conn., the other night.

Billy Jones, Pittsburgh-born Negro lightheavyweight star, hoses Sam Weiss at the Broadway Club in Philadelphia tomorrow night. Gabe Bagdad meets Carmen Sorg-nolfo at the Cadillac A. C. in the same city Friday night, with Lew Lafferty and Tommy Sharkey boxing the semi-final.

Joe Glick and Jimmy Reed are matched for a bout at Dayton, O., May 21.

Eddie Mead is president of the new club that will hold outdoor shows in the Taylor Bowl, Cleveland, this summer. Walter Taylor will be matchmaker.

SHOOT AT HOMESTEAD

The Homestead District Gun Club will hold a practice shoot tomorrow evening at 6:30.

Boxing Bouts Carded for Tonight

Freddie Mueller vs. Young Saylor and Benny Schwartz vs. Marty Gold, 10 rounds each, and Frankie Gallagher vs. Jimmy Perry and Jackie Murray vs. Gene Reed, 6 rounds each, Duquesne Garden.

W. Va. Track Squad Will Be Divided

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., April 30.—(AP.)—West Virginia University's track and field squad which meets Geneva College today at Beaver Falls, Pa., on Saturday probably will be divided into two teams, one group going to Columbus, O., to compete in the Ohio State relays, while the other will travel to Buckhannon, W. Va., to meet West Virginia Wesleyan in a dual match.

Stark Resigns National League Ump Post

NEW YORK, April 30.—(AP.)—Albert D. (Dolly) Stark, known as the youngest and one of the fastest umpires in the major leagues, resigned his position on the National League staff yesterday. He said he felt the nervous strain of umpiring was too great. His resignation was accepted by President John Heydler with regret.

As varsity basketball coach at Dartmouth in the winter and a big league umpire the rest of the year, Dolly doubled in the two sports with great success. He stands high in college athletic circles and in his National League debut last season at the age of 30 he made an instant hit.

JACKET PAIR WINS

Swanson and Palach fought [illegible] from the rear in both brackets to down Joe O'Neill and Phil Casey 6-3 13-11 in the second two-man debate. The lobbing and accurate volleying of Palach determined the issue, though not before Casey had ripped off a host of scintillating forehand passing shots that bode well for the success of his comeback after a two-year layoff. NET TOURNEY BODY NAMED

The executive committee of the forty-second annual Western Pennsylvania tennis championships met in special session at noon yesterday and named the following general committee to function in connection with the various labors collateral to the running of a sectional tournament: Ed D. Reitz, chairman, J. P. Davis, University Club; E. Bruce Hill and J. P. Davis, Stanton Heights; Jack Lauler, P. A. A. G. A. Sawin, Westinghouse; W. Russell Unger, Mt. Lebanon; Howard E. Campbell, College Hill; Frank S. Smith and Paul Hicks, Edgewood; James F. Creighton, South Hills; J. Howard Moore, College Avenue; K. F. McNutt, Philadelphia Company; John Fyfe, Washington Heights; Charles D. Lyon, West Penn Power; Sam Keller, Duquesne Library; James MacKay, Minnetonka, and Dr. G. H. Kirkpatrick, Wilkinsburg.

Optimistic reports upon the annual Pittsburgh Tennis Association smoker, billed for the P. A. A. next Tuesday evening, were received. Full quota of league netmen will be on deck, and a host of veterans of the old days will be back.

Ray Fay Stopped By Patsy Perroni

MASSILLON, O., April 30.—(AP.)—Patsy Perroni, Canton heavyweight, scored a technical knockout over Ray Fay, of Charleroi, Pa., last night in the fourth round of their scheduled 10-round bout when Fay's seconds tossed the towel in after he had gone down three times for counts.

LEFTY O'DOUL — BABE HERMAN

Two star sluggers of the National League meet again. They engaged in a hot duel for the batting supremacy of the older major circuit last year, with O'Doul finishing on top. Lefty is one of the many shouting stars of the Phillies. Babe is the ace of the Robins.

STOGIES' TEAM REDUCED

WHEELING, April 30.—The axe fell in the Stogie training camp yesterday and Manager Bob Pryor cut 11 rookies from the camp roster. Those released were mostly pitchers and catchers. Thirty more recruits in camp but more will be released this week.

The players given their releases were Wheeler, Bridgeport, Ohio; Giddens, Windy Ridge, Pa.; Kojac, Pittston, Pa.; Elwood, Washington; Moore, Detroit, Mich.; Wallace, Bellaire, Ohio, all pitchers and Windle, Barberton, Ohio; Doug Hemsley, Syracuse, Ohio; Gill, Barnesville, Ohio; Hudson, New Castle, Pa., catchers, and Pasquale, an infielder from Akron.

The Stogies play the Homestead Grays in an exhibition game here Sunday afternoon.

Verona Community Tops Stowe Civics

Verona Community got out its war clubs last evening at Verona to smash out an 8-to-1 victory over Stowe Civics, of the City League. Jim Dempsey twirled for the West Penn Leaguers, and allowed only four hits. Pop Geer started Chuck Dunn, but four runs in the second inning found Leo Carroll on the mound. Wojanis finished the game. Stowe gathered its lone run in the last inning.

Beaver Valley Country Club.

HO! HO! Westward, Ho! That's the place that gave us our Walter Andrews, pro at the Beaver Valley Country Club. It's a town in Devonshire, England, and the same place he served six years' apprenticeship as a clubmaker. Coming to this country, Walter worked as private instructor for an American family after which he branched out as pro greenkeeper. Walter Andrews in Keokuk, Ia., where he met the present Mrs. Andrews. He was considered a good player when he came to the U. S., but he concentrated upon teaching, and neglected his own game. These words tell that tale:

"I really enjoy giving lessons and to watch the progress of my pupils."

As a youngster Walter was interested in tennis, cricket, football, lacrosse, hockey and other games, and claims this experience has helped him in the golf profession. He thinks he inherited the knack for the game, his grandfather having been a pro before he was born, being the first at Westward Ho! in the 70's. Walter's father also was a pro and brought his four sons up with a real knowledge of the game. Andrews is enthusiastic over his junior members, and never has seen so much interest taken in the game by youngsters.

Braves to Talk To Veterans Tomorrow

Talks by members of the Boston Braves Baseball Club will feature an entertainment for patients in the U. S. Veterans' Hospital at Aspinwall tomorrow evening. The event, to be staged in the hospital's recreation hall, has been arranged by A. K. (Rosy) Roswell, who is to act as master of ceremonies.

One of the patients in the Aspinwall institution is H. J. (Bud) Gilson, who played with Rabbit Maranville and Hank Gowdy when he was with the Braves in 1920 and 1921, and who was a member of Maranville's Atlantic Fleet All-Star U. S. Navy team in 1918. Gilson later played in the South Atlantic, Florida State and South-Eastern Leagues.

In the days of the old Inter-County League, Gilson was the shortstop of the Air Brake team of Wilmerding, along with Red Gannon, McAvoy, Kimmick, Artman, Jackie Adams, Butch Ewing and other stars of that team. Gilson's home is in Pitcairn.

BAMBINO FINDS LIVELY BALL UNCHANGED

By BABE RUTH.

Baseball's Highest Salaried Player.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—We [illegible] I see the boys have started the same old argument about the lively ball. Some of them say it has a rabbit in it and there are others who argue that the ball is not as lively this year as it was last. I've had a dozen letters about it already.

Bab. Ruth

The mere fact that there have been a lot of close-score games this season [illegible] ball's battery has caused many people to think that the ball isn't as lively. But I've noticed that there have been plenty of high-scoring games too, to offset that. Personally, I don't think the ball has been deadened this year and I don't think it was pepped up last season. Nor do I think that the lively ball has had a great deal to do with the heavy hitting of the past few seasons. There are three or four other things that had much more to do with it.

UMPS HELP PITCHERS

For instance this season I notice the umpires have been leaving balls in the game longer. They're not so particular about dirty spots on the leather and they're giving pitchers a chance to throw something besides nice new white baseballs all the time. Which is a break for the pitchers. Give any pitcher an old ball to throw, let him toss up a ball that is a little bit soiled and a bit roughened and he'll make you forget all about that lively rabbit.

Here's another thing maybe you didn't know about. It used to be that balls were being hit down through the infield a mile a minute. This year on the Yankee infield at least those hits haven't been going through that way. Max Bishop, the little Philadelphia second baseman, mentioned it one day down on the beach. But come to find out that wasn't any change in the ball. What had happened was that the top-soil of the infield had been changed, a lot of black loam had been added and the whole infield slowed up. And I've got a hunch that has been done in a lot of parks. There are a lot of ways of taking the rabbit out of a baseball without changing the balls.

FISHER SURPRISES

There have been a lot of things happen in these early weeks of the season that have got the fans talking. The way that young Fisher is hitting the ball for the Cardinals is one of them. There's a funny thing. Here was a kid who looked like a step-child in spring practice—looked as though he didn't have a thing. Yet when he gets into the regular season he starts slugging like a whirlwind. It just goes to show how hard it is to dope ball players on their training season showing.

It's a funny thing about that National League race. Before the season opened it looked like the Cubs and Pirates would run away. Then the Pirates traded Grimes, Hornsby hurt his heel and is out of the game, McGraw's pitchers began to find themselves and now instead of a runaway it looks like a dog fight with anyone of five or six teams having a chance at the pennant. If Mac can continue to get good pitching from those left-handers of his, the Giants are likely to be right up there at the finish. Their pennant prospects look 100 per cent better right now than they did two weeks ago. Back of good pitching the boys are playing like champs. Take it from me, good pitching makes a difference all the way down the line.

And speaking of the National League, have you noticed the way Harry Heilman has been coming through for the Reds as a pinch hitter? Harry's legs may be gone, and he may have slowed up a lot, but he's still a mighty valuable man to have around.

FLOOD CONTROL FIGHT PUSHED

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Members of the Pittsburgh Flood Commission believe that Pittsburgh will lose its commanding position as the "Workshop of America" if flood protection is withheld in the Allegheny, Monongahela and upper Ohio River valleys. Their fears were expressed in briefs filed here yesterday with Maj. Gen. Brown, chief of United States Army engineers.

Wilmer M. Jacoby, a member of the board of the Inland Waterways Corporation, presented the briefs in behalf of George S. Davison, president of the Flood Commission.

The briefs state that the region is encountering increased difficulties in maintaining its industrial supremacy. The Pittsburgh industrial district will be heavily handicapped in meeting competition in coming decades if the remaining industrial sites are subject to flood menace, the commission believes.

CHOCOLATE GETS PURSE

TORONTO, April 30.—The Ontario Athletic Commission yesterday gave a clean bill of health to Kid Chocolate, following an investigation of charges that the fighter did not give his best in a bout with Johnny Erickson, of New York, here Monday. The commissioner turned over to Chocolate his share of the purse.

Many Contracts for Big Plants Being Placed

By B. C. FORBES

"THE BEST HANDLER of workmen in America as Charles A. Stone once described George O. Muhlfeld, Stone & Webster partner, tells me that contracts for very important construction jobs, both industrial and utility, have been pouring in lately in unusual volume. At least some of President Hoover's promises are handsomely performing.

Stone & Webster bring out their shingle as electrical engineers 41 years ago, after graduating from the first electrical engineering class conducted by Massachusetts Institute of Technology and were perhaps the first firm of their kind in America. Their pickings for some time were painfully lean. Their "force" originally consisted of one office boy who knew enough, when a prospective customer was in talking with one of the partners, to keep thumping a typewriter furiously to create an air of great business!

Last year the firm was capitalized at $100,000,000 and some of the shares offered to the public. The concern has built some of the largest public utility projects in the world. Also, the young electrical engineers had vision enough to foresee the potentialities of electric light and power and early began acquiring such properties. Both Charles Stone and Edward Webster long ago entered the millionaire class and raised several partners with them.

"Whenever we fall behind with any huge construction project," Mr. Stone once told me, "I know it will be finished on time if George Muhlfeld is available to put on the job. Within a week or will have every last workman brimful of enthusiasm, ready to sweat from top to toe to hurry the job along." Although a college man, George went through the hardest kind of hard work himself before his extraordinary aptitude for inspiring other fellows won him advancement.

Mr. Muhlfeld mentioned several new contracts ranging from $10,000,000 up. Naturally he feels that unemployment is certain to be greatly reduced from now on.

Such cheerful facts are welcome these days when pessimism is rife are they not?

SEVERAL READERS wanted to know what this paragraph in a recent column meant:

"High finance is prepared for rather wet weather before April ends, something more than light April showers."

What was meant was that high-ups expected a good many stocks to become "all wet" before April ended. Their prediction has been largely fulfilled. Monday's stock market was about the worst of any day this year. The rapidity with which leading stocks tumbled seriously disconcerted the bulls. Yesterday's market, however, showed some improvement toward the close.

I find that most leading financiers are still dubious about the immediate future of stock quotations. They have lately been selling rather than buying. But nearly all of them mean to rebuy later, because they feel that the market's main movement will be distinctly upwards before 1930 ends.

YOU AND I may think of electric railways as checkmated by motor buses and motor cars. It may astonish you to learn that last year they spent $680 a minute on new equipment and maintenance.

PRESIDENT E. H. BALLARD, of Southern California Edison, now in New York en route to Europe, tells me that his company is going right ahead as if Wall Street had never had a stock panic. Earnings are O. K.

ONE OF MY ASSOCIATES furnishes this item:

The daughter of a poor widow, after working for the telephone company for eight years, was taken ill and was ordered to leave her post every two hours to take certain medicine. Her department manager—perhaps not familiar with the circumstances—fired her. After a long struggle she found other employment, worked five weeks, became very ill, was taken to the hospital, where an operation revealed that she had cancer. When she returned home, very sick, some of her old telephone girl friends visited her and found her, of course, in dire need. The girls wanted to know why she had left her job. She explained that she had been dismissed.

One of the girls went to a high-up executive in the company, explained the facts, the department head was called on the carpet, the girl was reinstated and her salary paid from the day she was fired. She died shortly thereafter and the Telephone Company paid all the doctor and funeral expenses.

Not all large corporations are soulless.

FRANK O. WETMORE, chairman of the First National Bank, Chicago, when I made some reference to the activities of "big men" like himself, retorted:

"I want to tell you that, having been 44 years in the banking business, I am doing my best to get back to the little man stuff; that is, to flower gardens, trees, shrubs, etc., with a little golf thrown in now and then."

The longer I live the more convinced I become that any successful man of affairs who doesn't try to do likewise as he gets on in years, isn't so very wise. Give the young fellows a chance!

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Stocks See-Saw — Local List Irregular

STOCK MARKET MOVEMENTS ERRATIC

Prices Alternately Rise And Fall With Trading In Fairly Heavy Volume

NEW YORK, April 30.—(AP.)—The stock market was a two-sided affair again today, with the high-priced specialties, oils and public utilities presenting several points of strength, while renewed weakness developed in many of the steels, coppers and rails. Prices generally bounded upward at the start, ran into a storm of selling before midday, then made irregular recovery in the early afternoon, only to encounter renewed selling.

Trading was in fairly heavy volume, with the ticker again running several minutes behind the market until afternoon when the ticker caught up.

NEWS UNFAVORABLE

Unfavorable steel and copper trade news cast a damper on speculative enthusiasm. Pig iron prices were cut 50 cents a ton in the Chicago district, and the weekly Iron Age review stated that "price weakness in iron and steel has become more pronounced." Steel ingot production is estimated at 78 against 80 per cent a week ago. Copper prices broke sharply on the London Metal Exchange, leading to rather widespread expectations of a further cut here, probably to around 12 cents a pound.

U. S. Steel Common was carried down more than 4 points before it met effective buying support, despite the fact that the quarterly earnings reported late yesterday exceeded general expectations.

RAILS DECLINE

Rails continued to reflect the sharp drop in earnings and traffic as compared with the corresponding periods of recent years. Southern Railway fell nearly 4 points to a new low at 105¼ and Norfolk and Western, St. Louis and San Francisco and a few others sagged.

Practically all of the leading copper stocks sold at new low levels for the year.

J. I. Case, which was weak yesterday, received strong buying support, selling more than 11 points above yesterday's final quotation. American Machine and Foundry was whirled up nearly 10 points. American Tobacco issues jumped 8 points each to new high records for the year. Vanadium Steel, Eastman Kodak, Diamond Match, Ingersoll Rand, Allied Chemical, Houston Oil, A. M. Byers and Loews sold 4 to nearly 8 points higher, the last-named crossing 91 to a new peak. Jewel Tea rose 6 points to a new 1930 high.

April Call Money Under 4 Per Cent

NEW YORK, April 30.—The average renewal rate for call money in April was 4 per cent, compared with 3.726 per cent in March and 8.78 per cent in April last year. The high for call money in April this year was 4 per cent and the low 3½ per cent, as compared with a high of 16 per cent and a low of 7 per cent in April 1929.

Aircraft Abandons Suits Against N.A.T.

WILMINGTON, April 30.—Two suits filed by United Aircraft and Transport against the National Air Transport Company, Inc., were dismissed in Chancery Court here by consent of counsel for both sides.

July Sugar Sells At New Low Price

NEW YORK, April 30.—July sugar sold at 1.55 cents a pound at the opening call, a new low price for the length of the present contracts.

Pressed Steel Car Gets Large Order

Pressed Steel Car Company has received an order for 25 passenger coaches and five combination passenger and baggage cars from Central Railroad of New Jersey.

N. Y. Exchange Seat Sells at $479,000

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, April 30.—Cotton opened steady today at 40 an advance of 1 point on the new delivery contracts, but gradually eased 4 to 5 points lower. Active months showed net losses of 3 to 4 points soon after the call, there was some near month liquidation on the circulation of notices amounting to about 5,000 bales and may exceed to 10,000. The new October contract declined to 14.65c under realizing of local and commission house selling promoted by relatively easy rallies and a belief that rains and improved soil conditions in the southwest. Offerings were not heavy, however, and were well enough taken to steady the market up 2 of 3 points in the end of the first half hour.

Liverpool cables said local and foreign liquidation in that market had been taken by trade buying, but reported a perceptible cooling in the cotton cloth market. India business was at a standstill and yarns pressed for sale.

Trading was comparatively quiet later in the morning, but prices held steady on continued scattered covering of trade buying of near months while offerings were light. May sold up to 16.17c and the new October contract to 14.70c, making net advances of 2 to 5 points on the old crops and of 2 to 4 on the new. There was some cotton for sale on the bulges, however, and the market at midday showed reactions of a few points from the best.

LIVERPOOL, April 30.—Cotton spot dull; prices lower; American strict good middling, 9.47d; good middling, 9.12d; strict middling, 8.82d; middling, 8.67d; strict low middling, 8.27d; low middling, 7.72d; strict good ordinary, 7.02d; good ordinary, 6.62d. PLATE DEMAND HOLDS STEADY

CLEVELAND, April 30.—Structural shape inquiry is improving at a moderate rate in some districts but demand on the whole continues restricted to small tonnages, according to Daily Metal Trade. At Chicago, bridgework is more active than a year ago at this season while industrial and public works construction is approximating that of last year. Plate demand is steady and with the shipyards reporting the best business in years, good ship plate business is expected to come out shortly.

Business in bolts, nuts and rivets continues to show a moderate gain over that of March with specifications holding up at a good rate. Pig iron continues to move slowly, but the market is firm.

CAR LOADINGS SAG AGAIN

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Loading of revenue freight for the week ended on April 19 totaled 892,881 cars, the car service division of the American Railway Association announced today. This was a decrease of 18,429 cars under the preceding week, and a reduction of 112,999 cars below the same week in 1929. It also was a reduction of 52,408 cars under the same week in 1928.

Last week's report, covering loadings for the week ended April 12, showed a gain of 3,382 cars over the preceding week, but a decline of 61,842 from the corresponding week of 1929.

FIRE TWO MORE DONORA STACKS

DONORA, Pa., April 30.—The Donora plant of the American Steel and Wire Company will fire two additional open hearth furnaces at once, with the expectation that by the end of the week 11 of the 13 furnaces will be in operation. This makes an increase of four furnaces within two weeks.

It is understood heavy orders have been received within the past few days.

MIDLAND PLANT TO BUILD MILL

MIDLAND, Pa., April 30.—The MacIntosh - Hemphill Foundry Company has been awarded the contract for the fabrication of a blooming and slab mill for the Illinois Steel Company, Chicago, it is announced by C. J. Roller, superintendent.

Six months will be required to finish the job.

A. G. W. I. Resumes Common Dividends

NEW YORK, April 30.—The Atlantic Gulf and West Indies Steamship Lines declared a dividend of $1 on the common stock, payable May 31 to record May 10. The last dividend paid on the common was in February, 1921, at the rate of $5 annually.

The company reports, including subsidiaries, February net income of $551,765 after depreciation, taxes and charges, against $553,561 in February, 1929. Two months' net income totals $579,873 against $534,029.

BUSINESS MEN SEE UPTURN IN TRADE

Commerce Delegates at Washington Think Turn In Cycle Near at Hand

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER
General Service

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The injection of the spirit of prophecy into the program of the eighteenth annual convention of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, which opened here yesterday, attracted an unprecedentedly large number of delegates. The theme of the congress is "What's Ahead of Business?" and who doesn't want to know? I asked a high Treasury official today what he foresees in the way of trade improvement and he replied that he was waiting to find out in the Chamber of Commerce.

The convention opened almost exactly six months after Black Thursday in Wall street, and the program builders believe that the country is at a fulfilling point in the business cycle. Measured in absolute terms, business has picked up since the low point last winter, but the improvement, especially in the automotive and construction trades, has been almost entirely seasonal in character thus far.

TREASURY'S VIEWS

The Treasury spokesman, chatting informally, said that he was still hopeful of a substantial lift in business in the autumn, though as a matter of policy he emphasized the difficulties in determining in advance the course of the great complex of business forces. Men with lesser equipment are less humble in seeking to snatch the unknowable secrets of the future from the god which guard them. He pointed out that the existing low pressure in business was worldwide in character, and indicated that it probably resulted from the exhaustion of the stimulant resulting from the making up of war-time shortages. After referring to the fact that the delayed setback after the Civil War lasted 10 years and that after the Napoleonic wars 30 years, he said that he anticipated no repetition of such dire business history, believing that new inventions, such as the automobile, radio, other electric products, the airplane and others would provide the stimulus needed for a quick recovery.

LOW MONEY AIDS STOCKS

Although the deliberate post-panic program of artificially lowering interest rates has been completed, the Treasury official indicated the possibility of still lower rates if business demand proves slack. Accordingly, any further substantial easement in interest rates would be a sign of trade depression rather than an evidence of banking discretion. This expert ascribes the broad post-panic advance in stocks almost exclusively to the decline in interest rates, which have made stocks pay their board when carried on borrowed funds.

The Treasury official indicated that the full effect of the new federal building program, which was recently authorized by Congress, on the labor market would be felt in six or eight months.

The spokesman felt that business was being retarded by a cautious attitude, by a disposition to hold back and await developments. He thought that the final passage of the tariff bill, which seems near fruition, would help to eliminate the spirit of hesitation and waiting.

Russia Big Buyer Of U. S. Farm Tools

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Exports of farm equipment from the United States during the first quarter of this year were in excess of $30,000,000, an increase of 37 per cent over shipments during the first quarter of 1929, the Department of Commerce reports.

The chief reason for this record, says the department, is the large amount of equipment, particularly tractors, sent to Russia during the period. That country took two-fifths of the total.

Bond Club to Hold Weekly Luncheon

At the regular weekly luncheon of the Bond Club of Pittsburgh, to be held tomorrow at noon in the William Penn Hotel, Commander Charles E. Rosendahl will be the principal speaker. Commander Rosendahl is an outstanding authority on dirigibles. He was commander of the Los Angeles and has made flights on the Graf Zeppelin and the Shenandoah.

Copper Exports Down in March

NEW YORK, April 30.—Imports of copper by United States in March were 28,219 short tons, against 25,127 tons in February and 38,695 in January.

Exports totaled 15,464 tons during March, against 23,007 tons in February and 20,760 in January, according to American Bureau of Metal Statistics.

Gasoline Stocks Decline in Week

NEW YORK, April 30.—Gasoline stocks decreased 265,000 barrels to 53,212,000 barrels in the week ended April 26, according to the American Petroleum Institute.

Domestic crude oil output in the week averaged 2,590,100 barrels daily, an increase of 29,200 barrels over the previous week.

Reaction Assumes Size Of Old Fashioned Shakeout

The current reaction has assumed the proportions of a real old-fashioned shakeout. This is more apparent from a study of the losses suffered in most of the private shares rather than in a study of the composite averages compiled by various agencies. Recessions taking from 3 to around 8 points expected yesterday. Steel shares generally down to new low levels for the movement. As typical shares Allied Chemical, 6 points; the 25 points from the high; Steel, 6 points; Steel common more than 10 points; New York Central, 20 points; General Motors, 6 points; General Electric, some 12 points; Anaconda Copper, 20 points; American Can, 14 points; and Columbia Carbon, about 40 points. American Telephone, ranked as among the soundest investment stocks, is now off some 50 points from the high of a fortnight ago.

The national aviation show opens in New York on Saturday. It is likely this will bring attention to the rapid development in the aviation industry and result in a demonstration in some of the airplane stocks. United Aircraft has been under liquidation for some time and the stock has reacted sharply from its high. A weak long following was eliminated during the selling, so that the issue could be in a position to reflect new buying should it develop in connection with the coming exposition. Some traders have been picking up the stock on a scale during reactions in anticipation of such a move.

Railroad equipment shares generally are meeting with selling whenever they show signs of a rally. However, in this as in other groups there is considerable discrimination. Even while some of the equipments have been establishing new lows there has been good accumulation in others. This is particularly true of General American Tank Car and Westinghouse Air Brake. The general feeling in important quarters is that holdings in other equipments can be switched into the two stocks mentioned with good prospects of recouping losses on long positions.

Any development of activity and strength in the oil group in the future will probably find Texas Corporation among the leaders. The stock is selling materially under its highs of both 1929 and 1928. The stock is favored in many quarters because of its consistent earning record. Last year $5.12 a share was reported, compared with $5.56 in 1928 upon a fewer number of shares. Improving conditions in the oil industry will make for larger sales and earnings for the company. The stock has paid $3 a share in cash annually since 1921. In addition there have been two 10 per cent stock dividends besides valuable subscription rights since that time which have increased the available return for holders.

The readjustment which is taking place in the market at present may or may not have been completed, but at any rate it will be the blue-chip investment stocks which will be the quickest on the rebound. American Telephone and Telegraph has receded now some 30 points since the announcement of the rights was made, and the optimistic reports which were in evidence at that time still hold true. Although the burden of the rights may hold back any immediate duplication of its sustained advance of preceding weeks, that quarter of the financial district which makes a habit of prognosticating future price moves with more than the normal degree of accuracy have set a goal of 300 for this stock.

In sympathy with the decline in its portfolio values, American International has sustained a substantial recession from its best level of the year. Although it invariably follows the fluctuations of the market as a whole, the personnel of its directing group have been known to take advantage of large profits in holdings at times when the outlook for further price appreciation is none too rosy. Current dividend of $2 in cash and 4 per cent in stock return an attractive yield on the common shares.

April Equipment Orders Decrease

NEW YORK, April 30.—Freight cars ordered during April totaled 1,843 against 4,464 in March and 6,963 in April a year ago. Total orders for first four months of 1930 aggregate 22,870 against 44,506 in same 1929 period.

Passenger cars ordered in April 1930 were 70 against 169 in March and 230 in April 1929. Four months' orders totaled 331 against 552 in 1929 period.

Locomotive orders in April 1930 amounted to 29 against 43 in March and 58 in April a year ago. In year to date a total of 251 locomotives have been bought against 208 in same 1929 period.

Steel Earnings Under 1929--Above 1928

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

STEEL COMPANY EARNINGS in the first quarter showed sharp declines in comparison with a year ago but the leading companies reported better results than in 1928.

The steel industry considers itself to be in a dull period at present. The steel business is bad when viewed in the light of the results of 1929, a record year, but when comparison is made with the corresponding period two years ago, the earnings of most companies indicate that the current state of the business is not particularly unsatisfactory.

Considering the reduction in demand and the weakness in prices, the steel companies have shown an exceptional degree of stability in their earning power. Much of this is due to improved operating facilities which have been completed within the past two years.

Quarterly Net Declines

A TABULATION OF PROFITS of five leading steel companies for the first quarter indicates that all except one showed declines under last year but that all of them did better than two years ago. The five companies are the United States Steel Corporation, Bethlehem Steel, Jones & Laughlin, Youngstown Sheet and Tube and Inland Steel.

For the first quarter of this year combined net profits were $54,648,325. This was 14.5 per cent less than in the corresponding quarter of 1929 when profits were $63,922,774.

When comparison is made with two years ago a gain of 73.1 per cent is disclosed over net of $31,575,004 at that time.

Results Representative

THE FIVE COMPANIES, in addition to being leaders in the industry, are representative since the operations of each include nearly all the major branches of the steel trade. Examination of the results of other companies will show wide variations in many instances but most of them will have results similar to the leaders.

The trend of the profits of the five companies are surprisingly alike. The organizations which have been devoting the greatest amount of effort to plant improvement have made the most satisfactory comparisons. Modernization work is most apparent in the results of Bethlehem Steel and Youngstown Sheet and Tube. All of the companies have been doing work of this kind but these two companies have been engaged in the most extensive programs in proportion to the size of their business. Youngstown and Bethlehem each showed net profit in the first quarter of this year which was more than double that of 1928.

Earnings Compared

THE FOLLOWING TABLE shows net profits of the five companies after taxes, depreciation, interest and all operating charges for the first quarters of 1930, 1929 and 1928:

	1930	1929	1928
U. S. Steel	$35,777,807	$42,185,447	$21,331,871

FOX EARNINGS SHOW GAIN

NEW YORK, April 30.—The Fox Film Corporation reports estimated net income of $4,604,684 for quarter ended March 31, after expenses, etc., but before federal taxes, equal to $5 a share on 920,000 combined class A and class B common shares against $3,090,470 before federal taxes in the 1929 quarter, or $3.35 a share on the same combined class A and B share basis.

Public financing of the Fox Film Corporation under the plan adopted by the new management will consist of $55,000,000 secured one year 6 per cent gold notes of the corporation. The securities will be offered shortly by Halsey Stuart & Co. The proceeds from the sale of the notes have been used for the payment of maturing obligations, including the company's $12,000,000 issue of 6 per cent gold notes due April 1, 1930, and for other corporate purposes.

This temporary financing has been effectuated pending readjustments in the company's affairs.

General Theaters Equipment, Inc., plans an issue of 433,000 common voting trust certificates in connection with acquisition of controlling interest in Fox Enterprises.

NEW OFFERINGS

New security offerings today include:

Houston Oil Company of Texas, $12,000,000 10-year secured 5½ per cent sinking fund gold bonds, series "A," to be dated May 1 and to mature May 1, 1940, priced at 97 and accrued interest, yielding 5.90 per cent. Offered by a banking group including Mackubin, Goodrich & Co., Whitaker & Co., West & Co. and others.

Midland United Company, 250,000 shares convertible preferred stock, series "A," with warrants, priced at $48.50 a share, offered by a syndicate headed by the Utility Securities Corporation.

Illinois Central Asks Bids on Cars

CHICAGO, April 30.—Illinois Central Railway is asking for bids on 2,200 freight cars, including 1,000 auto-furniture cars, 500 70-ton hoppers, 200 flat and 500 gondolas, to cost around $6,000,000.

The Chicago and Northwestern is in the market for 10 70-ton flat cars.

STEEL PRICES WAVERING

NEW YORK, April 30.—The Iron Age in its weekly summary of the iron and steel trade tomorrow will say:

Price weakness in iron and steel has become more pronounced. Total steel ingot output shows no significant change, being at a 78 per cent rate, compared with 80 per cent a week ago, but buying is at extremely short range, mill schedules in most finished products are irregular and interrupted and pressure for tonnage to sustain operations is increasing.

Price instability extends to the primary materials. Scrap markets have grown still weaker with heavy melting grade down 25 cents a ton at Philadelphia and St. Louis. Chicago pig iron has receded 50 cents a ton. Alabama foundry iron, which had been expected to react to the larger melt of cast pipe shops, has been sold in certain Northern sections at a new low price of $12, Birmingham.

In view of the general weakness of the market, the Steel Corporation's announcement that it looks for a continuance of an 80 per cent rate of steel ingot production throughout the quarter is encouraging. In terms of tonnage, the rate of raw steel output for all producers has been higher in the first four months than the average for any previous year except 1928 and 1929. However, the percentage rate has been lower because of expansion in capacity and business has been unevenly distributed, both geographically and in terms of products.

Mixed tendencies continue as the outstanding characteristic of the situation, although demand is shifting. Railroad demand is subsiding, while automotive requirements are creeping up and additional pipe line tonnage is being placed. Steel consumption by farm equipment manufacturers is undiminished. Seasonable requirements for road making are promising, but spring buying of merchant wire products has been disappointing, and demand for roofing sheets appears to have passed its peak. Structural steel awards at 42,300 tons are the largest since early in February.

Improvement in demand from the automobile industry, which is expected to continue through the coming month, is limited to the makers of low-priced cars, no material change in the production schedules of other manufacturers being in prospect.

WALL STREET HEARS

That leading cigaret manufacturers have experienced steady increases in sales and earnings during the first quarter.

That United Corporation's assets at current market values amount to about $53 per share.

That there has been large-scale accumulation of Gold Dust, based on merger prospects.

That interests close to Drug Inc., holding company for the Liggett chain of stores, expect this year's earnings to exceed 1929 by about 10 to 15 per cent.

That investment trusts have been substantial buyers of stock on scale down during the recent market decline.

That pressure against the stock market of late has been in a considerable measure due to uncertainty over steel and copper prices.

That many traders who have been standing aside waiting for a reaction in stocks made substantial purchases yesterday.

PRICES CAUSE WAGE CUT

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 30.—Tonnage rates for sheet and tin mill workers in midwestern mills subscribing to the agreement of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, decline 4½ per cent from the base rate for the May-June period, as result of the bi-monthly settlement here. The average selling price of Nos. 26, 27 and 28-gauge black sheets shipped during the 60 days ending April 20 was disclosed at 2.90 per pound, which is a reduction of three points from the 3.05 a rate two months previously.

Under the new schedule, affected workers in finishing mills will be paid a rate 22½ per cent above base, as compared with a previous rate of 27 per cent.

A dollar saved is a dollar earned. Save money on an automobile by buying a used car now.

INVEST in a Growing Industry

Gross earnings of the electric light and power industry have never shown a decline. Since the beginning of the industry there has been an uninterrupted year to year increase in earnings.

An industry with such a remarkable record affords an excellent field for investment, and no better medium for this purpose can be found than

U. S. ELECTRIC LIGHT & POWER SHARES, INC.
TRUST CERTIFICATES, SERIES "B"

These shares represent an interest in common or participating stocks embracing 44 different companies, serving more than 200 of the largest cities of the country.

KNUTE ROCKNE

....keep you advised on College Sports all-year-round!

TODAY, College Sport is "big news" 52 weeks in the year. Thus, to give its readers a superior service, the Sun-Telegraph now augments its already comprehensive Sport Pages with a daily commentary by an independent national authority whose achievements and fame stamp him as the spokesman of the world of college sport. No one in America has a bigger name in college sports than Knute Rockne.

He observes more college athletes in action in Football, Baseball, Basketball, Track, Swimmers, Boxers and Wrestlers in more sections of the country than any other coach. Traveling from coast to coast several times a year—sought on every side for advice and counsel—teacher of coaches in scattered sections—a nation-wide acquaintance with those intimately interested in college sports—famous as a public speaker—to say nothing of his reputation as America's great football coach—he brings to this paper a feature of extraordinary value—

"Campus Comment"
by Knute Rockne

Rockne is engaging and entertaining. A story teller with few equals. Rockne is a Philosopher and a Humorist. An originator of the funniest sort of college yarns—generally based on actual experience and always told to illustrate a moral.

Pouring into his hands from practically every corner of the nation comes an endless flow of information and suggestions, covering every field of College Sport. All these he will now translate into scintillating comment giving his reactions on all questions—swatting this move—praising that one—punctuated here and there with friendly humor and subtle sarcasm that will be found of absorbing interest and entertainment.

DAILY TRUE STORY

'Psychology'

"Amy," said Edgar Livingstone, "I want you."

"I'm the moon," Amy said, with a note of sadness.

"Meaning that I might as well cry for the moon?"

"Something like that."

"Is it because I'm just the chief chemist in your father's big establishment."

"Partly."

"And you feel it beneath your——"

"Hush, Eddie!" Amy began to cry.

"There's an answer somewhere, dear girl."

"I want you to want me—I want you——"

"Then that is settled, we'll——"

"But father wouldn't stand for it. I'm sort of secretly engaged to Mr. Martin—that's father's idea."

"Your father seems full of ideas that don't strike me favorably. Now what should a chap in my place do when he is madly in love with the most wonderful girl on earth and she is secretly engaged to his superior in rank in a big concern, and she confesses that she would rather have me—the chap I mentioned?"

"He has to take life as it comes. Father is proud. He was Forrest Martin's father's chum through boyhood. he promised Forrest's father to look out for Forrest. Now Forrest is capable and has become father's general manager and—and he, father, sees it as my duty to marry Forrest."

"And you want me?"

"What's the use, Eddie?"

"Shall I buckle on my armor and go forth and slay my general manager or——"

Forrest Martin came into the room and raised his eyebrows a little.

"Did you come to see Maj. Stanton, Livingston? If so, it is a waste of time—every proposition has to come to me."

Snobbish Superior

Forrest Martin went over to Amy, who looked away.

"I dropped in for a chat with Amy—Miss Stanton," Ed said quite truthfully.

"Your orbit, Livingston, is in the laboratory of the Stanton Specific Company and not—"

"I asked him to call, Forrest. It's about our club dramatics," Amy said, hastily.

"Oh."

"You'll take the part, won't you, Mr. Livingston?" Amy asked, giving him a warning glance.

"Yes, indeed. I rather like it—being the worm that turns. I'll be at rehearsals." Ed said.

He bowed politely and departed.

"Give those chaps an inch and they'll take an ell," Martin said to Amy.

"He's the brains of the establishment—he creates some of our best products. I heard father say that. Anybody can manage a business like this but only a clever man can create things that sell steadily and do good and bring in a lot of money. The true sign of a snob is a man who is snooty and overbearing to his inferiors in rank. The real gentleman treats such with constant courtesy—"

"I hope you aren't implying that I am—"

"You are Mr. Forrest Martin, general manager of my father's business, and we are supposed to announce our engagement next month," Amy said.

Her father came into the room and beamed.

"Sorry this is a business call, Amy," he said, "no time for love-making tonight."

Amy nodded and left them, to go to her rooms for a good cry.

Ed Livingstone went to his bachelor quarters to figure out some way to win Amy.

Major Stanton and Martin went to the library to discuss their biggest business rival, the Vita Corporation, which was putting out marvelous things in the way of tonics, pills, facial soaps and sundry other things.

"They won't last," Martin declared, "we have been established for half a century, this is a fly-by-night concern with no background."

"Their 'Smile Soap' and their 'Baby Hands' lotion is outselling any of our products by a couple million a month."

Matter of Science

"What's this Livingstone doing, then?"

"He makes up wonderful things, you know that, as you get the results of his experiments, but this Vita bunch always beats us to the market by six months."

"It's nothing to worry about, Major."

"It's everything to worry about—you are to become my son-in-law. I want this business to thrive, not go to the dogs, on your account and on Amy's."

They talked a while longer and Martin left.

Lawyer Harwood came over at the Major's request. He told the lawyer his troubles.

"Detectives do no good, but I believe that some of our chemists are letting out advance information to our rival. What shall I do? I pay you for sound advice. Go ahead now and earn your money, Harwood."

"Suspect anyone?"

"There's Livingstone, my chief chemist."

"I'll get Professor Jardine, my wife's brother. He's a psychologist. He is infallible, he discovers things by putting a chap in a trance and asking questions."

"Piffle!" said the Major.

"You ought to try it—anything to get back your business."

Major Stanton agreed.

Professor Jardine came over soon after to Stanton's private office. He knew the circumstances. He had a set of questions. The answers to those questions, he declared would establish the suspected person's guilt or innocence.

Edwar Livingstone called at the time the Major set. He was told that they were making experiments, and he said he would permit himself to be questioned.

Forrest Martin was an interested spectator.

Professor Jardine produced his questions, or words, and here are the words, at the left, and the answers that Livingstone gave while under hypnotic influence.

Answers Questions

"Laboratory—research.
"Vita—rival.
"Love—Amy."

Martin got sore and the Major coughed in embarrassment at this reply.

Money ..... I'm worth more.
Report ..... Martin.
Credit ..... Martin hogs it.

Forrest Martin whispered, "Upstart and crook."

Baby-hands lotion, my formula
Sell ..... given away
Sport ..... crook
Fast life ..... coarse work
Goal ..... marry Amy

"Presumptuous cur!" Martin hissed. The professor frowned at him.

Enemy ..... Martin
Friend ..... Amy

"This is all damn nonsense!" the Major said.

"I agree," Martin added.

"Gentlemen, either I am uninterrupted or I leave," said the professor of psychology.

The Major nodded. Martin whispered. "Let's quit."

The Professor said sharply:

Traitor—Martin.
Smile Soap—Health Glow.

This was plain enough. Livingstone created the Health Glow Soap, but the Vita concern came out in advance with the same thing and called it Smile Soap.

Secret—only Martin knew formula."

"The damn liar—"

Amy came into the office and stared at Livingstone in a chair in a trance.

"Is Eddie sick?" she asked, going to him. The Professor waved her away.

"He's in a hypnotic trance, my dear," Martin explained in a whisper. He's been selling us out—giving or selling his formulas we pay him to create to our rival, the Vita bunch."

"Oh, please let me ask him some questions?"

The Professor nodded, despite the Major's protest. "Some men react better to a feminine voice," he said, "read these words to him."

"Double-cross—Martin."

"Look here, he's in no trance, he's faking it, trying to squeal out of it——"

Amy went closer.

Engagement—forced.

"Miss, I didn't have that word," the Professor said, sharply.

Love ..... Amy
Hate ..... Martin
Vita ..... Martin
Crook ..... Martin

Forrest Martin lost his temper. He rushed up and shook Livingstone.

Game Is Up

"Come out of that trance, you cheap faker—what do you mean trying to malign me?" he shouted.

Ed Livingstone sat up and grinned.

"The game is up," he said.

"Then you confess that you have been paid by us and have sold your best formulas to the Vita people, do you?" Martin shouted.

"I have a far worse confession than that." Livingstone said. "I confess that I created the Vita concern and hired able men to run it and to put out the formulas I created that you turned down, Martin. Then you bought it without knowing that I was really back of it. I stopped turning over anything to the Vita concern, it wasn't mine any more. You took my reports and she had the best formulas put on the market six months before you had them made here and you changed them here to make them inferior to my originals. I have papers——"

The office door slammed.

Forrest Martin had gone—he didn't stop for his hat. He never came back.

"Professor," Jardine grinned.

"Sorry to have had to frame this, Major," Lawyer Harwood said, "but we had to convince you. This man is one of my law clerks."

"But the psychology?" demanded the astounded Major.

"The psychology part was to convince you against your stubborn belief that Martin was a saint—that's all, Major." Livingstone said.

"Not all, I had to convince you that Eddie and I—"

Amy hesitated and smiled at her father.

The Major shook hands with Eddie.

"It's all right with me, Livingstone, if you'll promise never to use that fool word, psychology, again," said the Major. "Go and make your plans for getting married."

"Again?" Amy asked, sweetly.

"What do you mean, 'again'?"

"Eddie and I were married a week ago, father, you see the psychology of getting married first and——"

"Make it a snappy honeymoon," bellowed the Major, who was grinning in spite of himself, "and Amy, take care of him, he's my business partner now and a valuable man!"

FIRST INSTALLMENT OF FILIPINO LOVE STORY

A. DIDERTOLO TURNS GRACEFULLY TO FICTION

Note.—It is a pleasure to announce that this department has the honor of printing the first Love Serial to come from the pen of A. Didertolo, promising Filipino adventurer in Belles Lettres. The initial installment of this story, which we shall call "Thorns and Roses," appears herewith.

CHAPTER I.

WHEN all nature smile, son is born to rich man on large land for miles up and down winding stream in big house.

One fine day son born and christened Albert as winds gently passed by.

In this pleasant place Albert grow to play hunting pretty shells and wild flowers fishing with hook he would sit on edge of rock.

When Albert was one of Nature's pupils he go to school in Boston, which is Hub City, and come in contact with pomp of old world among gay ladies, but not yet in love. But very soon he will do so, maybe, I think so.

WHY PITTSBURGH IS GREAT
Makes 40 per cent of the Country's Steel

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

BE A PITTSBURGH BOOSTER
To Your Friends in Other Cities

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 30, 1930

Established 1927, by Pitt Publishing Co., Pittsburgh, Pa. President, William Randolph Hearst; Vice-President and Publisher, E. M. Bitner; Secretary-Treasurer, A. W. Clark; Associate Editor, C. W. Reason Is Triumphant; Car Strike Is Avoided

The threat of a strike of street car employes was removed yesterday, when the conductors and motormen of the Pittsburgh Railways Company voted to accept compromise terms offered by the company. Recently the men had voted to reject the original terms for an agreement to become effective on the termination of the present one today. Hence, the final amicable action, indicated by the six to one majority of the 2,100 employes who voted, is significant.

The Sun-Telegraph congratulates both the men and their employers and feels that it expresses the satisfaction of the public that the voice of reason was triumphant. The company is to be congratulated for having made concessions when its original terms proved unsatisfactory. The men are to be congratulated because they accepted a compromise rather than holding out for all they demanded. The public also can congratulate itself because both parties, which had been discussing a new contract for several weeks, finally came to agreement and avoided further disturbance of our transportation service, already crippled by the taxicab strike.

Pittsburgh has had its share of street car strikes in the past, and it is quite evident—has profited sufficiently through costly experience to cause a desire to avoid such warfare. It is a wonderful thing when employer and employe meet and discuss matters reasonably, each considering the problem of the other. Reasoning is better than fighting.

Johnson Has Right Idea About the Naval Treaty

Any attempt by the administration to stampede the Senate into ratifying the London naval treaty without due deliberation and debate ought to be sternly resisted by every Senator in Congress who takes seriously his oath of office.

No Senator ought ever to give his advice and consent to the ratification of any treaty until he has "read, marked, learned and inwardly digested" its every article.

Especially is this true of a treaty dealing with the Navy. First, because the Senate is the President's senior partner in the making of a treaty, and secondly, because the Senate shares with the House of Representatives the constitutional obligation "to provide and maintain a Navy."

There is no constitutional way in which the Senate can dissolve its partnership with the President in treaty making, or delegate its share of the obligation of the Congress "to provide and maintain a Navy."

All of this Senator Johnson, of California, clearly sees, and the attitude he has taken toward the London naval treaty every other Senator ought to be quick to make his own.

California's senior Senator serves notice that as the ranking majority member of the Committee on Foreign Relations, he is determined to subject the London naval treaty to the most careful study before giving his advice and consent to its ratification.

The object of Senator Johnson's study of the treaty is sixfold. He is studying it to ascertain:

"First, whether under the London treaty our Navy will be adequate for our national defense and for the protection of our commerce.

"Second, whether under it there is a real limitation among the nations party to it of naval building.

"Third, whether under it there will be a reduction of our naval armament as well as that of other nations.

"Fourth, whether under it any real economy or saving to our people will result.

"Fifth, whether under it, as promised, our Navy will be given 'parity' with that of Great Britain.

"Sixth, whether the London treaty makes our future contingent wholly upon another nation's action, and, if so, whether this makes for our future tranquillity and security or the reverse."

No administration will attempt to rush through the ratification of the London naval treaty without the searching study to which Senator Johnson is subjecting it unless that administration is afraid that "turning on the light" will mean the defeat of the treaty.

Beans and Bloodshed

Closely Related.

Recently desertions in the Army have been fewer and military prisons have been emptying—so much so that the federal government has been able to use some of the vacant space for civilian prisoners.

The Army's "Recruiting News" gives credit for this gratifying state of affairs to the improvement in the soldiers' "chow."

Two or three years ago the ration allowance was raised from 36 cents a day to 50 cents. The Army began to give earnest thought to the meals served its men, with the result that at most posts the private and the non-com now live like the proverbial fighting cock—when it comes to eating, at least.

As Napoleon said and Wellington proved, "An army marches on its belly," but it has remained for our own general staff to carry that idea further and to keep its army happy by the appeal to the palate.

It may be disillusioning to find that meals and morale are so closely connected, but it is true—as every woman knows. The road to a man's heart is through his stomach. That has been a feminine axiom since Eve gave Adam the apple. It is strange that the great captains of history did not discover it before. A square meal makes heroes. The "chow cannon" primes men for victory or death.

History may yet learn that the Light Brigade had an unusually hearty breakfast—with bloaters and marmalade—on the morning of Balaclava.

SUN TELEGRAPH'S PLATFORM

For Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania

1—A better, cleaner, more beautiful city.
2—Rapid Transit.
3—Repeal or modification of "blue law."
4—Establishment of Pittsburgh metropolitan district.
5—Community Fund for charities.
6—Town Hall, seating at least 15,000.
7—Voting machines to insure honest elections.
8—Development of river transportation.
9—Development of air transportation.

CHEATERS

Drawn by Nelson Harding

There are none so color blind
As those who will not see
Red traffic lights that decent folk
Observe so perfectly.

Perhaps a ticket colored red
Would be more plainly seen
And cure that color blindness which Makes traffic cheats see green.

"Bugs" Baer Says:

Sweet Breath

Henry Ford's charming silhouette again monopolizes the spotlight.

Hank has said he would fire any workingman with essence of happier days on his breath.

"Bugs" Baer

Even though there is no amendment against breathing of any description Henry has the power to dismiss a workingman whose breathing is a series of spontaneous combustions.

We wouldn't have a drinking man working for us. First, because he is not dependable. Second, because there ain't enough for two.

We do not think that Henry considers the second and best reason. Work in the Dearborn plant calls for keen executive skill, a steady hand and active feet.

In fact, working in the Dearborn plant is industrial St. Vitus. It calls for continual gyrations of fingers, elbows, neck, sinews and tendons. The piercing apex of efficiency is reached when a busy mechanic fans a paint job with his ears.

Instead of firing the perfumed laborer why doesn't Henry utilize such active motor power by compelling him to breathe on the second and third coats of shellac?

Make his men inhale some of that panther syrup they peddle on the Canadian border. One breath of that stuff will not only varnish a hood but it will simonize it.

We concede that a parboiled mechanic is a haphazard artisan. He is liable to overlook those angelic fenders, forget to put in the body squeaks and might get the rear seat in front.

He might also put two left wheels on the right side, place the doors in the roof and fumble the speedometer in an effort to make the Sunday driver think he is going 60 gallons an hour.

The general effect would be like sending a lightning bug out into the twilight without his taillights. But we happen to know that nothing really matters for a Ford will run under any conditions and will live 50 years after the doctors have failed to find its pulse.

We have seen 'em sideswiped, telescoped, grazing on fallow grade-crossings, wheelless, gearless and hopeless. But they will always chug up and run with no more of a flying start than a dab of grease and a kind word.

What's the use of paying men seven dollars a day if you are going to tell 'em how to spend it?

PRE-EUCLIDEAN MATHEMATICS

By Archibald Henderson

Recent discoveries in the history of mathematics indicate that the early Babylonians and Egyptians were mathematical wizards. It sometimes takes extended study and much experimental calculation to determine the tortuous and devious ways in which their minds worked. Many of these problems would have delighted Edgar Allan Poe, who was so ingenious in the deciphering of mathematical puzzles and literal and numerical cryptograms of all sorts. Many of the peculiar devices employed by the ancients in their mathematical computations still defy the best minds of today.

We cannot think of Egyptian mathematics without being reminded of those remarkable monuments of scientific engineering, the pyramids. One of the most interesting, from the scientific point of view, is the great pyramid at Gizeh. This pyramid is known to have been erected during the reign of Cheops, about 2900 B. C. According to Prof. R. C. Archibald, it is reported that 100,000 workmen were kept constantly employed on this vast structure for 30 years. Ten years of this period were devoted to the construction of a road from the site of the pyramid to a granite quarry some miles away.

This pyramid was a triumph of engineering skill, the structure testifying to a remarkable development among the Egyptians of that day. These huge blocks, weighing on an average of two and a half tons, were fitted together to a nicety. It has been estimated that 2,300,000 of these blocks of stone were brought from the granite quarry and used in the construction of the pyramid.

The huge blocks used for the roofs of the chambers in the interior of the pyramid were twenty feet long, six feet high and four feet thick. They were brought from a quarry more than 600 miles distant and conveyed by a brick ramp to their position more than two hundred feet above the ground level.

The pyramid, with a base almost a perfect square, covered about thirteen acres of ground. Recent surveys by Cole and Borchardt, show that no side of the base differed from the mean length of 755.78 feet more than 4½ inches, while two of its angles differ from 90 degrees by less than 34 seconds and the other two by less than three and a half minutes.

Two of the sides ran almost exactly north and south; and this has been regarded as an indication not only of careful observations by the stars by the Egyptians, but also of astrological considerations, which in those days was an important study and profession.

Such engineering feats as this, and even more difficult ones, such as the erection of their huge obelisks of pink granite and the laying out of nilometers along the banks of the Nile, indicate an advanced knowledge of the geometry required in engineering. We are beginning at last to find out, in certain details, some of the methods employed by the Egyptians in their geometry.

A search in the Rhind papyrus revealed a number of geometrical problems. In computing the volumes of circular cylindrical granaries, the value employed for the ratio of the circumference of a circle to its diameter, commonly called pi, is 256 divided by 81. This gives 3.1605, an extraordinary approximation to 3.1416, the correct value to four decimal places. At the same time the Babylonians were using the value 3 for pi, which is the value given in the Bible. In I Kings, 7, 23, we read:

"And he made a molten sea, 10 cubits from one brim to the other; it was round all about, and his height was 5 cubits and a line of 30 cubits did compass it round about."

In modern times the value of pi, an incommensurable number, has been computed to 707 decimal places!

∴ LISTEN, WORLD ∴

By Elsie Robinson

They train 'em in this country to be everything from dogcatchers to diplomats—why, oh, why, can't they train them to use 'phones?

For the last two months I've been rambling around this country, working at my job. And now I'm going home with a couple of sprained tonsils, busted bronchial tubes, a disposition that needs retreading and a paralyzed palate—all on account of the way some girls answer telephones.

You know how it is—the great moment has at last dawned. You're ready to shoot! All full of whizbang! Bustin' to break the news! Yelping for action—speed—cooperation—so you race to the phone. Ring a number..... Ring a number.....Ring a number!!!!!

Slowly, after long intervals a voice arrives. It does not arrive on high. It limps. It lags. It oozes, with all the vivacity of a fish worm after a heavy rain. The voice says something. You do not know what it says. It sounds like the death rattle of a jelly fish. You repeat your question patiently, at first, then with accumulating crescendo. But the voice oozes on.....

You persist, however. You restate your case in your sprightliest manner. You use kind, sweet, gay little words of one syllable. You coax and coo. You sparkle and glow. But the voice oozes on—

And then, if you're a big mean blonde like me your blood pressure rises 10 points and you probably blow out an ear-drum. Or, if you're a refined, sensitive soul you crawl away from there, making funny faces and sobbing in a deep, hopeless monotone.

Now I ask you, is this necessary? Can't people be taught a telephone technique as they're taught any other necessary part of business procedure? A telephone call isn't an accident or a personal insult, though most of the operators act as if it were. It's a vital part of modern life. Phone wires are aerial highways. The world passes over them. Each new signal may herald opportunity, adventure, romance or emergency—and the voice that responds to that signal should be alive—alert—on the firing line. But how many are? Most of the voices I've heard in the last six months have fallen arches, inferiority complexes, halitosis and dandruff, at least.

Yet they get jobs! No employer would present his wares in a dingy, dark, airless basement—yet he'll hire a voice like that. No employer would dream of announcing that he isn't interested in you or your trade and wishes you'd go away and not bother him. Yet he pays a voice good money to do that for him.

Now you tell one—

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

A Supplicant, a Slave

Storm not the gates of song,
O poor Importunate,
But for a whisper on the breeze
In humble patience wait!

A lover and a slave,
You are condemned to pain,
And you must know the weight of chains
For every lyric strain.

For you the deathless flame,
For you the keen delight,
For you the one clear star that glows
Through darkest realms of night.

A supplicant, a slave;
But what rare bliss is yours
When through your rapt, imploring heart
The lyric splendor pours!

Text for Today And he said unto me, My grace is sufficient for thee: for my strength is made perfect in weakness. Most gladly therefore will I rather glory in my infirmities, that the power of Christ may rest upon me.—II Corinthians, XII:9.

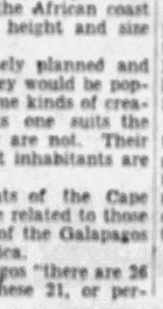
THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

Here again freedom from competition has allowed the surprising evolution of a group which has had to keep its potentialities locked up unrealized.

Isolation of a piece of land or body of water from the rest of the world always permits its animal and plant inhabitants to evolve along their own peculiar lines.



H. G. Wells

This is not only true for large groups, like the sand-hoppers in Baikal or the marsupials in Australia, but also for genera and species and varieties. We shall have more to say on this subject when we come to discuss the machinery of Evolution.

Here we will content ourselves with but two examples, one of which, however, is of considerable historical interest. Those who are interested in the subject can pursue it in Wallace's famous book, "Island Life."

If a find of fossil animals on a large continent first put Evolution as a seed of thought into the fertile soil of Darwin's mind, the germination of that seed was brought about by a problem of present-day distribution on an isolated archipelago.

The Beagle visited the Galapagos Archipelago, a collection of some 15 volcanic islands, separated from each other by distances ranging from a mile or so, up to nearly one hundred miles, lying on the equator in the Pacific.

The nearest mainland is the west coast of South America, 600 miles away. The account Darwin gave of them has been supplemented, though not supplanted, by Dr. Beebe's beautifully illustrated book, "Galapagos."

These islands, as Darwin pointed out, resemble the Cape Verde Archipelago off the African coast in soil, climate, height and size of the islands.

In a deliberately planned and created world they would be populated by the same kinds of creature; what suits one suits the other. But they are not. Their animal and plant inhabitants are totally different.

The inhabitants of the Cape Verde Islands are related to those of Africa, those of the Galapagos to those of America.

On the Galapagos "there are 26 land-birds; of these 21, or perhaps 23, are ranked as distinct species, and would commonly be assumed (when Darwin published this passage in 1859) to have been here created; yet the close affinity of most of these species to American species is manifested in every character, in their habits, gestures, and tones of voice"—and so with the other animals and plants of both archipelagos—they are closely related to, though often slightly different from, those on the nearest mainland.

Thus, here we have the same fact, of difference in species but resemblance in general type, which emerged from the fossils of the other side of the South American continent, only now the differences and resemblances concern two sets of creatures separated in space instead of in time.

Such facts at once receive an explanation in terms of Evolution.

Chance immigration from the continent of storm-pressed birds, wind-blown seeds, tortoises, or their eggs drifted in logs or brushwood, would people the archipelago; this, followed by new Evolution in the new and isolated home, would account both for the resemblances and the differences between the inhabitants of the archipelago and those of the neighboring mainland.

But in terms of the Creationist view, there is no explanation.

As our second example we choose St. Helena. St. Helena is perhaps the most isolated spot on the globe, the most insular of all islands.

Well over half of its two hundred species of insects are to be found in no other region, and three-quarters of its 30 snails, and four-fifths of its flowering plants; and it boasts no mammals, no land-birds, no reptiles, no amphibia, no fresh-water fish and no fresh-water plants.

In other words, animals and plants have either wholly failed to reach this water-girt speck of land, or, if they have succeeded, have usually evolved and changed into something new.

But it is not only the living things which are present in a given region which have testimony to offer us. The absences may be as significant as the presences, just as silence may sometimes be as eloquent as speech.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, APRIL 30.—Division street, running a half dozen blocks or so eastward off the Bowery, is solidly ramparted on either side with huge show windows displaying fur-trimmed coats, tailor-made suits and afternoon and evening frocks of startling values.

From a feminine viewpoint it is one of the most interesting thoroughfares in the town. Quickly copied fashions from the Parisian style centers are frequently shown there within 48 hours after they are on view in ateliers on aristocratic Fifth and Madison avenues.

On Division street, however, they are often one-third to one-half cheaper. The street in many ways resembles an arcade, for overhead is an elevated structure which completely shuts off sunshine, and all day the shops glow with a pure white electric dazzle.

Sales are made almost solely through window displays. Merchants rarely advertise, and many have no names out front. Shops are open all day Sunday and chorus girls take boy friends buy-buy there. Most of the merchants on Division street like to bargain.

While there are a few strictly one-price establishments, the larger number announce first price as a mere "feeler." From then on one is supposed to haggle until a satisfactory figure is reached. Thus shopping becomes something of an adventure.

Not all the customers are chorus and shop girls. Division has its limousine trade. Nearby is Allen street offering a similar array of garment shops—not quite so gaudy and a bit cheaper. It is the first stop of push cart merchants in their march uptown.

Shopping on the East Side is not only cheaper, but one often finds a more pronounced courtesy. The butcher, the baker and candle-stick maker bid you come again after bowing you to the middle of the sidewalk. Competition is keener. So the Ghetto must battle for trade.

Coloring a meerschaum pipe 20 years ago was a favorite indoor sport. Young men kept indoors during long winter nights puffing fervidly at chamois-covered pipes to give them an autumnal leaf brown. One meerschaum expert seems to hold the field today. His shop is on Broome street.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

Why is it that so many public speakers give you to understand that they are "A No. 1" fellows and when they are met under circumstances they prove to be far removed from such a class?

Frequently the fellow who is strongest in his arguments for spreading of good-fellowship is arrogant and demanding at heart. He asks us to be kind, considerate, helpful, but when he is solicited to do a good turn which may cost him money, or perhaps only a little effort, he becomes an entirely different sort.

The effect of addresses, which are filled with encouragement to be a good fellow often lose power because of the lack of sincerity the speaker as later familiarity demonstrates. Often the man has the most to say about helping the other fellow does the very least practically, but he can talk.

Those who have much experience with public speakers are often skeptical as to their sincerity.

Long on advice but woefully lacking as to practicing what they advocate.

Newspapermen are often censured for their apparent lack of appreciation of sentiments as expressed by public speakers, but long experience makes cynics and the speakers don't always ring true.
